More Tax for Automobiles?
The Baby Gains, Loses.
Some Things Settled.
Japan Needs, and Takes.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

IT IS FORTUNATE for the United States, where new, amazingly beautiful, efficient and low priced 1932 automobiles are now shown, that we did not get auto-prohibition along with alcoholic prohibition.

It would have been possible, at least for Sundays, in the Puritan days, or for Saturdays, among Orthodox Jews, not allowed to ride on the Sabbath.

AUTOMOBILE OWNERS now pay in taxes one thousand million dollars a year, over and above the cost of their machines. The gasoline tax alone amounts to five hundred millions. This makes the proposed tax of 5 per cent on new automobiles sound particularly foolish.

To discourage the automobile industry, already carrying the heaviest load in America, means to threaten the employment of more than 3,000,000 men.

WALL STREET and stock speculators started out this morning cheered by the fact that in four days of last week the value of stocks went up three thousand million dollars.

The big Telegraph and Telephone Company alone went up in value one hundred and eighty-six millions.

But what's the use of having the baby gain three ounces one week if it loses five the next? That Wall street baby is very uncertain.

However, it is going to live and be a big, strong man, and those that are selling their stocks close to "absolute zero" will feel foolish some day.

A FEW THINGS are settled—Germany has paid all the reparations she intends to pay. "Paris is perturbed," but will get used to the perturbation.

France, England and others will announce that, since Germany won't pay them, they won't pay us. We may now charge off ten billions that Uncle Sam threw out of the window in a sloppy, sentimental mood.

MORE IMPORTANT are the thirty-five thousand million private dollars that this country has sent to foreign countries in addition to the nation's ten billions.

How much of the thirty-five billions will come back?

Cyrus H. K. Curtis discovers that Germany owes the United States, in private loans, four thousand millions, about $35 to every man, woman and child in the United States, just about the total amount of money now in circulation here.

What is our chance of getting all or any of that money, with the "Nazis," Communists and Nationalists fighting the German republic?

What is happening in Germany interests us more than anything in Manchuria.

That Asiatic treasure house need not agitate us or the State Department. Japan is only doing in Manchuria what the United States did when it took Texas from Mexico. We decided that we wanted Texas and that we could make better use of it than the Mexicans.

JAPAN LACKS room to expand, with seventy millions crowded in her little islands and Korea. There is plenty of room in Manchuria.

Japan needs iron and coal. The learned Japanese, Jotaro Yamamoto, estimates the iron in Manchuria at one thousand five hundred million tons and the coal near the iron at one billion tons. Who wouldn't take that? Does anybody imagine that mild remonstrances from Washington could change Japan's plan?

SENATOR BINGHAM, Republican, from Connecticut, says the government should legalize 4 per cent beer and create a one billion dollar industry that would put four hundred millions into the Treasury, and help the farmers and the idle.

When Thomas Jefferson, author of the Declaration of Independence, recommended an English brewer to the Virginia Legislature, he did it on the ground that beer was a temperance drink and would drive out the whisky that was killing so many Americans.

It did drive out whisky largely, and might have driven it out completely if competing American and British brewery owners had not put a saloon on every corner, and often in the middle of the block, so that they could not pay expenses on beer alone. They had to have back rooms, side doors and sell plenty of whisky.

Therefore they had to go.

ON SATURDAY, thanks to a wise broadcasting plan arranged by Mr. Aylesworth with the Metropolitan Opera Company, everybody in America was able to hear Wagner's "Lohengrin," sung by an excellent cast. One hundred million would be about Wagner's idea of the audience he ought to have, and the broadcast news must have pleased him, if Wotan, with whom he presumably dwells, told him about it.

More important is the pleasure that millions of young people derived from the wedding march, so important in the life of every normal girl!

The Metropolitan authorities and National Broadcasting organization are rendering a great service to national culture. Its importance cannot be exaggerated.

H. L. MENCKEN saying, "I never speak of or to teetotalers," goes abroad for his health, requesting photographers to write on their pictures:

"This man is sick, not drunk."

Mr. Mencken, leaving, said the prohibition amendment will not be repealed in this or the next generation because Americans prefer to ignore amendments rather than repeal them.

CINCINNATI KIDNAPER BREAKS

Confesses Killing Child; Describes 'Death Watch,' Wants to Die in Chair

CINCINNATI, O., Jan. 11—(AP.)—The kidnaping and slaying of 6-year-old Marian McLean was confessed today, County Prosecutor Robert N. Gorman announced, by Charles Bischoff, 45, a shoemaker.

Marian's body was found December 22 in the basement of a tenement occupied by Bischoff, who was the first to report the discovery. She had been lured away while at play December 17.

Bischoff, who ran from his cellar crying, "A child's body is in my cellar," told police at the time he did not know how it got there.

He was arrested then and has been held continuously since. Questioning of Bischoff continued intermittently throughout more than two weeks. He had steadfastly denied all connection with the crime.

RUSE BRINGS CONFESSION

But Bischoff's weakness for detective stories led to his confessing today. After 21 days of grilling, deputy sheriffs resorted to a ruse. A deputy Saturday night "kidnaped" Bischoff from the Sheriff's office, told him he was Marian's uncle and demanded to know how the girl was slain.

Unnerved, Bischoff said:

"I might have killed her in a fit of insanity."

Bischoff was returned to jail by his captor. This morning officers took Bischoff to the basement of the tenement building he owned and let him look at the spot where found the body. An hour later Bischoff made a complete confession at the county jail.

Gorman said a first degree murder indictment against Bischoff will be sought tomorrow. Deputy sheriffs, detectives and police who worked on the case expressed belief that Bischoff is insane.

CRAVES FOOD

Unemotionally Bischoff said:

"I done it and it's done."

During the confession Bischoff's main thought was for something to eat. He gave indication of relief that he had confessed.

Calmly sitting in his cell he recounted how he had read in newspapers that firemen were to be taken off their regular duty to search every house. He told of his plan to throw searchers off the trail. He said:

"I decided to take her body and put it up there in front of the cellar. Then I was going to make believe I had found it."

At first his victim was quiet, he said, although Thursday night after he had injured her she cried. He left her tied and almost dead. He continued:

"Friday morning I saw her and felt her chest. She was dead."

Yesterday before Bischoff confessed he told newspaper men he wanted to go to the electric chair. Asked why, he said:

"Oh, I'm tired of living."

A deputy sheriff inquired:

"Why are you tired of life?"

"Oh, I've got troubles. You or anybody else can't keep me from the chair."

N. Y. Reds Demand Lower Light Rates

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—(AP.)—Carrying banners setting forth their demands for unemployment insurance, lower electric light rates and other relief, a group of Communists today stage a mass demonstration outside the State Office Building in Center street.

Inside, the Public Service Commission held a hearing on the right of the New York Edison Company to make a minimum charge of $1 a month for current.

Crooners of 'Slush' Scored by Cardinal

BOSTON, Jan. 11—(AP.)—"Whiners and bleaters defiling the air," is the way William Cardinal O'Connell described radio crooners before a crowd of 3,000 yesterday. And their songs:

"A degenerate form of singing, immoral and imbecile slush, a profanation of the name of love songs, ribald and revolting to true men."

POOR BOARD BROKE, ASKS $600,000

Bond Issue or Loan Wanted; Tax Raise Forecast With 16,400 Families in Need

Sixteen thousand destitute families in Allegheny County faced the possibility of being deprived of their only aid, the Board of Poor Directors announced today, as it prepared to inform the County Commissioners it was "broke."

The directors planned to ask the Commissioners this afternoon for permission to raise $600,000, either by a bond issue or by borrowing from the banks in anticipation of tax money due in June.

SEES TAX RAISE

Those plans failing, Directors J. Clyde Miller, Dr. W. L. Henderson and W. H. Dixon asserted their only alternative was to sit back until the Talbot bill, which provides $800,000 relief money for Allegheny from the state, is deemed constitutional—if it is.

At the same time Director Miller predicted that an increase in the poor tax millage would be necessary. He felt the millage might have to raised from 1½ to 3 mills.

The directors pointed out that a total of 16,400 families are being carried on the relief rolls and that no money orders can be issued them at present. They showed last December they distributed $111,000 for relief, as against $28,394 in December, 1930.

DAVIS INFORMED

The directors today, in response to inquiry from Senator Davis, at Washington, telegraphed him of their complete lack of funds. Senator Davis queried several hundred cities and towns in Pennsylvania and was informed by nine counties that outside aid would be needed before the end of the year.

Because of their property valuation of $699,576,000, as against bonded indebtedness of $1,173,244, the directors were confident they would be able to borrow money, if such permission is granted by the Commissioners.

'Tex' Longs for Job As Dry Enforcer

CHICAGO, Jan. 11—(AP.)—Texas Guinan, night club hostess in the Planet Mars cabaret, recently raided by federal prohibition agents, is saying goodbye to Chicago today. While she packed her bags last night and prepared to return to New York she said she hoped to be back in Chicago by the time the Democratic and Republican conventions are held. She said:

"I'll be master of ceremonies at either pow-wow if they'll only name me prohibition administrator."

U. S. Wife of Former Indore Ruler Sails

NAPLES, Italy, Jan. 11—(AP.)—After waiting here for a pet dog which arrived by express from Paris, the former Nancy Miller, of Seattle, Wash., now "Her Highness, the Maharanee Mahimi M. S. Holkar of Indore," sailed aboard the Conte Biancamano for New York.

The wife of the former Maharaja of Indore, India, came to Italy several days ago from France. She was accompanied by a maid, a dog and considerable baggage. The purpose of her visit to the United States was not learned.

Hawaii in Hysteria, Riot Squads on Alert

U. S. Society Woman, Three Navy Men to Face Civil Trial

HONOLULU, Jan. 11—(AP.)—The Honolulu situation at a glance:

1—A city of two elements—white and native—hysteria-ridden. Women remain behind barred doors. Heavy guards patrol city, with riot squads on alert.

2—Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, Mrs. Granville Fortescue (his mother-in-law) and two seamen agreed to submit to civil trial for murder.

3—Three of the four accused are aboard a warship, held by naval authorities "for their protection." Civil authorities agree they are "safer" there.

4—Pastors urge lawful measures and criticize Admiral Pratt for "indorsement of the lynch law." City officials deny Navy statements 40 women have been attacked.

5—Mourned by his wailing family and friends, Kahahawai's body is interred—the largest native funeral in years.

MARYLAND PEN BREAK FAILS

BALTIMORE, Jan. 11—(AP.)—A reported escape plot in the Maryland Penitentiary was nipped in the bud today, but not before a police riot squad had been rushed to the prison for protection.

The first intimation of the attempt came when two prisoners, John Harris, a life-termer, and William Gambrill, serving 17 years, attacked Guard Earl Owings with a pair of shop scissors in an effort to secure the revolver they believed he carried.

Owings was armed only with a gas gun and when the prisoners discovered he did not have a pistol they surrendered and were placed in solitary confinement.

Warden Patrick Brady said he had been informed the attack on Owings was a step in a plan of long-term prisoners to attempt to escape during the lunch hour, and he called for the police riot squad.

The city officers were placed on guard outside the walls, and were dismissed an hour later when no trouble developed.

Allegheny Steel Co. Recalls 200 Men

Two hundred employes of the Allegheny Steel Company's plant at Brackenridge were called back today when the No. 1 plant was put in operation. Idle about a month, the company reported enough work ahead to continue operation during the remainder of January.

Women to Head Jobless Rally Here Saturday

A great mass meeting for women, for those unemployed of Western Pennsylvania who were unable to take part in the march of the jobless to Washington and for sympathizers is being planned by the Rev. Father James R. Cox for Saturday afternoon.

The mass protest against unemployment likely will be staged in the Pitt Stadium, where nearly 70,000 can be accommodated.

The time of the meeting has not been set, but it may be held at the end of this week.

Unemployment and its consequent suffering having hit them hardest, many women have urged that they be permitted to make an organized demand for relief. Father Cox was urged to hold a meeting for them and those who were unable to reach Washington and add their voices to the 25,000.

Attorney Henry Ellenbogen today was named as chairman of the meeting. He will appoint his committee, possibly tomorrow, and among them, it is expected, will be many prominent Pittsburghers interested in the welfare of the more than 100,000 estimated to be jobless here.

The plans for the mass meeting also grew out of the formal welcome plan which did not materialize last Friday.

'BOMBS' TAKEN OFF SHIP

NAPLES, Italy, Jan. 11—(AP.)—Three packages, believed to contain bombs intended for King Victor Emmanuel and Premier Mussolini, were taken off the steamer Excalibur here today, somewhere in 125 bags of parcel mail the steamer brought from the United States.

Two of the bombs were believed to be addressed to the King and one to the Premier. The sacks were unloaded after all the passengers had disembarked. A large force of police superintended the unloading and the sacks were immediately taken in small boats to an isolated spot, a mile and a half from the port, for examination by explosives experts.

The passengers on the steamer did not learn of the supposed presence of the bombs until the ship reached Marseilles, where they read about it in the newspapers.

Two Sailors Saved After Ship Sinks

TEHERAN, Persia, Jan. 11—(AP.)—Two seamen were saved and 10 more were missing today from the crew of an unidentified steamer which foundered in a severe storm in the Caspian Sea.

BURGOYNE EXPECTED IN COURT

Release Under Forfeit of $5,000 Likely; $10,000 Put Up for Ex-Treasurer

Bond was posted today for Roy D. Schooley, former City Treasurer, and LaSalle Girts, realtor, two of three defendants indicted by the grand jury Saturday in the Schooley probe.

Arthur G. Burgoyne, former investigator for Schooley, missing for three months, was expected to surrender and give bond late today.

REAL ESTATE PLEDGED

Schooley's bond was set at $10,000 and that of Girts and Burgoyne at $5,000 by District Attorney A. T. Park.

Schooley's bondsmen were A. J. Bauer, an inspector in the City Bureau of Building Inspection, who put up his home at 1420 Woodland avenue, North Side, valued at $12,000, and H. J. Shapiro, real estate operator, of 5813 Phillips avenue, who pledged a business property at 2430-32 Brownsville road, four lots in Lindenwood avenue, Mt. Lebanon, together valued at $19,000, and property at 1813-15 Penn avenue, assessed at $30,400 and mortgaged for $36,000. The Globe Indemnity Company went on Girts' bond.

Schooley's bond was taken to his home, where the former treasurer, ill for weeks, affixed his signature.

KERR AWAITS CHECK

Meanwhile Controller James P. Kerr is awaiting a prominent Pittsburgh real estate broker to make good $60,000 checks being held in the City Treasurer's office as cash for payment of delinquent taxes. Kerr, according to reports, may take legal steps to collect the money.

The District Attorney's office, preparing to fight the appeal of Mayor Charles H. Kline and his deposed Director of Supplies, Bertram Succop, made in Philadelphia last week, has nearly completed Allegheny County's answer to the Mayor's petition. Kline and Succop are under indictment for misdemeanor in office.

Hunt Bodies Of Two Ohio Children

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 11—Police began digging today in a Waverly avenue yard for the bodies of two children, reported buried by their mother, who, a report said, had poisoned four roomers in her home during the last several years.

Police also are looking for the woman, but refuse to divulge her name until she has been apprehended.

Tear Gas Pen Routs Philadelphia Court

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11—(AP.)—There were lots of tears and excitement in Judge Harry S. McDevitt's Court today when a tear gas container shaped like a fountain pen dropped to the floor from the pocket of a spectator.

Lawyers and witnesses left precipitately and Judge McDevitt, with tears streaming down his cheeks, allowed a recess and ordered Loyal Witt, the spectator, held for investigation.

Ex-Klan Czar's 'Esskayes' Open to All—At $10 Each

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—(INS)—Edward Young Clarke, former imperial kleagle of the Ku Klux Klan, expects a new organization to arise Phoenix-like from the ashes of the smouldering fire of the klan.

Clarke, a veteran at organization and expert at feeling the pulse of the public, declared today that the time is ripe for an organization of national scope to lead the country out of the "morass of economic depression and political incompetence."

Furthermore, he is willing to assume command of such an organization and allow any American citizen to join his band—at $10 a copy.

The name of the new band of crusaders will be "the Esskayes" and a national conference of members and salesmen will be held in New York on March 31, at which plans will be discussed.

Although ordinary members will be taxed but $10, those occupying the more exalted positions will have to pay $25.

Clarke never has forgotten how easy it was to obtain higher fees from those whose higher offices allowed them to wear a more colorful regalia than worn by the ordinary klansman.

The aims of the organization include everything from building a "nation-wide fellowship" to providing free employment bureaus for members.

FRANCE BALKS EXTENSION OF $100,000,000 GERMAN LOAN

PARIS PLANNING REPARATIONS RETALIATION

Berlin Halts Payment in Goods, Annual Amount Totals About $119,000,000

International News Service

France today blocked extension of $100,000,000 credits to Germany as her first act of reprisal following repudiation of reparations obligations by Chancellor Bruening Saturday.

Directors of the Bank for International Settlements meeting at Basel, Switzerland, were informed the Bank of France had not decided whether it would renew its share of the credit. Immediate extension had been universally expected, but the directors announced full approval would await the French decision.

Despite vigorous objections by France and Belgium, the German government stood by its guns today. It announced that in addition to suspending cash payments it would make no further delieveries of goods (delivered in kind under the Young plan) which amounted to $119,000,000 annually and went mostly to France and Belgium.

International News Service

BASEL, Switzerland, Jan. 11.—France today balked complete agreement on extension of the $100,000,000 loan to Germany at a meeting of the directors of the Bank for International Settlements, called to approve extension by the bank of its one-fourth share of the credit.

Gov. Moret of the Bank of France stated that in view of Germany's repudiation of her reparation obligations his bank was not yet prepared to say whether it would renew its share of the loan.

Meanwhile Dr. Hans Luther, president of the German Reichsbank, declared:

"It is certain Chancellor Bruening's statement was greatly exaggerated."

France Starts Drive For Debt Cancellation

PARIS, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—While many members of Parliament today declared for an economic boycott of Germany if she fulfills her threat to repudiate reparation obligations the important radical Socialist paper L'Oeuvre launched a campaign for cancellation of war debts to the United States. The heading said:

"Not one pfennig—not one cent!"

This newspaper's declaration of policy was of significance because the Radical Socialist leader, Edouard Herriot, is being strongly considered as the successor of Aristide Briand at the foreign office. Herriot has repeatedly attacked the terms of the debt settlement with the United States.

Berlin to Halt Payment In Goods, Materials

By EDWARD L. DEUSS

International News Service.

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—Germany intends to cease all deliveries in kind to her war-time victors, as well as other reparation payments, International News Service was officially informed this afternoon in further explanation of Chancellor Bruening's statement Saturday.

These deliveries in manufactured goods and raw products total 500,000,000 gold marks (about $119,000,000) annually under the Young plan.

The Reich government argues that these deliveries, as well as cash reparations, constitute an unbearable burden on the treasury and paralyze Germany's export trade, especially with France and Belgium, which have received nearly all their German purchases in deliveries in kind.

3 Powers to Confer In Paris Wednesday

ROME, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—A three-power conference will be held in Paris on Wednesday with a view to concerted action in the face of Germany's refusal to make further reparation payments.

Signor Beneduce, Italian reparation expert and chairman of the International Committee on Reparations, will meet representatives of the French and British treasuries in the French capital. He conferred with Foreign Minister Dino Grandi this afternoon before leaving for Paris.

The semi-official Tribuna declared today the war-time allies can not force Germany to pay.

America Won't Intervene In Reparations Crisis

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—The American government is following developments in the reparations crisis with close attention, but there was no indication today that Washington planned to intervene in the situation in any way.

The American view is that reparations constitute a question wholly European, and such must be worked out by the nations concerned.

ATTACHE LINKS U. S. IN BOND PROMOTION

Reprimanded by Commerce Department for Gloomy Report on Peru's Finances

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—A former American commercial attache at Lima, Peru, told today of receiving a reprimand from the Commerce Department for sending pessimistic reports of the financial conditions in that country.

At about the same time, Oliver C. Townsend was telling the Senate Finance Committee of this the minister of Bolivia was protesting to the State Department against suggestions that his country would not liquidate its obligations. His note described such testimony as "unfriendly."

Townsend said he had been instructed in a letter from Thomas R. Taylor, assistant chief of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, that optimistic reports were needed.

EX-ENVOY HOST

Townsend submitted a memorandum which he wrote February 10, 1927, about a dinner given in Lima by S. A. Maginnis, former American minister to Bolivia, who according to previous testimony, aided in negotiating the Peruvian loans.

A memorandum, read by Senator Johnson, said the dinner was "a fair sample of what the local society folk are treated to—namely entertainment by promoters seeking favors of one sort or another from the government."

Lawrence Dennis, former officer in the American diplomatic service and later an employ of J. and W. Seligman Company, who has served in a number of Pan-American countries and studied financial conditions in them, testified previously that $5,000,000 of a loan to Bolivia in 1928 by Dillon, Read & Co. was issued for military purposes.

LOANS 'UNSOUND'

He said he regarded loans to Peru as unsound, and predicted they would go into default within five years. The bonds are now in default.

At that time, Dennis said, he was working for J. and W. Seligman which floated $100,000,000 for Peruvian bonds and paid Juan Leguia, son of the president, $415,000 for negotiating the loans.

When today's hearing began Senator Johnson read a letter written in 1926 by S. Parker Gilbert, then agent general for reparations, expressing "amazement at the recklessness of American bankers" in selling German securities in this country.

Previous testimony has shown millions of dollars of German securities were sold in this country since the letter was written.

SCORED BY DILL

This afternoon on the Senate floor, Senator Dill, (Dem.), of Washington, arose to denounce the methods bankers had used in floating foreign securities.

Dill particularly attacked statements before the committee that private debts are sacred, but public debts are political. Dill said:

"When bankers reach the sordid depths of saying that private debts are sacred, but public debts are political I tremble for the future of my government."

BEER HELPFUL TO ILL, EXPERT DECLARES

Ex-Head of Medical Group Tells Senators Beverage Would Benefit Youth

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—From a former president of the American Medical Association, a Senate committee heard today that legalization of 4 per cent beer would provide a "harmless tonic for the sick and improve present conditions among our youth."

Dr. William Gerry Morgan, of this city so testified at hearings on the Bingham beer bill. He said:

"We are a nation of bottle drinkers. If the youth and older people were able to purchase good dependable beer a vast majority would turn to this rather than trust the questionable quality of liquor which is now obtained through bootlegging."

TERMED FOOD TONIC

He looked upon beer as a food tonic, helpful because of its vitamin content, especially for the sick who have temporarily lost their appetite.

Mrs. Lorraine Catlin Brower, vice president of the Congressional Districts Modification League, the first woman to appear, ventured that President Hoover would not veto a bill to legalize higher alcoholic beer. She said:

"Our President is quoted as saying in June, 1918, while he was federal food administrator, that he did not want to suppress beer-making because he did not want to be responsible for a nation-wide orgy of hard liquor drunkenness.

"Senators, this nation-wide orgy of hard liquor drunkenness, keenly decried over a decade ago by our President, certainly is here!"

PRESS SCORED

Conspiracy by the press in giving "outlandish" publicity to "the wet side" of prohibition was charged in the Senate today by Senator Brookhart. The Iowa Republican, a prohibitionist, had just come from the hearing on beer bills.

Brookhart said he had been told "the Anti-Saloon League and other dry societies refused to buy space" in the newspapers, upon which the press "turn against them an organized sort of a racket." He said:

"That's the secret of all this wet publicity. All the press associations are in it alike.

"It is time for them to look into all this unreasonable and disgusting publicity that has been going on."

He added that if they do not, a "congressional inquiry" may be forthcoming.

SEEK TO REVISE CREDIT BILLS

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—An effort to revise both the Senate and House bills to create the $2,000,000,000 Reconstruction Corporation was initiated today by President Hoover at a conference with financial experts.

With the measure holding the attention of both House and Senate and passage in the latter branch imminent, the President called economic advisors to the White House.

For more than an hour they discussed various phases of the reconstruction program.

Ogden Mills, undersecretary of the Treasury, one of the conferees, said there were certain objectionable features in the bills before Congress and an effort would be made to revise them. He declined to say what provisions in the measures were contrary to Mr. Hoover's ideas.

Wheat for Starving Chinese Destroyed

HANKOW, China, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Fifty thousand bushels of American wheat, intended for starving victims of the Yangtze River floods last summer, were destroyed by fire last night. There was no insurance.

The grain was part of a lot of 15,000,000 bushels purchased by Finance Minister T. V. Soong from the American Farm Board and now in process of shipment.

G. O. P. FACING TARIFF TEST

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Republicans of the Senate faced a new test today as the Democratic tariff program bill, passed by the House Saturday night, was reported to the Senate for action.

The bill, which transfers large tariff-making powers from the President and Congress to the tariff commission, was sent to the Finance Committee, of which Senator Smoot (Rep.), of Utah, co-author of the Hawley-Smoot bill, is chairman.

Republican leaders prepared not only to make a fight to kill the bill in committee but to resist it stubbornly if it reaches the floor. Democratic leaders felt certain it would be accepted by the Senate.

U. S. Admiral Plans Nicaragua Election

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Rear Admiral Clark H. Woodward, President Hoover's personal representative, arrived here today to make preliminary arrangements for supervising the Nicaraguan presidential elections next November.

BOYS CAPTURED AS THEFT FAILS

Seven youths were arrested early today, two of them after police shot holes in the tires of an alleged stolen car in which they were fleeing, following an attempt to rob the Ward Baking Company, Liberty avenue, according to a police report.

One of them, Edward Jalski, 19, of 217 Thirty-sixth street, was captured in the company's plant by the night superintendent, F. J. Reimenschneider.

John Roup, 16, of 2733 Mulberry way, and Joseph Zukowski, 16, of 3603 Butler street, were captured at Thirtieth street and Liberty avenue when Patrolmen Joseph Kaminski, Daniel Owen and Joseph Matthews, shot the tires.

The others, Matthew Jolski, 19, of 217 Thirty-sixth street, Adam Shoemaker, 19, of 3620 Smallman street, George Vilano, 16, of 344 Thirty-eighth street, and Alex Zukowski, 20, of 3803 Butler street, were arrested after questioning of those arrested earlier. Police said the boys are believed to be implicated in three attempted holdups and theft of at least 40 automobiles in the Strip in the past four months. All the suspects were held over in Morals Court.

Former Rail Head Dies at Greenville

GREENVILLE, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Henry T. Porter, 72, chief engineer of the Bessemer and Lake Erie Railroad until last April, died today.

FLETCHER EYES SENATE, LONDON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—A choice between the rigors of a strenuous political campaign in Pennsylvania and a cushioned diplomatic chair may be left to Henry P. Fletcher.

Ambassador Dawes' announcement of his prospective retirement as the American representative at the Court of St. James immediately had the effect of placing Fletcher in the forefront of possible successors to Dawes.

At one time such a proffer would have been extremely attractive to Fletcher and at least one other Pennsylvanian, Senator Reed. As it is, Reed is definitely not a candidate now, and friends of Fletcher are doubtful he would accept if the ambassadorship were offered him by President Hoover.

Reed is guided by present economic conditions in not seeking the position, but Fletcher is represented as having an eye on the Senate seat now held by James J. Davis.

Track Walker Shot Dead at Own Home

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Joseph Gordon, of Creekside, was killed by a fusilade of shots as he stepped from the door of his home today.

MOONEY JUDGE REPORT HEARD

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—The declaration of Judge Franklin A. Griffin, who tried Thomas J. Mooney and Wrren K. Billings, that they were convicted of the San Francisco preparednes bombing by perjured testimony, was read to the Senate this afternoon by Senator Costigan (Dem.), of Colorado.

The Griffin statement, urging a pardon for Mooney, was contained in the records of the Wickersham Commission, sent to the Seante last week. Griffin had written his views ina letter to Judge William S. Kenyon, a member of the commission.

Roosevelts Prepare For Son's Wedding

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Gov. and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, whose son, Elliott, will be married on Saturday to Miss Elizabeth Browning Donner, of Villanova, will arrive in Philadelphia on Friday for the wedding. The marriage will take place in the Church of the Redeemer at Bryn Mawr.

The Governor and Mrs. Roosevelt will be entertained at dinner Friday evening by Mrs. Edward Browning, and the same evening there will be a dinner dance given by Miss Katherine Norwood Rodgers, sister of Miss Donner, in honor of Miss Donner and Elliott Roosevelt.

ORDERS ARREST OF RUM SELLER

Magistrate T. D. Jones, in Morals Court today, ordered Police Lieut. David Walsh to "get the owner" of an alleged moonshine resort at 118 South Twenty-first street, where Otto Singer, 17, of 1 Neptune street, testified he had bought liquor.

Singer, found unconscious from liquor at South Twenty-first and Mary streets Saturday night, was discharged from the South Side Hospital yesterday. He testified he had bought two half pints of whisky in the place for 50 cents.

Four men arrested in the place were fined $10 each after a charge of violating the Snyder act was changed to being visitors against Louis Visconti, 23, and his brother, Anthony, 21, both of 108 South Sixteenth street. They said they were only playing cards when police raided it. The others, also visitors, fined were George Hausman, 22, of 1806 Clifton street, and Mike Young, 22, of 2105 Larkins way. They described the proprietor as a "large man" whose name they didn't know.

Fight Rare Disease Near Bloomsburg

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Dr. C. L. Johnson said he was treating 21 cases of catarrhal jaundice in Locust Township. The occurrence of such a large number of cases, the physician said, is rare in American medical records.

Pathologists are trying to determine the cause for the outbreak. Of the patients, 17 are high school students between 15 and 19 years of age; two are men more than 50 years old, and two are children under 10.

U. S. Building Funds Demanded for W. Va.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Holding that West Virginia has not received the same consideration other localities have in the federal public building program, Senator Hatfield and Representative Bachmann, Republicans, of that state, urged upon President Hoover today the immediate appropriation of money allocated for work in Wheeling, Charleston and Huntington.

Strip World of Armaments, Lord Cecil Proposes

By LINTON WELLS

International News Service

CHELWOOD GATE, SUSSEX, England, Jan. 11.—A proposal that the nations of the world be stripped of military airplanes, submarines, tanks, large caliber guns and ships of more than 10,000 tons displacement was made here today by Viscount Cecil of Chelwood in an exclusive interview with International News Service.

Lord Cecil, for many years Europe's chief proponent of disarmament, will unleash the "heavy guns" of his "war against war" when the international arms conference assembles at Geneva next month under the auspices of the League of Nations.

Sitting in his simply-furnished private study before a crackling log fire with his dog curled up at his feet, Lord Cecil expounded in detail the means he would take to rid the world of the menace of war. He said:

"Speaking for myself I would be glad to see the present prohibitions on Germany applied to the world. I would have the Geneva conference eliminate airplanes, submarines, tanks, large caliber guns and ships of more than 10,000 tons."

Lord Cecil disavowed any knowledge of the British government's disarmament program which he and Foreign Secretary Sir John Simon will present when the conference meets.

BRITISH ARREST GANDHI'S WIFE FOR AIDING REVOLTERS

MOB STORMS JAIL, FREES PRISONERS

Further Restrictions Ordered In Bombay; More Serious Outbreaks Reported

International News Service.

BOMBAY, Jan. 11.—In probably the most startling move the British government has made in its campaign to suppress Nationalists, government police today arrested the wife of Mahatma Gandhi.

Seized at Bardoli along with other Nationalist leaders, including women, the Mahatma's wife accepted the surprise arrest calmly.

Meanwhile Gandhi's followers continued their resistance to government ordinances throughout the country. The most serious outbreaks were reported from Karachi, where 30 were injured after police charged a public demonstration, and at Srinigar, where a mob of 10,000 stormed a jail and freed three prisoners of their ranks.

Mrs. Gandhi was taken in custody because she aided Bardoli peasants' "no-tax" campaign, begun today.

Further restrictions were effected in Bombay, where even the smallest meeting or procession, as well as the collection of any number of people before picketed shops, was banned.

Arrests at Delhi brought the total there in the last four days to 50, including 14 women.

WORLD VISITORS AT AUTO SHOW

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Today was international day at the National Automobile Show, with hundreds of foreign representatives of manufacturing companies and motor organizations in attendance. Great crowds of American visitors also were arriving.

Among the events in addition to the show itself and meetings of dealers and manufacturers of the various companies was the convention of the National Automobile Dealers' Association, opening today at the Hotel Commodore.

Of interest to visitors at the show is the increase of speed and power in the new models, particularly in the medium and lower priced makes. Thirty-four models are equipped with power plants developing 100 horsepower or more.

SEA TO RECEIVE AUTHOR'S ASHES

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—(Universal.)—The body of Frederick O'Brien, author and journalist, was to be cremated at Mt. Olivet today and his ashes scattered on the Ocean by a friend.

O'Brien, 62, long a wanderer in far away places, died at his home in Sansalito Saturday. He was a victim of heart disease.

Perhaps best known for his book, "White Shadows in the South Seas," O'Brien lived a life full of adventure and romance, including travel and newspaper work in many countries.

Rum War Arrests Double in New York

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Dry agents arrested 17,513 persons in New York state in 1931 as compared with 8,396 for 1930, Prohibition Administrator Andrew McCampbell revealed in a resume of his year's work.

A total of 399,564 gallons of alcohol and 1,482,192 gallons of beer were seized, as against 89,000 gallons of liquor and less than a million gallons of beer in 1930. McCampbell's men raided 6,217 speakeasies, 386 night clubs, 171 breweries, 94 cutting plants and 64 drug stores, the report shows.

Rumanian Guards Kill Six as Reds

BEAUTY'S DIARY SLAYING CLUE

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(Universal.)—Out of a diary and the many letters written to May Savage, 21, titian-haired beauty, by her suitors, detectives searched today for a clue to her mysterious murder Saturday night in a Brooklyn hair dressing shop. It is believed she was killed by a jilted sweetheart or a jealous woman.

Miss Savage was shot as she lay on a settee reading a book. The bullet entered the young woman's body under the left armpit and pierced the heart.

Miss Savage was found lying on the floor by her chum, Eva Gladstein, 18, proprietor of the shop. The two girls had an appointment to go to a midnight show with two young men.

The two men, Joseph Broth and Joseph Rosenberg, both 22, arrived at the shop with Miss Gladstein. Broth and Rosenberg were questioned but are not under suspicion.

Detectives examined some 20 more young men admirers of Miss Savage. All answered questions satisfactorily and were not held.

Parrot Fever Death Brings Quarantine

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—An emergency quarantine was in effect at the harbor today against entry of birds of the parrot family as the result of the death late yesterday of United States Customs Inspector Walter R. Kaestner, 35, of an illness diagnosed as psittacosis, or parrot fever.

Union Funeral Drivers Ban Private Cars

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Starting today, mourners in funeral corteges will either have to ride in an automobile driven by union chauffeurs or take some other route to the church and cemetery, if the Auto Livery Chauffeurs' Union is able to enforce its edict.

W. J. Kerrigan, president of the union, said the new system would go into effect despite an injunction obtained by the Chicago Funeral Directors' Association from Superior Judge Gentzel, restraining the union from interfering with funeral processions in which private cars are driven. Kerrigan said:

"There is nothing in the injunction to make us drive."

He added that the union was taking its step to relieve unemployment among drivers and "for safety reasons." So much congestion is caused by private drivers, he said, that paid drivers are delayed and kept from other funerals. He asserted:

"Too many persons go to funerals these days as pastime, anyway."

CUBAN BOMBING BRINGS TROOPS

SANTIAGO, Cuba, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Martial law was declared today after the explosion of five bombs, one of which probably fatally wounded the wife of Dr. Rafael Stenger, prosecuting attorney of the Oriente province audencia court.

The bombs followed scattered firing throughout the suburbs late last night as students and workmen held demonstrations on the third anniversary of the slaying in Mexico City of Julio Antonio Mella, Cuban Communist student.

The bomb which injured Senora Stenger was thrown against the prosecutor's home. Others struck the postoffice, a theater and a section of Vista Algere, a suburb.

The lid of censorship was immediately clamped down at Havana, government officials refusing to permit publication of any reports of the Santiago outbreak. They said, however, that the situation was "very grave."

MOTHER DENIED VISIT WITH BOY SLAYER

14-Year-Old Lad Hears Jail Church Service on Eve of His Arraignment

International News Service.

DOYLESTOWN, Pa., Jan. 11.—Charged with murder, Stanley Wismer, 14-year-old farm boy, will be arraigned today. The youth spent most of Sunday quietly in his cell listening to church services and reading a book. His mother, Mrs. Emma Wismer, of Hatfield, appeared at the jail during the day and became hysterical when she was refused permission to see her son.

Young Wismer is alleged to have confessed the fatal shooting of Elmer D. Bartholomew, 28-year-old farmer of near Plumsteadville, with whom he lived. He gave as his motive hatred engendered by Bartholomew's refusal to pay him more than $10 and a pair of shoes for his work on the farm since last May, and the desire to use the family automobile to visit his mother at Hatfield. Two confessions were made, according to the county officials.

County Detective Anthony Russo asserted the slaying was the result of a "cold and deliberate plot."

Bartholomew was shot to death in his barn eight miles north of Doylestown with a .22 caliber rifle last Friday. Wismer then drove away in Bartholomew's automobile and was captured a few hours later while inquiring the way to his mother's place of employment in Hatfield.

KERR NOW BILLS BACK TAXES

The billing of delinquent city taxes, including a detailed control on collections, has been taken over by the City Controller's office. Formerly it had been the custom of the delinquent tax office merely to certify to the Controller the gross collections at the end of every month.

Controller James P. Kerr announced that the work on the delinquent tax bills will be started in his office as soon as the current tax statements are complete. Up until today, 105,000 of the 120,000 current city tax bills have been completed and are being put in the mails.

The tax billing is being done by machines and permanent ledger records are created on which collections can be checked. Dr. Kerr said:

"The new method will eliminate any possibility of a shortage going undiscovered in the delinquent tax office."

JUNE WILL BEG TITLED MATE FOR DIVORCE

Too 'Fragile' for Films, Lady Inverclyde Leaves Hollywood, London Bound

By RUTH RIDENOUR

International News Service.

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11.—Her type of beauty too fragile for the cinema screen, Lady Inverclyde, the famous "June" of the English stage, has abandoned hope of a film career.

She will return to London and plead with her husband for a divorce so she can marry Lothar Mendes, she said today in an exclusive interview. Mendes is a German actor and director in Hollywood and is the divorced husband of Dorothy Mackaill, the English girl who became an American film star.

Lady Inverclyde has the unique distinction of being a divorcee in the United States and a married woman in England. She obtained a divorce recently in Reno from Lord Inverclyde. She spoke wistfully and without bitterness as she characterized Lord Inverclyde's attitude as that of a "dog in the manger."

ACES TO PLAN SEA FLIGHTS

LONDON, Jan. 11.—(Universal.)—Air aces of four nations will meet in Rome this May at Premier Mussolini's invitation to discuss plans for a regular international air service across the Atlantic.

Sir Arthur Whitten Browne, who, with the late Sir John Alcock first spanned the Atlantic in a non-stop flight, today revealed plans for the conference. He said that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, holders of the round-world flight record; Clarence Chamberlain and Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam, are among the Americans invited. France, Great Britain and Germany will also send their premier airmen.

Sir Arthur lauded the Italian dictator for taking the initial step for gaining international co-operation in linking the old and new worlds by regularly-flown air paths.

FILM WRITER'S DEATH MYSTERY

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Under mysterious circumstances Joseph C. Alexander, 45, wealthy screen writer, was found dead in his Hollywood home and police today determined that an autopsy should be conducted to determine the exact cause of death, listed in a preliminary report as pneumonia.

Police said he had been dead several hours.

Alexander had written many successful motion pictures. He was a native of Scranton, Pa.

Society Man's Death Investigation Pushed

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Search for the companion of Benjamin F. Theobald, socially prominent Philadelphian, on the night he is believed to have received a beating that caused his death, has led investigators to Reading, Pa.

The person sought is a Philadelphian, who witnessed the beating, drove Theobald to Atlantic City so that he might recuperate, and later brought Theobald back to his home here. Authorities believe he may be able to name the assailants.

Shoots Self

MILDRED TUCCI, 16

SPANKED GIRL SHOOTS SELF

Mildred Tucci, 16, of 7318 Tioga street, was in a serious condition in the Pittsburgh Hospital today from two bullet wounds, self-inflicted, police said, after she was punished by her father.

The father, Frank Tucci, according to Detectives Robert Carroll and James O'Keef, whipped her because she refused to stay in the house. She threatened to "get even," it was said.

Several minutes later two shots were heard and the father, upon running upstairs, found the girl on the floor with one bullet wound above the heart and another in her left arm.

The detectives said she had used a revolver that had contained five bullets. Three of the bullets failed to explode, detectives said. Hospital authorities said that the bullet that pierced her body also struck her arm.

SMITH ENIGMA TO DEMOCRATS

By GEORGE R. HOLMES

International News Service.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The Democrats' big pre-convention conclave broke up over the week-end, and the leaders scattered to their homes expressing satisfaction with the party outlook for 1932. The gathering here did not result in as much clarification of the candidate situation, however, as some had hoped.

The great enigma before the meeting was Alfred E. Smith. The great enigma now that the meeting is over is still Alfred E. Smith. Supporters of other candidates are going ahead on the assumption that "Al is out."

The meeting here, however, did convince the supporters of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt that they have a real fight on their hands. They left Washington to shape their plans accordingly.

STIMSON ASKS JAPAN TO EASE PUNISHMENT

Secretary Seeks Remission Of Penalty Imposed on U. S. Consul's Attackers

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Secretary Stimson today asked a remission of part of the severe punishment imposed by the Japanese government on those held responsible for the attack on American Consul Culver B. Chamberlain at Mukden.

The Japanese government submitted to the Secretary four points for punishment as reparations for the attack on the consul by Japanese soldiers and civilians.

The first was the dismissal of the civilian interpreter held responsible for the attack. Military police present when the attack occurred are being subjected to disciplinary action.

The second point was disciplinary punishment of Maj. Gen. Ninamiya, commander of the military police, and his subordinate officers, held responsible for the actions of the military police. Punishment of a major general in such cases is rare, and the Secretary accepted the other punishments as sufficient and asked remission of the punishment of the general and his subordinates.

The other points, which have already been fulfilled, included formal calls on military and consular officers to express regrets at the consulate at Mukden and Harbin, where Chamberlain is now stationed.

The incident will be considered closed, the Secretary said, with punishment of those who actually participated in the assault.

PEIPING, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Chinese press reports received here today said Eugene Chen, foreign minister at Nanking, had cabled Secretary of State Stimson at Washington suggesting the permanent neutralization of Manchuria.

Japanese to Avenge Bandit Ambush

By EDWARD HUNTER

International News Service.

MUKDEN, Jan. 11.—Japanese troops marched westward toward Jehol province today in a new concentrated drive against roving Chinese bandits after the bloodiest encounter they had yet met on their recent Manchurian campaign.

Ambushed by 5,000 Chinese irregulars near Chinshai, on the border of Jehol, the Japanese lost 20 men, including four officers. The dead included Lieut. Gen. Dentaro Koga, commander of a smashing cavalry brigade which led the bloody encounter.

TOKIO, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Indicative of Japan's determination to maintain her foothold in Manchuria, the Navy Office decided today to re-establish the important naval base at Porth Arthur, placed in operation after the Russo-Japanese War.

Edison to be Honored At Franklin Fete

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Thomas A. Edison, who continued the "electrical age" initiated by Benjamin Franklin, will be honored at the annual observance of Franklin's birthday by the Poor Richard Club Friday. The observance is being held two days prior to the anniversary of Franklin's birth.

Old Christ Church and Franklin's grave in the church cemetery will again be the principal scenes of the ceremonies with Edison being jointly honored at the banquet Friday night.

WHITES BLAMED FOR CRISIS IN HAWAII

Americans Causing Hysteria, Honolulu Police Chief Says In Telephone Interview

In the first press interview by long distance telephone between New York and Hawaii—4729 miles—Honolulu Police Chief Patrick Gleason told Universal Service his view of the racial crisis there.

By SEYMOUR BERKSON

(Copyright 1932, Universal Service, Inc.)

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Though himself a Hawaiian born American of white parentage, Chief of Police Patrick Gleason, of Honolulu, told Universal Service he blames the white colony's hysteria more than the natives for the recent disorders on the island.

In a deep voice that boomed over the long distance telephone despite its vast distance from the receiver in this office, Chief Gleason said that the murder of a native for which Mrs. Granville R. Fortescue and two American Navy men are held was the climax of a long period of hysterical unrest.

He declared with such emphasis that his voice seemed only next door:

"There has been such frenzy and crazy excitement over the murder we have seen fit to place the city under guard of militia as well as police, but there is no need to fear any uprising from the natives.

"The natives are remarkably calm while a troublesome element of the Americans are acting as if they were crazy and their hysteria has been aggravated by political enemies who would like to undermine the island's present administration."

Chief Gleason was asked:

"Is the element you refer to part of the Army and Navy colony stationed there?"

He replied quickly:

"I don't want to discuss that."

Asked whether Honolulu is unsafe for white women as several Americans there have charged, the chief said:

"Honolulu is as safe for white women as it is for native women. It is only recently since this outburst of hysteria that there has been any unusual number of these cases.

"But we must also bear in mind that soldiers and sailors stationed there have also been accused of attacking native women."

Preachers in Hawaii Urge Pratt Be Dismissed for Condoning Lynching

HONOLULU, Jan. 11—(AP.)—Two of Honolulu's leading churches were on record today with statements from their pastors condemning Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, for his quoted statement condoning the lynching here Friday of Joseph Kahahawai.

The Rev. Dr. Horace Leavitt, pastor of the world famous Central Union Church, and a recent arrival here from a New York pastorate, accused Admiral Pratt in these words:

"The high service official in Washington who is reported as justifying this resort to lynch law 'because the courts have failed,' puts himself and the force he represents above the law—which is anarchy and utterly false to the Constitution he has sworn to uphold.

"As a Christian minister and as a citizen of this republic, conceived and established in justice and liberty, I protest at this sanction and approval given to lawlessness, and at this individual interpretation of vengeance which thus mocks civilized society."

Hope that the President of the United States would "use every due process of law to see that Admiral Pratt is relieved of his command" was expressed by the Rev. Galen R. Weaver, pastor of the Church of the Crossroads.

Meanwhile the largest Hawaiian funeral since the days when chiefs were carried with ceremony to their graves attended the burial here late yesterday of Kahahawai.

One hundred motor cars were in the procession. Another 200 were at the cemetery, and the crowd at the grave was so dense the police were forced to clear a path for the hearse.

More than 3,000 persons were there. Most of them were Kahahawai's own people—Hawaiians and Chinese, Japanese and Portuguese. A protestation of his innocence of the crime for which he paid with his life was made at the grave by the clergyman who delivered the funeral oration in Hawaiian.

Shortly before the body was taken away, Kahahawai's father made a brief address saying his son was innocent. He asserted:

"I asked Joseph to take an oath before God, and he said, 'Daddy, I swear that I never did anything wrong.'"

GUARDS READY FOR ACTION IN HONOLULU

Hysteria Follows Murder of Native Accused in Attack On Wife of Navy Officer

cer will be decided in a civil trial by a civilian jury.

This was announced today by Montgomery Winn, attorney for Mrs. Granville Fortescue, eastern society woman and cousin of Alexander Graham Bell, her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, U. S. N., whose wife had been attacked by five natives, and two enlisted men of the Navy, E. J. Lord and Albert S. Jones.

SITUATION TENSE

Winn admitted that he had been unable to overcome the objections of County Attorney James Gilliland to surrender to the Navy the four accused of having shot Joseph Kahahawai.

Sailor Jones

The situation in Honolulu, where beneath a surface of outward calm seethed a turmoil of bitter racial feeling, continued quiet, with territorial police vigilant to prevent any open rioting. At Scofield Barracks, 22 miles from town, the regular Army forces stood ready to take over the situation should it flare beyond the local law agencies.

Winn confessed frankly that he was afraid trouble would result should Lieut. Massie, Lord and Jones stand naval court martial and be acquitted.

Sentiment in Honolulu was sharply divided. The natives and those of mixed blood insisted, for the most part, that Kahahawai was innocent of the attack on Mrs. Massie. The natives were heard to mutter:

"They are murderers. They are murderers."

AWAIT HEARING

Mrs. Fortescue, Lieut. Massie, Jones and Lord will receive a hearing late this week on the first degree murder charges. The original hearing scheduled for Saturday was postponed.

Slain Kahahawai

The Navy continued to guard Mrs. Fortescue, Lord and Lieut. Massie aboard a warship anchored in the harbor. The three were surrendered into the custody of Capt. Ward K. Workman, commander of the naval base, shortly after they were arrested while driving rapidly toward Koko Head geyser in an automobile containing the body of Kahahawai, wrapped in sheets and shot through the heart.

Jones was still in the custody of the police. He was arrested in front of the Massie home, standing guard with a pistol in his hand. First degree murder charges were finally lodged against him Saturday.

NO MURDER CHARGE

That no attempt will be made to seek a conviction of the four charged with killing Kahahawai on first degree murder charges was learned today by International News Service. The City Attorney's office probably will ask trial on a much lower charge.

The four defendants in the Massie attack case, who had been at liberty with Kahahawai under bail pending a new trial, were content to remain in the cells which they sought of their own accord when feeling flared anew in Honolulu over the affair.

Although territorial officials have persisted in saying that the situation is well in hand, the fact that Navy officials in Washington have decided that no men will be allowed shore leave when the winter maneuvers are held near the islands emphasized the gravity of the situation.

Senate Orders Mitchell To Probe Hawaii Strife

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—The Senate today ordered Attorney General Mitchell to investigate conditions in Hawaii when it approved a resolution introduced by Senator McKellar (Dem.), of Tennessee. His resolution called for a sweeping probe of what he terms "continuous lawless acts of the most depraved character."

The House Navy Committee had previously called upon the Navy to produce all its records in the case.

Members strongly supported the stand of Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of operations, against permitting the Pacific fleet to visit Honolulu, and his statement that under no circumstances can "Americans permit their women to be violated."

Representative Vinson (Dem.), of Georgia, chairman of the committee, told Admiral Pratt:

"I indorse every word you said relative to the attitude of the people of this country when juries failed to do their duty."

Meanwhile, a strong protest against "inflammatory utterances" by naval officials concerning conditions in Honolulu was made by Victor S. F. Houston, Hawaiian delegate in Congress. He said:

"It is a horrible mess. I welcome any investigation such as suggested by Senator McKellar. We cannot deny the existence of certain facts."

Houston said the five men who attacked Mrs. Massie were "all plain gangsters," but added it was unwise for any woman to walk alone in the region where she was captured.

Relapse Balks Fortescue Trip to Aid Kin in Hawaii

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Doctors said today a turn for the worse in the condition of Maj. Granville Roland Fortescue, ill from pneumonia, probably will cause indefinite postponement of his projected trip to Honolulu, where his wife and son-in-law are under arrest charged with the murder of a Hawaiian accused of attacking Mrs. Fortescue's married daughter, Mrs. Thalia Massie.

The shock of the news about the arrest of his wife and his son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, United States Navy, aggravated the major's illness, from which he was up to then recovering.

Kenyon Fortescue, attorney, brother of the major, declared he did not see how his relatives could receive a fair trial in the territorial courts and said a change of venue should be asked.

Clerks Urge Death For Bomb Mailers

Pittsburgh postal clerks protesting the bomb explosion at Easton, Pa., in which two postal clerks lost their lives, last night voted to ask Senator James J. Davis and Representative Guy Campbell to introduce a bill in both houses of Congress making it a capital offense, punishable by death, to send any explosive through the mails intended to damage property or harm any person.

Cosgrave Begins Re-election Fight

ENNIS, Irish Free State, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—President William T. Cosgrave opened his campaign for re-election here last night.

He said the British government was changing its trade policy and it would be important to Irish farmers that the Free State delegates to the impending imperial conference at Ottawa, Canada, have the people's support. He was confident, he said, of the people returning his government to office.

WHISKY-LADEN TRUCK STOLEN

Hi-jackers early today held up a North Side garage and escaped with a two-ton automobile truck and its cargo of 150 cases of Canadian whisky.

The whisky had a current bootleg valuation of $9,000 police say.

Five armed men believed to be Italians participated in the hold-up according to Harry Mutterspaugh, 58, night watchman at French's garage at 1122 Ridge avenue where the truck was stored. Mutterspaugh told police he was talking to John Cancellieri, 31, of 1128 Ridge avenue when the hi-jackers entered. He added:

"While one covered us with his revolver a second cut the telephone wires. The other three started the motor on the truck and drove it out of the garage."

Both Mutterspaugh and Cancellieri are being held by police on charges of being suspicious persons. After they received a preliminary hearing Louis M. Winkler, Greenhill road, Millvale, proprietor of the garage, was arrested as a suspicious person. He said he did not know the name of the truck owner.

The truck containing the liquor, Mutterspaugh said, was stored in the garage early Sunday by two men, "Cy" and "Eddie."

No report of the theft of the truck had been broadcast on the police teletype. In cases of stolen automobiles or trucks a description is usually broadcast immediately.

CAVEIN WRECKS 2 CITY BLOCKS

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Jan. 11 (INS)—Destruction was spread over two city blocks in Upper Pittston today as a result of a mine cave which snapped gas and water pipes, split building foundations and smashed windows of more than 15 homes.

Houses were tilted and in several cases it was necessary to extinguish stove and furnace fires as a precautionary measure.

A woman was injured slightly when she was thrown against a stove by the tilting of the house.

GUNS ON TAXIS IN CHILE STRIKE

SANTIAGO, Chile, Jan. 11—(AP)—Machine guns were mounted on a fleet of 100 taxicabs today by the government as 20,000 employes of the Chilean State Railways, together with street car employes in Santiago, were ordered out on strike.

Santiago bus men also decided not to operate, for fear of reprisals, although they themselves do not favor the strike. Leaders of the street car employes said they expected their colleagues in other cities in the country would go out on strike by noon.

Economists were scheduled to meet during the day on the Boulevard Alemeda and the government made preparations for anything that might happen. The fleet of taxicabs was requisitioned by officials and a machine gun placed in each. Each cab was manned by four caribineers and the fleet was started out through the streets at dawn.

The cab patrols had orders to break up all street demonstrations and nip early evidences of trouble in the bud.

FRANCE BURIES WAR HERO

PARIS, Jan. 11—(AP)—Andre Maginot, "Sergeant of Verdun," who served his country in the trenches during the war and later as minister of war devised great defensive projects on the eastern frontier of France, was honored in death yesterday with the highest homage of the French nation.

Within the shadow of Napoleon's tomb, the man who served as a private was given a national funeral similar to those of Marshals Joffre and Foch.

France's three last marshals followed the coffin from the ministry of war to the Church of the Invalides. There Cardinal Verdier pronounced absolution and Premier Laval paid homage to M. Maginot as a simple soldier patriot in a eulogy during which he stressed France's love of peace.

SHATTERS FOUR CAFE WINDOWS

Several customers and a waitress scurried to cover in the Fifth Avenue Lunchroom, 1208 Fifth avenue, when a man began shattering the four plate glass windows and the glass panels of the restaurant this morning. Miss Betty Mueck, 22, of 2529 South Eighteenth street extension, the waitress, and the patrons fled into the kitchen when, police said, William (Doggie) Miller, 32, who gave his address as city, picked up a bill of fare board on the outside and began breaking the glass.

Miller, arrested on a disorderly conduct charge, was intoxicated, according to Center avenue police. He offered no explanation.

Accused Bank Head Ends Life in Auto

METROPOLIS, Ill., Jan. 11—(AP)—William A. Lafont, president of the Union State Bank of Dowell, Ill., who was charged with embezzlement following the closing of the bank Saturday, committed suicide in an automobile here yesterday by drinking poison.

Lafont's body was found in his automobile in front of the home of W. P. Baynes, an undertaker and coroner of Massac County. Police said Lafont was dead from the effects of poison taken several hours earlier.

Newspaper Cashier Shot in Holdup Dies

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Jan. 11—(AP)—James E. Chapple, 55, cashier of the Arkansas Gazette, died today of bullet wounds received Saturday when he was robbed of the newspapers' payroll by a bandit.

Charles and Don Pearce, brothers, arrested an hour after the crime, were charged with first degree murder. Officers said Charles Pearce, for 12 years a linotype operator on the newspaper, confessed his brother perpetrated the holdup and shooting.

Here Are the Sales You Asked For!

FOR the first time in the history of retailing, progressive stores are going direct to the public for specific information concerning people's needs and price wishes.

The Joseph Horne Co., leading the way in Pittsburgh, sent thousands of questionnaires to people all over the city—comprising a true cross-section of the entire community—asking them regarding their immediate shopping needs and specific price wishes.

The answers have been received, and acted upon. Today we open a series of the most unique and practical sales in the history of Pittsburgh. Sales of merchandise that the public has asked for, at prices that the public wants to pay.

It was not possible, of course, to question everybody in Pittsburgh, but the questionnaires were so well distributed that the replies well may be said to represent accurately the shopping needs of the general public. If you did not receive a questionnaire, you will likely find that those that did, have pretty well expressed your wants in their requests, which are answered today in these Customer Sales throughout the store. Come and see!

Dressy Coats

From $75 and $100 Stocks

They show their actual worth in rich, fashionable fabrics (including the luxurious Cherkessa), and in trimmings of fine furs—kolinsky, beaver, Hudson seal (dyed muskrat), black fox, blue-dyed fox, kit fox, Jap mink, German fitch, Canadian lynx, natural gray squirrel and eastern mink (the latter in misses' coats only).

A wide variety as to styles and colors. Not all sizes in each model, of course, but in the collection there are all regular sizes for women and misses, and half sizes for short women.

INTERLUDE :-: Nina Finds New Life In Hollywood

Movies Get Eugene O'Neill, So Norma Shearer Gets Three Men

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1932, by King Features Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 11.

After many headaches, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has figured out a way to put over the asides in "Strange Interlude"—and the Eugene O'Neill drama is expected to be Norma Shearer's next picture, starting in about three weeks.

Norma Shearer

I was able to find out today that the asides will be spoken by the player's voices, but there will be no lip movements as was necessary on the stage. As the voice comes in on the sound track the players will be going through bits of action.

This method was hit upon after many others had been rejected. One plan was to use titles for the asides; another to double expose a second image of the player and have it speak the asides. The new method not only is more effective, but is very much more economical.

The selection of "Strange Interlude" means that Norma Shearer will not do "Smiling Through" until later.

In the meanwhile, Bess Meredyth and C. Gardner Sullivan are working on the O'Neill drama. Bob Leonard will be given the herculean task of directing.

GOSSIP

Radio announcers get award for diction. Why not actors? The Speech Arts Association proposes that this be done next year. Oliver Hinsdell, director of voice and audition at M-G-M, conceived the idea. It's been put up to the Motion Picture Academy of Arts and Sciences. . . . Adolphe Menjou writes that he played 18 holes of golf with the Prince of Wales. . . .

Marie Dressler

Marie Dressler begged M-G-M to let her play the maid in "Grand Hotel," but they thought the part wasn't big enough for her. "The main thing about the maid is her shoes and her walk," says Marie. "I think I know just how they ought to be." . . . Attention, London: Edgar Wallace threatens to move to California to live. He intends to go back to England for his family on April 1. . . . Ernest Booth, author of "Ladies of the Big House," probably never will see his picture. He is a lifer at Folsom. . . . That sequel to "All Quiet" is being delayed at Universal because it would cost $1,000,000 to produce, and that is a lot of money these days. . . . Anita Louise will be 16 tomorrow. She's having a party at the Ambassador.

WHEN
COME A-KNOCKING
AT THE DOOR

Whether or not, as some people think, times are harder today than they ever have been, we are sure of one thing:

There have been ten business depressions since A & P was founded in 1859; and, with the rest of the country, A & P has come through all ten of them stronger and better. We believe we can do it again.

Our part, as we see it, is to keep on selling more food for less money—thus making it possible for more people to buy more food—in turn, keeping more food producers busy, and making more jobs all around.

And it works. For today, besides furnishing a steady market for many growers and producers, we are employing 5,763 more workers in our own company than we did in 1929, the most prosperous year this country has known.

Burlesque Matinee

The show went on—and I grew strangely sick—
The straggly chorus sang—the comic joked;
I gazed to right and left—the air was thick
With cheap tobacco—soul and senses choked;
But still I stayed and listened to the gust
Of blatant music sweep the tawdry hall,
And wondered at the sickliness of lust—
And sighed relief to see the curtain fall.

I faltered out—and dusk had come again—
The crowd hung back—I hurried through to see
The sharp and silver arrows of the rain
Fall to the street—and then, all suddenly,

I knew that I was free—and held my face
Skyward for benediction and for grace!
Kid Kasanova.

Gag

Chico Marx, of Guess-What-Four-Brothers? (not Mills) phoned a theater the other evening to reserve two seats.

By error—he got Cain's Theatrical Warehouse—the cemetery for play casualties.

"I want two seats for tonight," began Chico.

"Sorry," was the retort from the Flop House, "we won't get that show for two weeks, yet!"

As If We Didn't Know

R. D. Rex, of Reading, Pa., reports that most of the guys that bite their nails are not nervous—merely hungry.

Dusting 'Em Off

"Whatever became of the old gag about the Scotsman who wore mittens to keep coins from sliding through his fingers?"

It's in Janet Gaynor's new flicker "Delicious," as well as in the early editions of Joe Miller's Joke Book—which, of course, every Hollywood press agent has.

Oh, Sure!

The N. Y. Times of Dec. 30, 19 Dirty-One, reported, among other things: "Breaking the glass with a chair, he climbed through and clung to the sill by his finger-prints."

All The News Fit to Finger-Print, as the Times would say.

The Morning Mail

"Dear WW," writes H. Kogan, of No. 3334 Dickens avenue, Chicago, "why not let up on the army who ape you? You're making yours, no? Doesn't it thrill you to know that they have to? Don't forget that saying of a long time ago: 'We imitate only what we admire—and envy.'"

When Elsie Janis, "Cissie" Loftus and the finer mimics borrow their material, Kogan, at least they announce that they are!

No Choice

Girls who are very good
Do only what they should—

And die in penury.

Girls who are very bad
Flit from rich lad to lad—

And live in ennui.
—Betty Bialk.

Heheheh

And, Howard Snyder calls Peggy Joyce a "gross" widow.

Add Sensayumas

"Dear Winchell," writes Fritzie Hirschfield, "how come you've never mentioned the funniest line in 'Monkey Business' when Groucho said to Harpo:

"'How much would you charge me to buy back my introduction to you?'"

Because, Fritzie—that line was widely advertised by the movie firm, and because funnier to me was when Groucho chirped: "Look at me—I worked myself up from nothing to a state of extreme poverty!"

Sob Story

Add pitiful figures, as suggested by D. Murray: The radio crooner who went to the mountains and had to listen to his own voice as an echo.

Oh, Kay! Salem!

"A lot of columnists are copying Winchell's three-dot punctuation idea . . . but . . . they spoil it all by . . . putting their own words between the dots.—T. N. T. in the Dec. 28 Salem (Mass.) Eve'g News."

Thanks, anyway, T. N. T. But I never claimed or originated the three-dot punctuation plan in colyuming. You should have said that I merely revived it and reminded the mob about it.

At any rate—Salem-Alochem!

Heroine Worship

Miss Kay Yarborough, of Washington, disgraces Greta Garbo with a defense. Miss Yarborough doesn't believe that the local reporters should have reached for a L——y instead of a Swede, at all. But that Garbo acted the way she should have with the press.

"Why," asks Miss Y., "would you tear away the veil and let us see the clay? When, by the grace of God and an Act of Congress, I shall meet the Garbo I think I shall only look into her eyes and say, 'Thank you!' She got there without advertising. She merely walked to the top and threw the ladder away."

But, that's the trouble. She's up on a perch—where Once-Was's and Used-To-Be's will tell you, you can get awfully dizzy looking down on people!

Irene Dunne on Screen In Harris

"Consolation Marriage," starring Irene Dunne, is having its first Pittsburgh showing on the Harris screen. Pat O'Brien plays opposite Miss Dunne. Stage acts are Nate Busby comedian, Crockett's Mountaineers, Jimmy Lyons, Nice, Florio and Robow and Melva Sisters.

Crawford and Variety Bill in Sheridan

Joan Crawford, in "Possessed," is the screen feature in the Sheridan Square, where the Young Kam Troupe of Japanese heads the variety acts. Other stage offerings are Frank and Peter Trado, Radio Jack and Queen and Rod and Morey Carter.

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"Smiling Through," now an operetta by virtue of the composing of Vincent Youmans, its producer, will be the Nixon's contrib to the stage-minded this week. Mats as per usual. It has Norma Terris, Tom Powers, Ada-May and Chas. Winninger. Norma and Chas. were on Ziggy's "Show Boat," you may recall. Even if you don't, they were.

Next Munduh the Nix will go O'Neill again. The Theater Guild will be sponsoring his newest opus, a Greek tragedy, "Electra," with Agamemnon masquerading as a Civil War general; Ag's spouse, Clytemnestra, as the gen's wife; Electra and Orestes, offspring of Ag and Cly, as Yankee sister and brother who are daughter and son of said Civil War officer. No mats of this'n, which, called "Mourning Becomes Electra," will begin at 5:30 and continue for 14 acts, with intermission for rations.

Small Timer says prohibition is a joke that cannot be classed as dry humor as long as it's a wet blank-it.

If you've got a nice shoulder to spare, George Young, manager of the Alv., would like to have it to cry on. George, y'see, has no show for this week. Between tears he is looking hopefully east'ard for one for next week. He had a big one hooked—"Everybody's Welcome," but it broke the line and got away. Tough luck, say we.

Small Timer says if you want to see a depressed guy go up in the air just tell him that one about clouds and silver linings.

Lionel Barrymore is devoted to another art besides that of acting, and he is planning to give an exhib of his own etchings in a Los Angeles gallery . . . Doris Kenyon is devoting more time to concert work than to the screen and will give a recital in Los Angeles tomorrow . . . Also in that movie city, Bebe Daniels has made a successful stage appearance in "The Last of Mrs. Cheyney," and she might get to New York eventually in a musical show, if movie contracts don't interfere . . . Maude Adams and Otis Skinner are one-nighting it with "The Merchant of Venice" in the far South, but N'Orleans missed 'em because of stage-hand trouble . . . Straight vaude is being tried again in Allentown and Reading . . . Al Mammaux has been singing for Loew in Brooklyn and has been given "time" elsewhere . . . Mary Bryan, screenie, will do a personal appearance in St. Louis and other towns.

News and Notes About Stage and Screen

Stevenson's Dual Man In Film

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Robert L. Stevenson's fantastic and melodramatic story, "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde," has reached the talking screen. It's now in the Warner. It's a capital piece of screen entertainment.

And, after all, the story isn't as fantastic as first appears. Aren't we all more or less dual personalities? Victims of moods and thoughts at variance with each other?

All that Mr. Stevenson has really done in his story is to give an exaggerated and altogether terrifying physical body to a second personality.

Frederic March is star of the current film. And as a two-in-one man he's a keen actor. His Mr. Hyde is a dramatic nightmare. His Jekyll is a strong portrait of a man, doomed to damnation by a monster created within himself by his own hand.

The supporting cast, including Rose Hobart and Miriam Hopkins, is more than sufficient.

An intelligent directorial hand guided the production to completion. The Hollywood photographic art gave it proper atmosphere.

Fleeson Is Featured on Enright Stage

The bill in the Enright for three days, closing tomorrow, includes Kay Francis on the screen in "The False Madonna," and Neville Fleeson, Pittsburgh song writer, on the stage. Other stage acts are George Beatty, Harmon and Sands, Three White Flashes and Mack, Harold and Bobby.

TELL IT TO SALLY -:- -:- Follow This Unusual Feature Day by Day -:- -:- By SALLY MARTIN

Does Acceptance of Woman's Aid Cheapen a Man?

Can a man take help from a woman when he's in a jam—and still stay regular?

Or does it ravel out his character and make a tramp of him, just because he's a man and she's a woman?

Ella had been helping her boy friend, who had lost his job when hard times hit the country, and couldn't find another. She felt it was okay. She'd known him for a long time, and she was sure he wasn't just making a sap out of her.

But her friends insisted he was—said that no man with an ounce of spunk or decency would let a girl stake him, no matter what happened.

So she asked us what we thought, and today Nettie has an answer for her.

Do you agree with Nettie?

LOANED MAN MONEY

"Dear Miss Martin:

"I've never written before, but after reading Ella's letter I just can't help telling you of some experiences that I've had, and know of, along the line of helping boy friends.

"I think it is wonderful to help people when they're down and out, but I don't think a girl should help a boy, like Lila is doing. I think it does something to the boy, when she does.

"I don't think that a fellow appreciates help of that kind given by a girl, like he should. I know maybe that sounds queer, but once I had a friend I'd known for a long time, too. He had some bad luck, just like Ella's friend, and since he had always seemed to be such a manly, regular fellow, I helped him a little, not much.

"One day he was out of money for lunch when he was looking for work, and I was soft enough to lend him a few dollars. He objected to taking it at first, but finally did. Well, next time he didn't wait for me to offer it, but asked me if I couldn't let him have five more, which I did.

NOT REPAID

"He got a job about that time, but he never offered to give me back what I had loaned him, although he was getting a fairly good salary. Well, time went on, and I was a little short of cash, so I told him I would surely appreciate it if he would pay me back what I had let him have—or part of it at least.

"But did he do it? Or thank me for having helped him when he was broke? He did not. He just sat there and told me I was a 'pretty poor sport' to ask for it! Can you imagine that?

"I wonder if he would have said the same things to a man who asked him to pay back a loan? I doubt it!

"Anyhow, he never has paid back that money, to this day. And naturally my opinion of him, and of men in general, hasn't been raised any!

"A friend of mine had the same experience, except that she was even worse bitten than I, having helped more.

"All this has set me thinking and I've come to the conclusion that while it may be safe, some day, for a woman to help a man as another man would, it isn't safe yet.

"I think the reason probably is that for centuries men have been trained to think they should take care of women, and that there is something low about accepting help from one. They haven't got used to the idea that women are people, with the privilege of working and doing business just as they are.

BAD EFFECT

"It may be unconscious on their part, but I think taking help from a woman does something to them. It either makes them look at her as just another 'sucker' to be bilked, or—well, it takes something away from their self-respect. It makes bums of them. If there is any hidden weakness in them, any tendency to take advantage of an easy mark, having her step out of her traditional position as the one cared for brings it out.

"So, my idea is that we should let them struggle along alone, so far as money is concerned, because they haven't yet got used to a manly give-and-take with women. NETTIE."

Well, how about it, boys? Do you think a woman is just another "sucker" if she helps you? Does her help make a cheap "confidence man" out of you? Or can you shoulder a responsibility to a woman, just as you could to another man?

If not, why not?

Success Sometimes Grows as Hard to Bear as Failure, Says Fay King

"Tired of it all!"

Who of us have not had those moments? But they pass—except for the unfortunate few who "end it all" at such a time.

That is why we read of suicides who seemed to have so much to live for, while others struggle bravely on with so little.

Tired of it all!

It can mean the endless social whirl of dressing and dining and dancing, as well as leaping up with the early alarm to rush down to the counter or office routine.

It can mean that success sometimes grows as hard to bear as failure.

That glamour as well as grind can become wearisome.

But in most cases interest or courage revive quickly and we carry on!

Continuation of Love's Reawakening

By ADELE GARRISON

Madge Becomes Absorbed in Her Task on Play

Lillian was suddenly thoughtful as Katherine said that she "begged to differ and all the rest of it" from Lillian's opinion that we were safe from interruption for the rest of the night.

"You're probably right at that," she said after a second. "Some one of the household still up, most probably Dicky, is going to blunder in here and create more havoc than any china shop bull ever serving as a proverb. But what's the answer?"

"A very simple one," Katherine retorted. "Madge doesn't need me to help her read this play. She knows every role forward and backward. All you wanted of me was to 'lend an air of versimilitude' to the thing. But I'm a lot better in watching at the keyhole than I am in lending an air. So if you don't mind, I'll do patrol duty outside until everybody in the house is sound asleep. Then I'll brew some hot black coffee, and breeze into the session, if you'll promise, Madge, not to lose the thread of your thinking when you see me. Otherwise I'll let you starve to death, both of you."

"You couldn't disturb me—or anybody—" I told her fervently and truthfully, for my little kinswoman's tactfulness and efficiency are put in the super class by her talent in effacing herself.

"Gramercy for the gateau," she laughed. "How about it, Lil? Will you let me off?"

"Of course," Lillian's tone was crisp. "The one essential here tonight is that we be free from interruption. Take our blessing with you, Katrina, and—beat it."

"I'm already gone." The little nurse opened the door as she spoke, and passed out. As the door closed behind her, Lillian picked up the carbon copy of the first two acts.

"Did Dicky get the man he planned to have make a new copy of the original for Phil?" she asked casually.

"Yes. He's to have the copy back in the morning," I returned. "And, now, I'm through with the stage fright, and ready to go on with the show, if you are."

For answer she zipped back the curtains drawn across the front of the miniature stage.

"Get going!" she ordered. "What's the first stage direction? 'At curtain rising, Cuthbert discovered standing on his head in the corner?'"

"Not quite," I said, laughing at her nonsense and feeling that the tension of my nerves was lessening. "But if you'll stand 'Cuthbert' on his feet at the door R., holding it open and apparently talking to some one outside, I'll read the lines."

"All right, 'Cuthbert' come to Mamma," she said, giving to the mannequin the name which in desperation of invention I had used when beginning the play, and to which I still clung, although I had substituted a more natural cognomen in my copy. She put him in the place I had designated, and I plunged into the reading of the first act. At first, Lillian placed the tiny doll actors in their positions, but as gradually, I forgot myself and became absorbed in the lines and business, she left their manipulation to me, and simply attended to the curtain and the disposal of the dolls after I had moved them off the stage to the wings.

Katherine had been correct in saying that I knew every comma of the lines I had written, and I left the carbon copy to Lillian while I went through the dialogue and stage directions from memory. Thus it was that I became so absorbed in my work that when Lillian sent down the curtain at the end of the second act, I set into place the doll actors whom I had mentally designated for the third act, and almost subconsciously, struck into the dialogue. It was not until several minutes later when I paused in search of a word which was eluding me, that I realized what had happened, and I stopped short, my eyes wide open with amazement.

"I've begun the third act!" I said, still wondering if I were awake or dreaming.

"I'll tell Philip Veritzen and all his deceased wife's relatives that you have," she retorted. "Look at Exhibit A if you don't believe it!"

She held up a small notebook which she had kept successfully hidden before, and I saw that its pages were covered with shorthand characters.

"You've done 300 words of your 6,000," she said, "and you have the thing by the tail. All you have to do now is to keep on swinging."

OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

Avoid Hair Splitting

A few teachers and some players have appeared disturbed because they have noted that members of The Advisory Council vary in their methods of valuing hands. The facts that follow will show how trivial a matter this is.

The most famous methods of valuing hands commonly are known as the Whitfeld, the Bergholt, the Robertson, the the Beasley, the 4-3-2-1, the High Card and Low Card System, the Short Cut (that I already have explained in detail in earlier articles) and Absolute Values. The latter are only average values, although accurate to the nearest thousandth of a trick when considering all hands possible to deal.

The other systems of valuation named are approximations to absolute values, from which not one of them averages to vary more than one-tenth of a trick. Provided both partners calculate the values of their hands in probable tricks, what possible difference can it make which method either partner employs?

One of the first things agreed upon by the body of experts adopting The Official System was that no member should be asked to change his method of valuing hands. Those in charge of publishing The Official System handbook for players not already wedded to the particular methods and valuations advocated by some special authority, produced an admirable general treatise on the game, employing what they deemed at the moment the method of hand valuation best adapted for general purposes. Whether players follow that particular method or some other method is of no real consequence. Any standard method will give results sufficiently accurate for all practical purposes. My own personal experience and that of my teachers indicates that the Short-Cut System, which has appeared since the Official Handbook was written, is the most simple to teach, and use, but that is a matter of personal opinion.

Usually advanced teachers understand the salient features of several popular systems of valuation. If a client knows one method, it rarely pays to offer a substitute. Where a client has no method of valuing hands the teacher should recommend the method seemingly most suitable for the client's needs (most simple, most precise, or most popular locally).

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Good Manners

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I am a foreigner but married an American and, consequently, do not know the American customs as I should.

A member of our family is going to make her debut this winter and I should like to know whether it would be proper for us (my husband and myself) to give her a present and when should we give it?

Should we also send flowers the night of the debut? M.

Not many people give special gifts to a debutante... sometimes members of the family and perhaps her very intimate friends... and this is not at all taken for granted.

But it is customary to send flowers for the debut. They are used to "background" the "bud."

Asking in Friends of Friends

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

If a friend of mine calls and leaves a friend of hers outside in the car, should I ask her to ask her friend in, or should I go out and ask the friend in?

READER.

I think that it would be hospitable for you to do both. That is, ask your friend if her friend will come in, and suggest that you and she go out together to invite her to come in.

How to Keep Well

Heat Useful in Relieving Severe Pains of Sciatica

Sciatia is a common complaint, yet its true nature may be overlooked. Frequently it is confused with other ailments. The name is applied to the symptoms caused by an irritation or inflammation of the sciatic nerve.

Dr. Copeland

This nerve looks like a flat ribbon. It passes down the back of the hip, into the thigh and divides behind the knee joint into two branches. These reach to the sole of the foot.

The sciatic nerve is the largest nerve in the body. It is about three quarters of an inch in width, big enough to cause a lot of trouble when disturbed.

It is subject to inflammations. These are caused by many conditions, but are most commonly traced to rheumatism, diabetes and tuberculosis, and rarely to the pressure of a tumor within an area close to the nerve.

Another uncomfortable ailment is lumbago. An attack of this may be followed by sciatica. The pain never spreads to the front, but is always behind the thigh. It is quite severe and more or less constant.

The pain of sciatica increases on walking and particularly when stepping forward. It rarely occurs in both legs, usually affecting one side only.

The condition is confused with other ailments. For instance, it is quite possible to regard the symptoms as indicating sciatica when in reality they come from trouble in the hip joint. In early cases of arthritis, which is an inflammation of one of the joints, particularly if it attacks the hip, the pain may be transmitted down the back of the leg and act like sciatica. But in arthritis, if the leg is bent and pressure is placed on the hip joint, the pain is increased.

In sciatica, if the leg is lifted up from the bed without permitting the knee to bend, pain is produced. This is a helpful sign in recognizing the true condition.

It is wise to have an X-ray picture taken in every case of suspected sciatica. In this way it is possible to determine definitely whether there is any change or deformity of the hip, or trouble in the joints of the back.

During the acute stages of the disease it is important that the patient be put to bed. Very often relief can be given if a small pillow is placed under and between the knees. It may be necessary to give medicine so that the pain may be reduced and sleep obtained.

Next in importance in the treatment of this condition is heat. This may be applied in many ways. Mustard plasters, hot water or one of the various lamps, which are now so common, may be tried in these cases. Where diathermy, or electrical heat is available, great benefits can be obtained.

After the acute stages have passed, gentle massage may be started. The massage should never be given during the acute stages, or when acute pain is present. The massages may be increased as the leg becomes stronger.

Sciatica occurs most frequently after exposure to cold or dampness. Those who are particularly susceptible to rheumatism and other inflammatory conditions, should avoid exposure.

In addition, I advise that the teeth, tonsils, nasal sinuses and the intestinal tract be given attention as possible sources of infection. Many cases of sciatica have disappeared after the removal of infected teeth and tonsils. But first make sure they are actually diseased.

What $16,000 buys in The American Weekly

A full page in color more than twice the size of any other magazine page in the world . . . 5,500,000 families at a cost of less than ⅓ cent per family . . . The attention of the entire family instead of a single buying factor.

Hard-going 1931 has been torn off the calendar. Now for 1932!

If we believe the pessimists, American Business may as well shut up shop and go fishing.

If we believe the optimists, making quota will be as easy as falling off a log.

But if experience is any great shakes of a teacher, it's safer to predict that the new year will treat most generously those businesses which ignore all prophets and go out, hammer-and-tongs after sales.

Tradition is a good coaster, but it takes real horsepower to pull a sled uphill.

That the right amount of horsepower for times like these is generated by The American Weekly is demonstrated by the steadily increasing use of this publication by the country's leading advertisers.

While every other national weekly lost advertising linage in 1931, this Mighty Magazine set a new high record for all time.

And now as we face the new year, there is every reason to believe 1932 will be another banner 12 months for The American Weekly.

Advertisers who want to increase their sales during 1932 will be interested in knowing why.

When the going is hard, publication values must be analyzed and every dollar spent must count. Astute advertisers place their copy where it will be seen by the most buyers at the lowest cost per buyer.

And The American Weekly offers the most economical national coverage possible to buy.

For $16,000 a page, less than ⅓ cent per family, this magazine reaches 5,500,000 homes in the most prosperous buying areas of the nation.

That page, in four colors, is more than twice as big as any other magazine page, giving the advertiser plenty of space to tell his story with detail and drama.

Editorially, The American Weekly appeals to every member of the family. That means its advertising is seen by more than one member in every home it enters.

Do you wonder now why this magazine continues to forge ahead at a time when all other weekly magazines are headed the other way?

Circulation Supremacy

The American Weekly dominates the urban markets by concentrating 70% of its total circulation in 578 of America's 997 towns and cities of 10,000 population and over. (1930 U. S. census figures.)

In each of 152 cities, it reaches one out of every two families

In 108 more cities, 40 to 50% of the families

In an additional 146 cities, 30 to 40%

In another 172 cities, 20 to 30%

. . . and, in addition, more than 1,700,000 families in thousands of other communities, large and small, regularly buy The American Weekly.

Where can you spend your advertising dollar more effectively in 1932?

BIG NAVY HELD PARLEY POWER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The bargaining power that authorization for 120 new warships would give the United States at the Geneva Arms Conference was emphasized today before the House Naval Committee by Admiral William V. Pratt.

Representative Darrow (Rep.), of Pennsylvania, brought that point to the fore when he questioned the chief of naval operations on the pending Vinson bill which would authorize appropriation of $616,250,000 to bring the Navy up to treaty limits in 10 years.

Pratt asserted that "at the Washington conference we had great power to swing naval negotiations like we chose." Pratt was an advisor to the American delegation at the London Naval Conference.

HEIRESS' TRIAL AIRS ROMANCE

FLINT, Mich., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Efforts Helen Joy Morgan's mother made to break up her attachment for Leslie Casteel, a garage mechanic, were described today by a policewoman at Miss Morgan's trial for slaying her sweetheart.

Mrs. Lillian Ordway, member of the Flint police department, testified that Miss Morgan's mother had summoned her to the Morgan home and asked that her daughter and Casteel be followed. She said that when she called at the Morgan home, Mrs. Carrie P. Morgan, the mother, showed her some letters addressed to Casteel which she said she had purchased. The names of the writers of the letters were not disclosed.

Miss Morgan, Mrs. Ordway testified, told her prior to the shooting of Casteel:

"I love Leslie and I won't give him up, even for my mother."

Ohio Election Judges Give Bond for Trial

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Jan. 11.—Charles Fraser and Albert Poulks, Republican election judges, were released on $500 bail today after being indicted by the Columbiana County grand jury on charges of election law violations. They are charged with returning Edward S. Poulks victor over Frank M. Fisher, in the St. Clair Township trustee race last November. A recount showed Fisher a winner by 87 votes.

Racketeers Accused Of Fraud on Aliens

Quick Relief—or Don't Pay

So varied are the forms of rheumatism, no one remedy can aid them all. But in thousands of cases where other preparations failed, Eade's Pills have been eminently successful. Quick, safe relief from pain is now assured by this famous English formula—or no cost.

Specialists Prescribe Eade's English Pills

In England, where gout and rheumatism are extremely common, and probably more painful due to the damp climate, Eade's Pills are famous. In fact all over the civilized world are specialists who prescribe Eade's. These doctors are enthusiastic in their praise of this pure prescription.

The famous London chemists, George Eade, Ltd., must have amazing confidence in their pills if they make the above generous guarantee of positive relief. Certainly you can hardly refuse their honest offer. By all means, tear out this clipping and hand it to any druggist in town for a full sized package of Eade's English Pills. 'ALL STARS' ANNOUNCED :-: Seven of 11 'Players' Chosen Here Rate National Team :-: BERNIE CAPTAIN

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Radio Editor

SEVEN OF THE 11 orchestra leaders chosen by readers of "We Now Present" as candidates for the all-America Radio Dance Orchestra have "placed" on the national team, it was announced today by Frank Burke, director of press relations for the Music Corporation of America . . . Ben Bernie, picked as captain by Pittsburghers, was given this honor in the national poll . . . Those on the Pittsburgh team who gained places on the "national musical gridiron" were Ben Bernie, Guy Lombardo, Coon-Sanders, Vincent Lopez, Ted Weems, Wayne King and Paul Whiteman . . . We congratulate our readers on their fine wisdom . . . The "team" submitted to MCA as the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph bid for national honors contained more names finally chosen than any other "lineup" . . . Again, congratulations

Darrell V. Martin

The Two Teams

Here's the All-America Radio Dance Orchestra team based on the individual popularity of each "player" as recorded in the national poll:

Ted Weems	Center
Gus Arnheim	Right guard
Fred Waring	Right tackle
Rudy Vallee	Right end
Guy Lombardo	Quarterback
Wayne King	Right halfback
Paul Whiteman	Fullback

And here's the way Sun-Telegraph radio readers picked 'em:

Paul Whiteman	Center
Vincent Lopez	Right Guard
Coon or Sanders	Right tackle
Jack Denny	Right end
Ben Bernie (C)	Quarterback
Don Bestor	Left halfback
Jimmy Joy	Right halfback

'Model Studio'

THE KOPPERS BUILDING may have a radio studio after all . . . A model studio, 15 by 25 feet, perfectly designed and containing the ultra in fine equipment is being considered by the Electric League of Pittsburgh as part of its public exhibit on the fourth floor . . . Visitors would be welcomed to the model studio and three or four programs would originate there daily . . . The studio would be supplemented with a miniature reception room and control room, all built to scale from the standard size rooms in the Radio City now under construction in New York . . . The idea was suggested to the Electric League by WCAE and architects are working with the rental managers on a proposed plan to have the studio open to the public by June 15.

* * *

Studio Lights

When Seth Parker's troupe stops over in New Castle the latter part of this month for a public appearance, the chances are that WCAE will relay his Sunday broadcast to New York . . .

Real Folks made their Columbia debut yesterday in a halo of glory . . . George Frame Brown knows his radio audience . . .

Lily Pons' voice was smooth as cellophane in "Caro Nome" . . .

We never knew until we heard it on the radio last night that Geoffrey O'Hara, composer of the war-time tune, "K-K-Katy," was also a composer of hymns.

Don Bestor made his network debut today, playing over the blue chain of NBC via KDKA . . . A coincident that he should succeed another orchestra leader by almost the same name, Don Pedro . . .

Gene and Glenn gave Don a big send-off on his new song, "It's Always Raining on Me," on the red network this a. m.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Ulrich, of Pittsburgh, celebrating their sixtieth wedding anniversary, were congratulated by "Cheerio." . . .

Vicki Baum, author of "Grand Hotel," is to speak from Berlin over Columbia and WJAS next Sunday at 12:30 on "My Impressions of America" . . .

"Ward" Wilson, impersonator of famous radio voices, does a mimic of Norman Brokenshire on WJZ, WLW, WMAQ and WHAS at 6:30 tonight . . .

Ben Bernie plays on WBBM, WABC at midnight . . . and, lest we forget, the producers of "Fresh milk from contented cows" moo for the first time on WJZ, WJR, KYW, WHAS, WRVA and WSB at 8 o'clock, by special permission of the copyright owners.

Tony Wons is accused often of being "The Shadow" on Columbia, but we have it from Hachmeister-Lind in McKees Rocks, sponsor of the program, that he is Frank Readick, a New York actor . . .

To chime or not to chime—that is the question . . . NBC dropped the chimes for a little while yesterday to obtain your reaction.

THE LOUDSPEAKER

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Radio is now offering direct Broadway competition of big-time vaudeville. Radio is often called by the careless "a glorified vaudeville show" (in reality it is much more than that), but we never thought we'd see the day when the broadcasting barons, so closely allied in business with the vaudeville powers, would permit their stars to engage in box office rivalry.

Such broadcasting headliners as Phil Cook, Lowell Thomas, the Landt Trio are to play the Hollywood Theater for an indefinite run under the billing, "Radio Personalities." The name of Arthur Klein appears as producer . . . It was Klein who was in charge of the Shuberts' vaudeville gesture a few years back . . . We don't suppose the radio companies will have a share in the receipts. Yet, they don't miss many bets . . . Right now they're counting shekels received from booking their artists in small town theaters—and big town theaters, too—in conjunction with talking pictures.

Radio has snared the president of the provisional republic of Korea. It long ago snared the rulers of the permanent republic of Chorea (high hat for St. Vitus dance). And St. Vitus has long been the nationalistic symbol of jazz . . . There, that's done. Please excuse . . . Of all the national audition winners only one, Carol Deis, has successfully stormed the operatic gates. She recently made her debut with the Philadelphia Opera Company . . . Sylvia Froos is the latest so-called personality singer to sign the radio dotted lines. Just what is a personality singer?

A plan for better "Control-of-Colds" perfected by VICKS

[. . . Further reduces the Family "Colds-Tax" in Money, Lost Time and Health]

The makers of Vicks VapoRub have perfected a plan for better "Control-of-Colds" in the home. The Plan is made possible by the new Vicks Nose & Throat Drops. Based on a new idea in preventing colds, this new preparation is a companion product to Vicks VapoRub, the modern, external way of treating colds. The two aid and supplement each other.

HERE, BRIEFLY, IS THE VICK PLAN:

1. BEFORE a Cold Starts—

At that first sneezy, scratchy irritation of the nose or upper throat—Nature's warning that you are "catching cold"—use Vicks Nose Drops promptly as directed. If you catch cold easily, use a few Nose Drops up each nostril after exposure to any particular condition that you know is apt to give you a cold—for instance, a night on a Pullman—a dusty automobile ride—sudden changes, wet or cold—after over-smoking—dry, over-heated rooms—indoor crowds—etc., etc.—and you feel the slightest stuffiness of the nasal passages.

2. AFTER a Cold Starts—

At night, massage the throat and chest well with Vicks VapoRub. Spread on thick and cover with warm flannel. Leave the bed-clothing loose around the neck so that the medicated vapors arising can be inhaled all night long. During the day—any time, any place—use Vicks Drops as needed for ease and comfort. (If there is a cough, you will like the new Vicks Cough Drops—actually medicated with ingredients of Vicks VapoRub.) This gives you full 24-hour treatment and without the risks of too much internal "dosing."

TRIAL Offer by Local Druggists

You have Vicks VapoRub—now get Vicks Nose Drops and use together as directed in the Vick Plan for better "Control-of-Colds"—to reduce their number and severity. Unless you are delighted with results, your druggist is authorized to refund your money.

RENTS OF BUHL HOMES DECIDED

Rents ranging from $54 to $79 a month will govern in the 125 homes of Chatham Village, to be opened in May by the Buhl Foundation, it was announced yesterday. No homes are yet open for inspection, the Foundation said, but in about two weeks 29 will be thrown open to visitors.

Each home has its own basement and first and second floors. Houses are of five, six and seven rooms, with two or three bedrooms. Five-room houses, predominant in number, will rent for $54 to $67.50 a month; six-room houses at $61 to $79, and seven, from $67.50 to $78. Those with higher rentals generally include built-in garage, large sunroom or additional features.

Each house is to be of the same quality of construction and finish, hardwood floors, tiled bathrooms, built-in tubs and showers, each equipped with copper piping and chromium fittings. Kitchens will be the most modern in America, it is asserted.

Although each house will have its own lawn, front and rear, Chatham Village is a garden type development in which the large central areas will be permanently maintained by the owners.

STUDENTS URGE PEACE MOVES

Opposition to compulsory military training in colleges was voiced by delegates from 10 colleges of Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia at closing sessions yesterday of the Intercollegiate Model Disarmament Conference in Heinz House, University of Pittsburgh.

The conference adopted eight resolutions which will be forwarded to President Hoover and the United States delegates to the Geneva disarmament meet. The other resolutions opposed the maintenance of camps for military training of citizens and advocated that the United States adopt budgetary limitation as a policy; that the United States accept the poison gas protocol; that the United States abolish battleships and submarines; that it submit to regulation of civil aircraft as provided in the draft convention, and that the United States take the initiative in urging at least a 50 per cent reduction of all armaments.

The conference also advocated that the United States should take the initiative in revising the peace treaties and especially the war-guilt clauses.

CITY FAVORED AS 'SAFEST'

Pittsburgh, with its accident prevention program already launched, is one of the favored for the title "Safest City of 1932," the Better Traffic Committee announced today following word received from the National Safety Council, sponsors of the contest.

Judging for the "safest city" award will be based on accident record, accident reporting, traffic engineering, traffic law enforcement, child safety, public education and community safety education. Sixty-five cities in 27 states have officially entered the contest.

Train Wrecker Admits Robbing Pittsburghers' Homes

THREE MEN KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS IN DISTRICT

TRAIN WRECKER ACCUSED IN ROBBERIES

Confesses Looting Homes Of Pittsburghers, Police Say; Charge Pondered

By DAVID ROSENTHAL
Staff Correspondent.

EBENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 11.—District Attorney W. Lloyd Hibbs of Cambria County was to be consulted today by state and Pennsylvania Railroad police officials as to the charge to be placed against Luther Mazur, 16, of Cresson Shaft, who Saturday confessed responsibility for a freight train wreck December 10, when 76 coal cars were derailed and Matthew Allison, a brakeman, was killed near Bennington Curve, near Gallitzin.

Railroad officials placed damage in the wreck at $350,000.

The boy, one of 11 children, was arrested by state police Thursday in connection with robberies at three summer homes near Cresson, two of them owned by Pittsburghers, H. S. Edwards, 6545 Darlington road, and W. J. McArdle, of 4716 Ellsworth avenue. Police said they recovered several hundred dollars' worth of merchandise in the boy's home, barns and dugouts after he confessed the burglaries.

Questioned further, Mazur, according to the police, admitted causing the train wreck. He said he turned the angle cock near the front of the coal train. This is a safety device which controls the airbrakes on the cars. When one is closed all airbrakes on the cars following are cut off.

Mazur also has confessed, police say, that he closed the angle cocks on at least two other trains during the last month. Capt. F. M. Butcher, Pittsburgh Division, Pennsylvania Railroad police, is assisting Sergt. John V. Buckley, in charge of the Ebensburg state police barracks, in the investigation.

POLICE CHIEF'S BROTHER SHOT

With a bullet wound near his heart, Fred George, 23, brother of the newly-appointed Glassport police chief, was in a critical condition today in McKeesport Hospital.

George told County Detective James Reddington that he was shot during a gun battle with a prowler near the George home in Ohio street, Glassport.

Reddington said George told him he saw a prowler in an alley near the house and, armed with a revolver, he started into the alley to question the man. The prowler fired at him and he returned the fire, it was said. George's gun, with five empty shells in it, was found in the alley.

JOHN H. HARRIS MRS. JOHN P. HARRIS A. K. ROWSWELL

Mr. Harris, the Pittsburgh theater chief, pictured at the "bachelor" banquet friends and associates gave for him at Hotel William Penn as he prepared to leave for the coast to be married to Actress Lucille Williams. The committee had Miss Williams telephone him, broadcast the conversation through loud speakers. Mrs. Harris here welcomes her new daughter-in-law.

BACHELOR FETE FOR HARRIS

John H. Harris, district manager of the Warner Theater interests here, who plans to "middle aisle it" with Lucille Williams, Radio-Keith-Orpheum Company star, in Hollywood, January 22, was given a farewell bachelor dinner by friends last night in the William Penn Hotel.

High point of the program came when Miss Williams, by telephone from Hollywood, talked to Harris and his mother, Mrs. John P. Harris. The betrothed pair was presented with a chest of silver while Miss Williams listened on the telephone, by Rosey Rowswell, master of ceremonies. Harris and his bride will leave for Honolulu after the ceremony for a honeymoon.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

PENANG, Jan. 11.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Since the big epochal gastronomical meeting of Democrats nobody knows what Al and Franklin D. Roosevelt has been saying to each other. But it's about like this:

Will Rogers

"Listen, Al, give me a chance. I been nominating you for years, now you do the nominating, and let me do the running, won't you? Come on, Al, be a good fellow.

"Now, Frank, just give me one more crack at 'em. Then if I don't do anything why you can have 'em. I had tough luck last time. Hoover was hot. But he has cooled down now, and I believe it's my year. So just give the old boy one more crack at 'em, won't you, Frank, that's a good fellow."

Yours, WILL.

'Bad Girl' Star Not Looking For Dream Girl

James Dunn, of "Bad Girl" fame, who is appearing in a Pittsburgh theater this week, is not looking for a dream girl. He said:

"I'm not looking for any particular type of girl. When I like people it's regardless of what they look like, fat or thin, tall or short. I suppose some day I'll meet somebody who clicks with me and it'll happen just like that."

He snapped his fingers and laughed, then grew serious, leaning chin on hand on the arm of his chair:

"Pittsburgh girls are very pretty. They have such small ankles and feet. I wonder how they keep their complexions so good in this atmosphere?"

Dunn said he dropped $10,000 in the stock market in half an hour, and went hungry the first three days in California. It taught him a lesson. After attending New Rochelle High School and spending three months in a prep school he played in stock, sold automobiles and lunchwagons and made shorts for Warner, until he made his hit in "Bad Girl."

'BACK TO FARM' MOVE URGED

A "back to the farm" move as a panacea for the "cityitis" that has seized the nation was suggested by A. C. McConnell, director of the department of employment and social activities of the Pittsburgh Association for the Improvement of the Poor, speaking in the Mt. Lebanon Baptist Church last night. He said:

"The great charity investments that we have made have accomplished no real good. There is a danger that they have been nothing more than a contribution to the mendicancy of the people instead of a real help."

He advocated appropriation of $1,000,000,000 by the federal government to provide each farmer with funds to erect "tenant houses" on the farms so that city families might return there and at least earn an existence.

RAIL ROBBERY GUN VICTIM RECOVERING

3 Thugs Threaten Women, Ransack House; Sneak Loots Salvation Army

Andrew Kopolka, 25, of 3126 Mary street, was recovering in St. Joseph's Hospital from a bullet wound inflicted by Homer W. Dove, Pennsylvania Railroad detective, who said he shot Kopolka during a struggle after surprising Kopolka and three other men breaking into a box car in the yards at South Thirty-third and Jane streets.

Three men forced their way into the home of Jennie Kaiser and Eleanor Dowd, 10 East Park way, and escaped with $32 after ransacking the house. The men threatened the women and ordered them not to move until they left.

A thief who smashed the window of the store of Samuel Schecter, furrier, of 223 Oliver avenue, escaped with a white fox fur valued at $100.

Victor Prince, of 161 Fortieth street, was robbed of $10, and a watch, while he was walking in Merchant street.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Paulin, of 3510 Louisa street, were held up in Sample street by two men who robbed them of $20.

George Swackhemer, taxi driver of 919 Nance way, was robbed of $8 by two passengers when he took them to Pitt Stadium.

Jewelery valued at $500 was stolen from the home of Mrs. Julia Bruzan, Forbes street, according to a detective report.

Sneak thieves took $40 from the office of the Salvation Army, 2827 Penn avenue.

A holdup man threatened Leo Moran, 1815 Howard street, with a revolver while he was walking in West Park, robbed him of $1 and escaped.

RADIO CARS CUT AUTO THEFTS

Police radio cars are credited with reducing the number of stolen automobiles in Pittsburgh by 20 per cent, compared with 1930.

Figures compiled by Lieut. Edward O'Rourke, of the motor division, show 3,894 automobiles stolen last year, of which 3,625 were recovered. Three hundred and eighty-three persons were arrested charged with theft of cars or articles in them. In 1930, 4,844 autos were stolen.

O'Rourke said:

"Thieves realize that radio cars with the license number of the stolen auto are likely to encounter them at any time."

The police radio broadcasting system has been in operation since May 11.

Mother Causes Hunt In N. Y. Booking Agencies

A mother's belief that her 17-year-old daughter was misled by ambitions to become a famous actress and ran away to New York has led the Missing Persons Bureau to institute an investigation of theatrical booking agencies and newly arrived artists' models in that city.

Mildred Alker, also known as Miss Lager, of 140 Rochelle street, Knoxville, disappeared December 13, the bureau was informed by her mother. On that day she was reported seen in the company of a New York traveling salesman in a hotel here.

Investigate Death Of Man From Rum

PRIEST'S RITES WEDNESDAY

Funeral services for the Rev. Joseph A. O'Donnell, 34, former Pittsburgher and assistant pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic Church, Franklin, who died Saturday in Philadelphia, will be held at St. Kieran's Catholic Church, here, Wednesday morning. Bishop J. M. Gannon, of the Erie diocese, today officiated at a pontifical mass in St. Patrick's Church, Franklin.

The body, to arrive tonight at the home of his mother, Mrs. Catherine O'Donnell, 5256 Carnegie avenue, will lie in state at the church from 4 p. m. tomorrow until 10 a. m. Wednesday.

Father O'Donnell was born here and was educated at St. Kieran's Parochial School, Duquesne University and St. Bonaventure College, Olean, N. Y. He was ordained July 15, 1923, at St. Bonaventure Seminary. Besides his mother, he leaves his brothers, Michael, Thomas, Peter, James, Charles and Leo O'Donnell, and two sisters, Mrs. J. M. Broderick and Mrs. Frank Snyder, all of Pittsburgh. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

2 BADLY HURT IN WEEKEND TRAFFIC TOLL

Crash Fatal For Carnegie Motorist; Runaway Truck Upsets, Injures Driver

Three men of Pittsburgh district were dead today of injuries received in automobile accidents over the weekend, according to reports received at the Coroner's office.

Harry S. Kraushaar, 26, of 538 Boquet street, Carnegie, died in South Side Hospital of injuries received when he lost control of his machine and it crashed into a lumber pile near Heidelberg.

James A. Perry, 32, Negro, of 429 Water street, died of injuries received when he was struck by a machine driven by John Kenzeiter, 20, messenger, of 52 Sharon avenue.

Frank Produlski, 53, of 51 South Nineteenth street, died of injuries received when he was jostled off a truck in which he was moving his furniture at Tenth and Sarah streets.

John Benson, 62, of 4433 Penn avenue, was in a serious condition in Allegheny General Hospital with a fracture of the skull received, police said, when he was struck by a machine driven by Anderson Sheppard, 19, of 531 Royal street, at Lacock and Federal streets.

Injured when he was pinned under his automobile on the Big Sewickley Creek road, Charles Bryan, 56, of 520 State street, Baden, was in a serious condition in the Valley Hospital at Sewickley today. Bryan's machine was parked on a hill and started to go backward. He tried to hold the machine, but it swerved to one side, climbed a small embankment, and then turned over with Bryan beneath it.

NAVY MAN AIRS VIEW OF CHINA

Inland Chinese haven't made any advancement in 5,000 years, according to Commander C. M. James, in Pittsburgh after two years in the Orient.

Commander James, who is to have charge of naval recruiting in Pittsburgh, added:

"Things of moment to the rest of the world are little known among the Chinese people a few miles from the sea. When you go beyond the bounds of a large city in China you see people doing things as they were done 5,000 years ago."

Commander James, Mrs. James and their three children, Ricker, 17; John, 16, and Marjorie, 9, are residing at 205 Hazel drive, Mt. Lebanon.

Democrats Don't Need to Imitate G. O. P. Mistakes

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Now that the Democrats have their victory dinner digested we've only one hunk of advice for them.

Don't come out for the reform ticket. Don't try to straighten out the mistakes of the Republicans when you can make new ones of your own.

Let the Republicans pull that reform administration stuff. They're the ones who need it.

The Democrats should get something new. You never saw a woman who would wear her rival's bent hairpins, did you?

The trouble with politicians is their inability to think up new talking points. They get their ideas like a man in a street car or the subway. Reading over the other guy's shoulder.

What the Democrats require is a new battle cry like "Give America Back to the Indians," or:

"More singing and less crooning." How about "An Eight-hour Day for the Panama Canal?"

Allow the Republicans to stick to prosperity, if they remember how to spell it, and the Democrats will win by default.

RAILROAD WAGE MEET THURSDAY

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Empowered by both parties to reach a binding decision, representatives of the railroads of the nation and their employes will gather around a common council table here this week to settle the vexing problem of wages for 1,250,000 workers.

Though the conference between the nine railroad presidents on the one hand and the Railway Labor Executives Association on the other does not open in plenary session until Thursday, the advance guard of brotherhood leaders began arriving today.

They brought with them freely mentioned offers of co-operation in the solution of other important railroad difficulties, but were close-mouthed regarding the all-important question of wage reductions.

Bethlehem Rail Plant to Resume

HARRISBURG, Jan. 11.—(INS)—The rolling mill and open hearth departments of the plant here of the Bethlehem Steel Company will resume operations this week, it was made known here today.

Rails to be made are part of an order from the Reading Company.

CHANGE FRAUD LAID TO WOMAN

Pittsburgh merchants were warned today by Inspector of Detectives Frank R. Boyd to beware of a smartly dressed woman who demands change for a $20 bill after tendering a $1 note in payment for merchandise.

Boyd was advised by Philadelphia police that the woman with a male accomplice is likely to appear here with the new racket.

The man presents a $20 bill and gets change. He is followed by the woman who tenders a $1 bill but asks change for $20. To identify the bill she says the bill has written on it the telephone number of her girl friend, the bill given by the man having been so inscribed.

The ruse has been worked on smaller merchants throughout the East, Boyd was informed.

Priest Assigned To East Pittsburgh

The Rev. William R. Slattery, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, Dawson, has been transferred to the pastorate of St. William's Catholic Church, East Pittsburgh, according to announcement here today. The transfer is effective January 21.

Third Main Break Floods Phila. Area

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The third serious city water main break in three days occurred today at Thirty-second and Dauphin streets when a large pipe burst with a heavy detonation and 10-foot geyser of water flooded four blocks.

The break happened while a force of men working in eight-hour shifts since Saturday afternoon repaired the damage caused by the bursting of a four-foot main under the city's busiest street four blocks from City Hall. The first of the three breaks occurred a few hours previously at Seventeenth and Locust streets.

8 HURT, PLANES CRASH ON FIELD

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(INS)—Roger Q. Williams, trans-Atlantic flier, and seven other persons, including a girl, today suffered from injuries received in a strange airplane accident when Williams' monoplane ran down a small sport plane as he taxied along Floyd Bennett Field, Brooklyn.

He had landed following a short sightseeing trip.

Peter Gattus, passenger in the smaller craft, was most seriously hurt, probably sustaining several broken ribs.

It was believed the blind spot of Williams' airplane, caused by the wide engine in the nose, screened the other plane from the pilot's view.

The large ship of Williams plowed through the tiny machine, demolishing it. Addison Spencely, 21, pilot of the wrecked plane, escaped with slight cuts and bruises.

ERIE PROTESTS PRISON COST

Claiming that 85 cents per day for maintenance of Erie County prisoners in the Allegheny County Workhouse is exorbitant, a protest has been filed by District Attorney M. E. Graham, of Erie County.

Superintendent Robert Braun of the workhouse today said he has not received the protest, and added Erie County could take its prisoners out if the officials did not care to pay the price.

Braun, appearing last week before the County Commissioners in budget session, was questioned by County Commissioner C. C. McGovern about the "boarding house." His reply to the Commissioner indicated that the county was able to take care of prisoners from nearby counties at a profit.

New Glass, Pottery On Display Here

7 FEARED DEAD IN MINE SAVED

BEUTHEN, Germany, Jan. 11.—(AP)—Given up for dead, seven of 14 miners entombed Monday when an earthquake shook tons of dirt into a coal pit were rescued yesterday and this tiny community was seized with hysterical joy.

Rescue workers, who have been on the job constantly for 144 hours, renewed their efforts to reach the others, who, it was hoped, still lived. The seven rescued yesterday were taken to a hospital for examination.

Touching scenes were witnessed when word was sent through the village that the rescue crew had heard knocking as they toiled to clear the broken galleries. Women who thought they were widows dragged their children to the mine while the men were brought to the surface.

CURB ON GRAPE BRICKS STUDIED

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(INS)—Through information obtained in the prosecution of a number of criminal actions against distributors of grape concentrate products, Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock, prohibition director, hopes to develop a basis for new regulations governing the sale of these commodities.

Woodcock said today that for the present the Prohibition Bureau is handling each individual case on its own merits without general ironclad instructions to agents.

Within the next 10 days Woodcock may be able to reach a decision as to whether more stringent regulations will be issued to curb the sale of concentrates.

One important point to be decided is whether the sale of non-alcoholic concentrates which through the process of nature become intoxicating wines, constitutes a prima facia case of law violation.

Fall in Faint Kills Woman in Home

Fainting in the bathroom of her home early yesterday, Mrs. Marjorie O'Donnell, 46, of 5108 Glenwood avenue, struck her head against the bathtub and suffered a fractured skull. She died a few hours later, according to morgue report.

Stricken Pastor Hears Services By 'Phone

Unable to attend installation services of Allegheny Council Troop No. 246 Boy Scouts of America, yesterday, the Rev. F. W. Crowe, pastor of the Gibsonia Presbyterian Church, Gibsonia, and chairman of the troop committee, heard the services at his bedside in his home by telephone. Mr. Crowe has been ill for six weeks.

A radio amplifier installed on the stage of the church auditorium brought the complete services to the pastor's home a mile away by telephone service. A loud speaker was at his bedside.

2 GO ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

Two murder trials began today before visiting judges. Nick Berkowich, 65, of Braddock Township, was placed on trial before Judge J. A. McLaughrey, of Mercer County, for the death of his son-in-law, Lawrence Blazina, 55, of 130 Montana avenue, shot to death August 21.

Max Springs, Negro, of Homestead, was placed on trial for the death of Jesse Burwell, Negro, of 318 Sixth avenue, Homestead, August 24, 1926. Springs escaped and only recently was arrested. Judge C. M. Culver, of Bradford, is presiding.

HUNT JOBLESS MARCHER

Cities and towns between here and Washington, D. C., today were aiding in the search for John Born, 50, of 2562 Fifth avenue, who has not yet returned from his trip to Washington with the jobless army of the Rev. James R. Cox.

Mr. Born

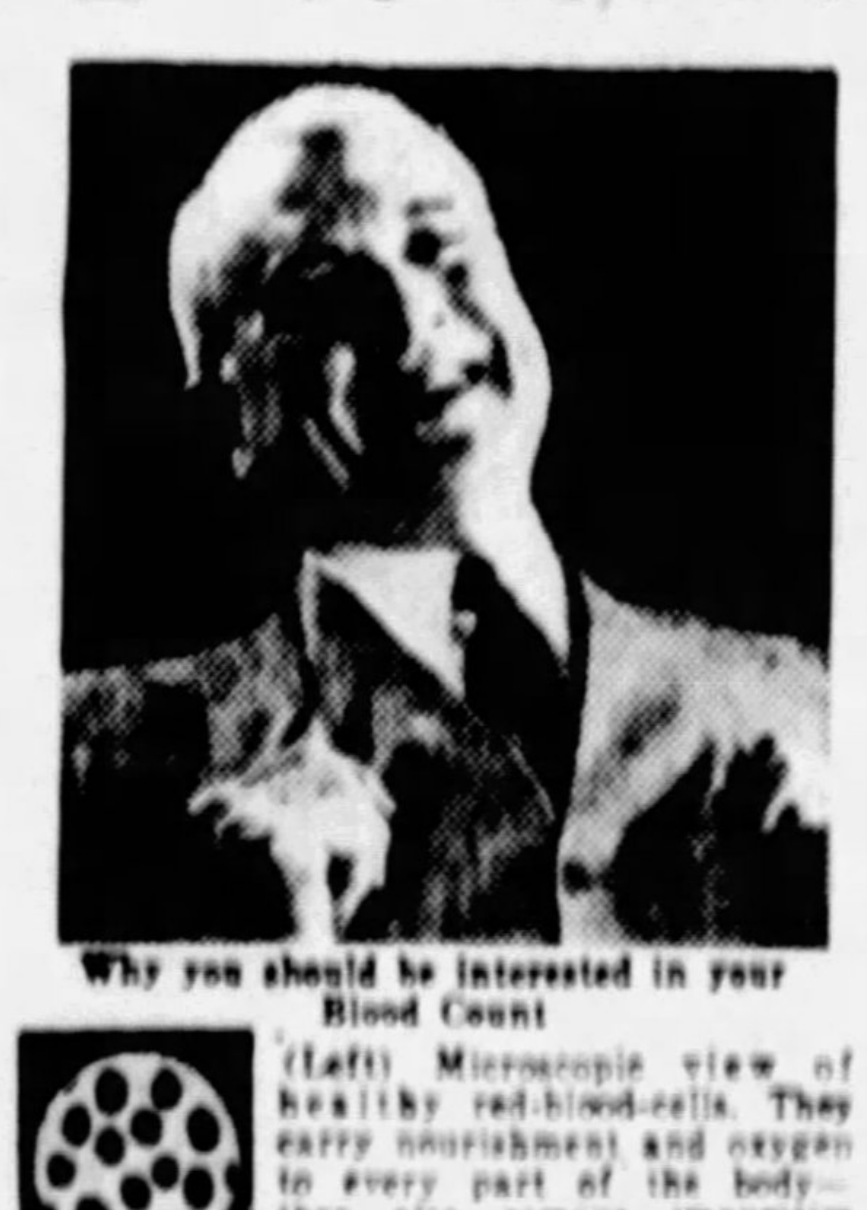
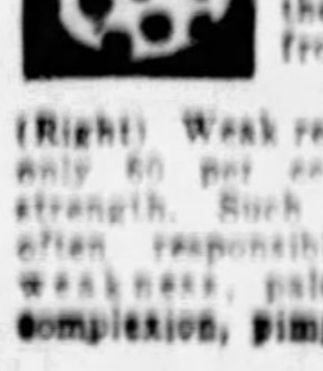
"I want to tell you—that red-blood cells are the very foundation of sturdy health"



Why you should be interested in your Blood Count



(Left) Microscopic view of healthy red-blood-cells. They carry nourishment and oxygen to every part of the body—they also remove impurities from the tissues.

(Right) Weak red-blood-cells—only 60 per cent of normal strength. Such a condition is often responsible for body weakness, paleness, sallow complexion, pimples and boils.

—worth knowing:

—let's pause a moment to give those vital red cells the consideration they deserve. They mean so much for better health and happiness.

It is not fair to expect one to like work or to enjoy play with a "lowered" blood count.

So often the reason is simple—that good body of ours has "run-down" under the strain of our way of living . . . pressure of work and worry.

If this is your trouble, why not take steps to overcome it—remembering that a "tired feeling" may be a warning . . . so are pimples, boils and paleness. A general run-down condition means a lack of normal resistance to infection and disease. A lagging appetite often leads to underweight and ill health.

You cannot be low in strength and be happy—let's be happy.

For generations S.S.S. as a tonic has been helping people gain New Strength, better health and happiness. Its successful record of over 100 years in restoring strength and vitality to the blood surely warrants your giving it a good trial.

Why not start taking S.S.S. today?—the larger size represents a price saving.

S.S.S.

HE DIDN'T HAVE TO WALK VERY FAR

Mr. Robert Galanti of the firm of R. Galanti & Bros., fine accordion makers, 71 Third Avenue, New York, is also a teacher of the piano accordion. When he got a cough not long ago, he didn't have to walk very far for relief. "I was on the subway one evening," he says, "and chanced to see a REM car-card. Having a cough and cold at the time, I stopped at the nearest drug-store and bought a bottle. I was astonished at the quick relief REM gave me. I had used other cough remedies without such good results." The "why" of REM's great record for relieving coughs is simple. It's a perfectly harmless, thoroughly scientific, different cough remedy! There's really nothing like it!

To get REM's results you've got to make sure it's REM! Insist on it!

CALL FOR NEW SESSION URGED ON GOVERNOR

Action Next Month Sought By Advisers; Lawmakers Favor None Before Primary

HARRISBURG, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Gov. Pinchot has not decided whether to call another extra session of the Legislature.

Reiterations from authoritative sources that the Governor plans to bring the Legislature into sordinary session again in March were countered over the weekend with the statement from the Governor's office that "no decision has been reached."

It was not denied, however, that the chief executive is considering such a course, and legislators and political leaders who have conferred with him since the last special session adjourned December 30, have been asked for their opinion on the advisability of calling another.

WOULD WAIT PRIMARY

The majority of the legislators are reported to have told the Governor they do not favor another special session before the primary election, on April 26, but the Governor's non-legislative advisers at the Capitol are understood to be urging him to reconvene the Legislature next month or early in March.

If the Governor decides to reconvene the Legislature it would be to consider unemployment relief and public utility legislation. He was keenly disappointed that the regular session of 1931 failed to make any major revisions in the public service company laws and also regards seriously the failure of the Legislature in the recent special session to adopt his $120,000,000 unemployment relief program.

The Governor faces the possibility of having an antagonistic Legislature if he calls another special session. This opposition may take the form of a recess until after the primary election to prevent it from interfering with the primary campaign activities of the legislators, many of whom will be candidates for re-election.

BOROUGH SESSION SET

On Thursday the Governor will have an opportunity to sound out sentiment of borough officials on the extra session question. Between 75 and 100 representatives of Pennsylvania boroughs will meet with him to discuss utility rates and to solicit his aid in obtaining desired reductions.

The meeting has been arranged by John M. Walker, Leechburg, assistant counsel to the Governor in utility matters. Since the close of the 1931 session of the Legislature, Walker has been touring the state to organize fair rate leagues.

The purpose of these leagues is to effect a reduction in utility rates and create sentiment in favor of changes in the present laws along the line proposed by the Governor in his gubernatorial campaign in 1930 and before the Legislature last year.

COURT SCORES RUM ALIBIS

Hugh Lyle, 35, of 4316 Penn avenue, was fined $200 and sentenced to five months in jail by Judge R. M. Gibson in Federal Court today following his plea of guilty more than a year ago to sale and possession of liquor.

Sentence was postponed at different times at request of Lyle, who came with stories of his wife's illness and other misfortunes in his home. The court remarked that it appeared Lyle was attempting to dodge the sentence by hiding behind his wife's skirts.

United States Attorney Louis D. Graham declared he learned that Lyle remarked the case would be "fixed," but Lyle denied this.

Girl Beaten, Fiance Jailed, Wedding Off

Wedding bells will not ring for Louis Milligan, 22, of 1114 Progress street, Saturday. Today he was sent to jail for 10 days on a disorderly conduct charge by Magistrate Ray E. Schneider.

Milligan called at the home of his intended bride, Anna Mutz, of 213 Warfield street, yesterday, and beat her, it was testified, because she had broken the engagement.

FATHER'S CHUM PLEA WINS CASH

When a young man dropped into the office of R. B. Townsend, treasurer of Fidelity Title and Trust Company, and represented himself as a son of a college classmate of Townsend, the treasurer was glad to cash his $25 check.

The young man explained he needed the money to get to Yale for examinations.

But in Central Police Court today he admitted he wasn't the son of R. D. Whitman, Townsend's college friend, but was C. R. Emidy, 23, of Harrisonburg, Va.

Emidy was held for court on a charge of false pretense. Detectives testified they believed he had been working this racket in various cities.

COLDS

When you realise that it is the "ultravirus" (cold germ) infection within the system that produces all the discomforts of a cold, common sense indicates that it must be destroyed and expelled from within.

Bromo Quinine tablets are not merely a relief measure for cold discomforts . . . they destroy the infection and eliminate the impurities from the system.

Take Bromo Quinine, the proved remedy for colds.

SLAYER BLAMES RUM, ENDS LIFE

PONTIAC, Mich., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—James Schacklady killed himself yesterday in the attic of the house where he shot his wife, Anna, 42, and James P. Breen, 53, to death late Friday night.

Oakland County officers had searched the countryside for Schacklady since a note was found in which he admitted the shootings. When he secreted himself in the house where the slayings occurred is not known.

Schacklady fired a rifle bullet into his brain as officers were starting another search of the house. Beside his body were found two notes, one of them indicating he was lying in wait to kill Charles Gerky, a relative by marriage, and John Sleglok, owner of the house. That note blamed the slaying of his wife and Breen on "bootleg hootch and a drunken woman."

Dravosburg Burial For Slain Suspect

Patricia Pitt's Sprightly Comment on Society Events

In Mayfair

—With—

Patricia Pitt

A coming event that will be popular with the Pittsburgh social set is another Stage and Play Society evening. The society, an organization of the 400 interested in the theater, will present "Pistol for One," by Carroll Fitzhugh, the president, on February 16 in the Twentieth Century Club. Several other one act plays will be presented that evening.

Carroll Fitzhugh will act in the play and direct it. Aiding him will be Mrs. Edward J. House and Mrs. Wilmer M. Jacoby.

Wedding Day Set

A few days ago I recall mentioning that Miss Ellen Rheutan, daughter of the Isaac Lewis Rheutans of Richmond, Va., was engaged to Joseph Hayes Girdler, son of the Tom Mercer Girdlers of Greystone Farm, Mentor, O., formerly of Sewickley.

I've just received word that the wedding will take place February 6 in the Rheutan home to be followed by a reception.

The bride-to-be attended Stuart Hall in Staunton, Va., and the Harcum School in Bryn Mawr. Her fiance is a graduate of Culver Military Academy and Lehigh University and is a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

Marrying Today

One of the most interesting weddings of the month will take place this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock in the Shields Presbyterian Church when Virginia Goldsbury, daughter of the Royal S. Goldsburys, becomes the bride of James O. Flower, son of Mrs. William S. Flower of the Schenley Apartments.

Mrs. Walter S. Hoyt, of New York, will be the matron of honor and Genevieve Bell will be maid of honor. Patricia Ritchey will be flower girl.

Serving as best man will be Matthew Stanley Quay, of Edgeworth, and Royal Putnam Goldsbury, Jr., brother of the bride, Charles L. Bell, William C. Robinson, Jr., William G. Miller, John L. Burnee of Hartford, Conn., George B. de Forest of New York, W. Gordon Furlong of Albany, Robert C. Lanphier, Jr., of Springfield, Ill., will be ushers.

Cruising To Indies

The Harold M. Gelmans, after stopping at the Hotel Delmonico, sailed Saturday for a three-week [illegible] to the West Indies aboard the Volendam. They will return early in February.

* * *

Dr. Thomas S. Baker, president of the Carnegie Institute of Technology, has been in New York, stopping at the Blackstone.

* * *

Recent visitors at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, have been Elizabeth Porter, Marjorie Mercer and her mother, Mrs. H. Fred Mercer, the John L. Porters, Elizabeth's parents, and the Harrison H. Thomases.

* * *

Of course you all know that today at 5:30 o'clock Virginia Goldsbury, daughter of the Ronald S. Goldsburys of Sewickley, becomes the bride of James O. Flower in the Presbyterian Church of Shields.

[illegible]

The church is decorated with [illegible] palms and lilies lighted by [illegible].

The Rev. Owen O'Dell, assisted by the Rev. William J. Hutchins, president of Berea College, Berea, Ky., is officiating.

The bride is wearing a princess gown of old ivory satin made simply with touches of old lace worn by her mother at her wedding at the neckline. Her long tulle veil cascades from a twisted strand of tulle caught with orange blossoms and she carries orchids.

Mrs. Walter S. Hoyt of Stamford, Conn., as matron of honor and Genevieve Bell of Oakdale as maid of honor are wearing similar gowns of blue crepe with peach crepe hats and they are carrying American Beauty roses. Patricia Ritchey, small niece of the bridegroom, is the flower girl wearing a blue chiffon frock.

Gowned In Brown

Mrs. Goldsbury has chosen a gown having the skirt of brown crepe Roma and bodice of bright blue with a hat of brown chenille and a shoulder spray of orchids. The bridegroom's mother is appearing in lipstick red crepe with touches of lace, a black hat and corsage of gardenias.

Matthew Stanley Quay is the best man and ushers include Royal Putnam Goldsbury, Jr., W. C. Robinson, Jr., Charles L. Bell and George B. DeForest of Pittsburgh, John L. Bruce of Hartford, Conn., William G. Miller of Tulsa, Okla., William G. A. Furlong of Albany, N. Y., and Robert C. Lauther, Jr., of Springfield, Ill.

There is a reception at the [illegible] Club after which the [illegible] will reside in Sewickley upon their return.

Kathryn Maier Becomes Bride of R. Edward Vero

Miss Kathryn Maier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Maier, of Wible Run road, Millvale, became the bride of R. Edward Vero, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vero of Millvale on Wednesday. Officiating was the Rev. Bruce Shaffer of the English Lutheran Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Vero left on a motor trip to Florida. After their return they will be at home in Millvale about February 1.

Sinclair Lewis Rests, Mum on New Novel

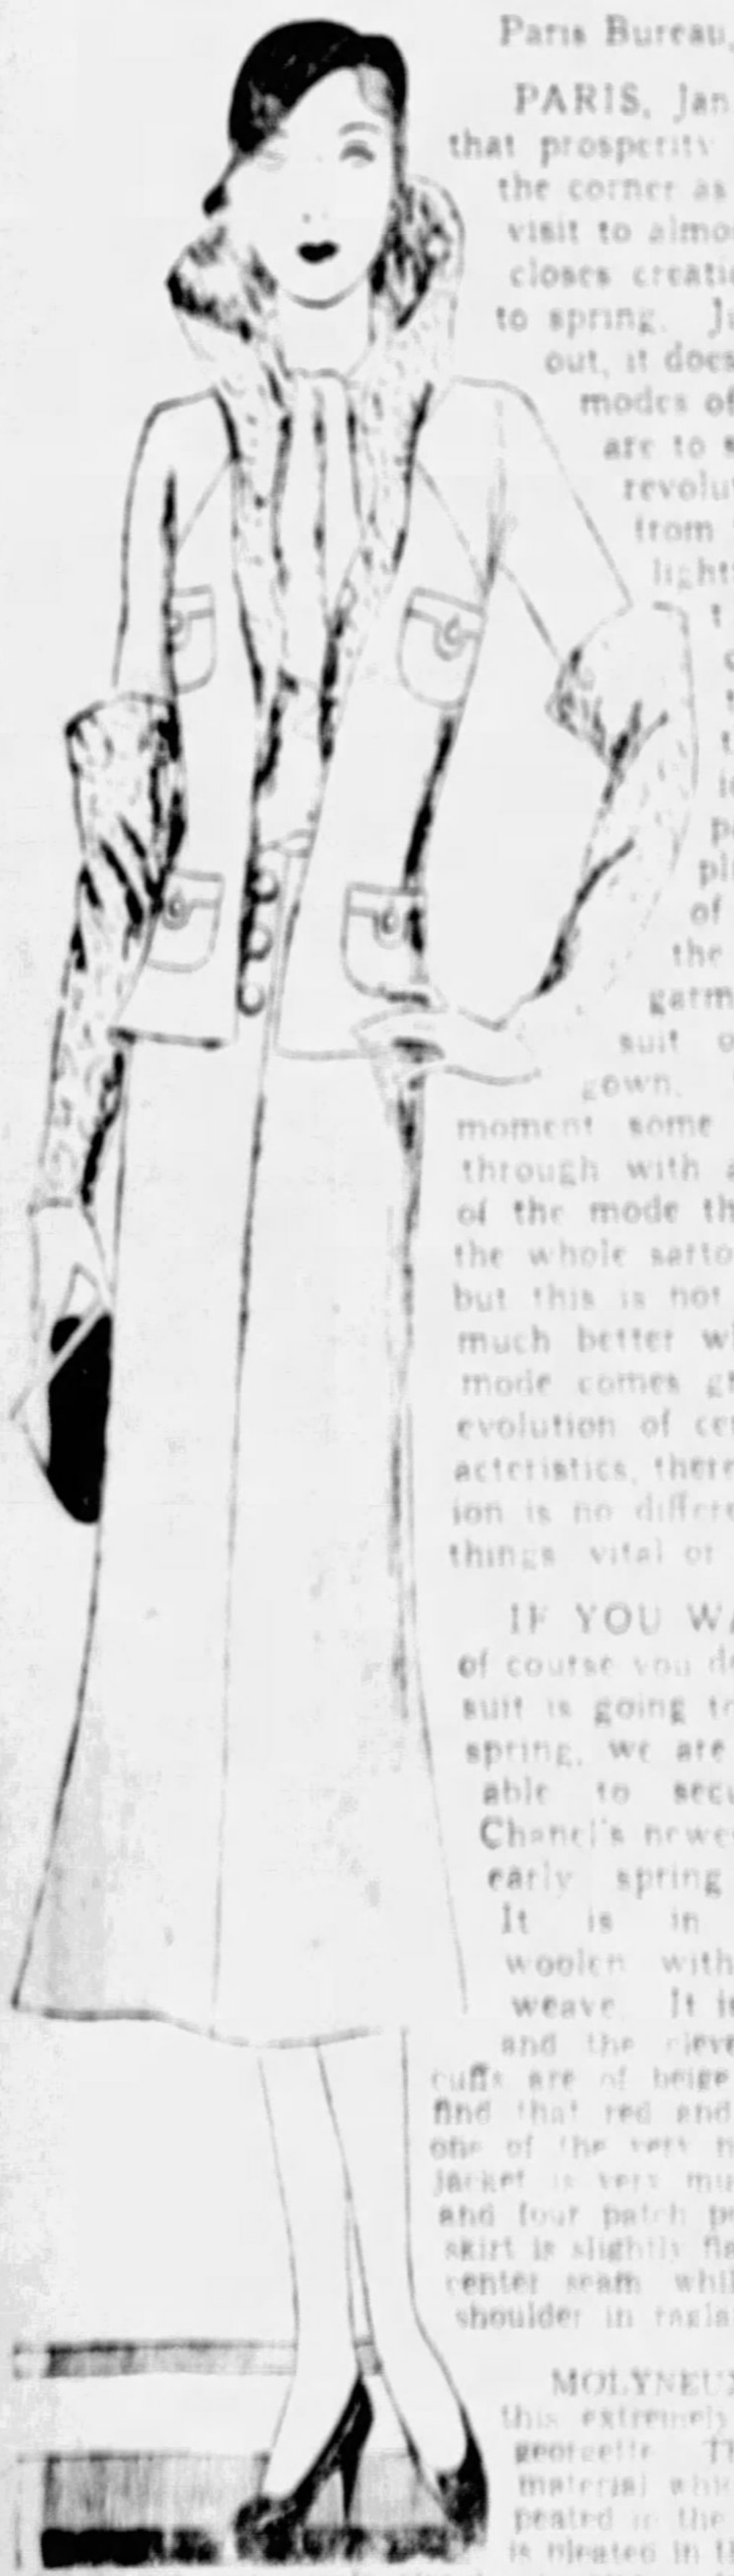
BARNARD, Vt., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The blanched silence of the snow-wrapped North is affording Sinclair Lewis the proper contrast to city bustle. He is resting here, weary from long hours spent on a new novel, as yet unnamed, and the theme of which he refuses to discuss.

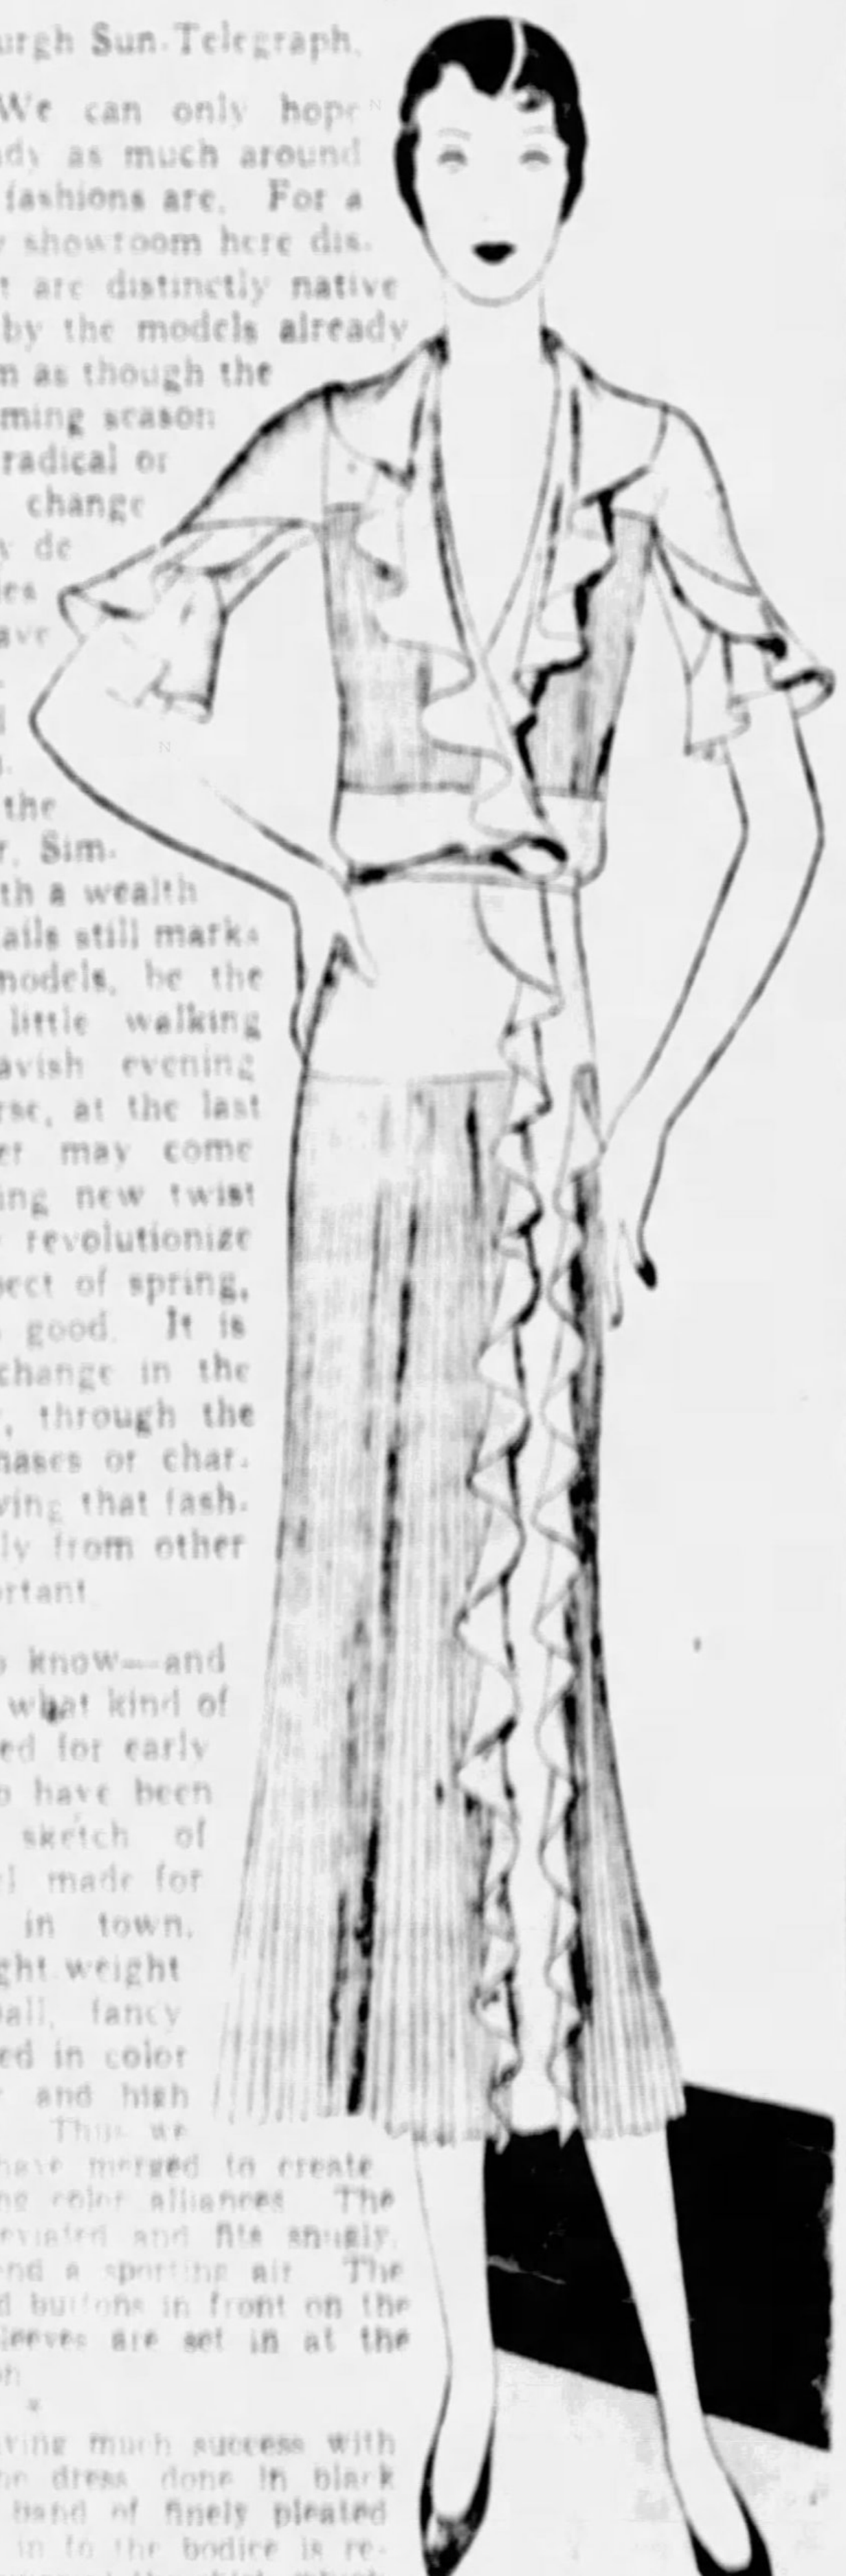
Pittsburgh Man Marries Cuban Girl in Alabama

Announcement has been made of the marriage in Heflin, Ala., on December 30, of Miss Mary Elizabeth Stickney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Ward Stickney, of Havana, Cuba, and Charles Bonnaffon Carroll, son of Mrs. Lucretia Boltz Carroll, of Edgerton street, East End.

EARLY SPRING STYLES CLING TO THE PREVAILING FASHION

—Sketched in Paris—





Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Jan. 11.—We can only hope that prosperity is already as much around the corner as spring fashions are. For a visit to almost every showroom here discloses creations that are distinctly native to spring. Judging by the models already out, it doesn't seem as though the modes of the coming season are to show a radical or revolutionary change from the very delightful styles that have characterized the fashions of the past year. Simplicity with a wealth of fine details still marks the best models, be the garment a little walking suit or a lavish evening gown. Of course, at the last moment some designer may come through with a startling new twist of the mode that may revolutionize the whole sartorial aspect of spring, but this is not always good. It is much better when a change in the mode comes gradually, through the evolution of certain phases or characteristics, thereby proving that fashion is no different really from other things vital or unimportant.

IF YOU WANT to know—and of course you do—just what kind of suit is going to be liked for early spring, we are glad to have been able to secure a sketch of Chanel's newest model made for early spring wear in town. It is in a light-weight woolen with a small, fancy weave. It is rust-red in color and the clever collar and high cuffs are of beige caracul. Thus we find that red and beige have merged to create one of the very new spring color alliances. The jacket is very much abbreviated and fits snugly, and four patch pockets lend a sporting air. The skirt is slightly flaring and buttons in front on the center seam, while the sleeves are set in at the shoulder in raglan fashion.

* * *

MOLYNEUX IS having much success with this extremely feminine dress done in black georgette. The wide band of finely pleated material which is set in to the bodice is repeated in the deep flounce of the skirt, which is pleated in the same manner. The shawl collar is cut very amply circular to give a frilled jabot effect which reaches quite to the hem of the skirt in a double row. Circular flounces trim the short sleeve. Comfort and elegance certainly do combine in this frock.

FLOOD VICTIMS RETURN HOME

GLENDORA, Miss., Jan. 11—(AP.)—Aided by the Red Cross, saddened refugees are returning home to mop out their dwellings in the wake of this delta cotton country's greatest flood disaster.

No further rise was reported in the valley of the mad Tallahatchie River and its tributaries, a valley which only a month ago was flowering in agriculture but now is buried in mud and water.

The Red Cross reported boats hastily built by plantation owners and others loaned by the valley's cities were adequate for transporting refugees, food and medical supplies.

$40,000 Alloted For River Work

College Club to Give Theater Party Feb 15

Of especial interest is the announcement of the College Club's annual theater party which will be held Monday evening, February 15, when Fred Stone opens at the Alvin Theater in his new musical comedy, "Smiling Faces." Mrs. George M. Swan heads the benefit committee.

The monthly meeting of the board of directors will be held tomorrow at 9:30 in the clubhouse. At 10:30, the first meeting of the parent education class will be held, with W. A. Lunden, of the University of Pittsburgh speaking on "Religious Education in the Home, School and Church." Mrs. J. Hartley Anderson is general chairman of parent education and Mrs. George Field MacDonald vice chairman. The general readers' department of junior activities will meet at 3 o'clock tomorrow, omitting the usual type of program and holding a book party instead.

The Thursday morning contract class, under Mrs. Raymond Burns, is scheduled to begin this week at 10:30 o'clock.

Changes in service on the Bon Air street car line were put in effect by the Pittsburgh Railways Company today.

Cars will run every 15 minutes from 6:30 a. m. to 9 a. m. and from 3:30 p. m. to 7:30 p. m. on week days except Saturday, when the afternoon hours will be shifted to the period from noon to 6 p. m. Other service, including Sunday runs, will be abandoned.

Prospector Admits Slaying Partner

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Charles Christensen, a prospector, found near death from exposure in the woods three weeks ago, told incoherently of having slain his partner to protect his mining rights in the isolated Kantishna district.

Officers doubted the story, but today the confession was confirmed. Deputy Burnett, returning from a trip to Little Moose Creek, said he found the body of Christensen's partner, Sam Federson, buried in snow in front of their cabin.

GAS LEASE RACE NEAR ERIE

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 11.—(INS.)—A scramble for oil and gas leases got under way here today in the wake of the bringing in of a 750,000 cubic foot gas well on the Arthur Miles farm, several miles west of here, early yesterday.

The Netherland Gas and Fuel Company, of Lancaster, O., developers of the new well, announced that drilling on a new location will get under way this week.

Throughout the section, oil and gas promoters today sought likely spots for drilling with prospects that several shafts would be started in a few weeks.

Traces of oil were found at the Miles well, experts said.

The Pittsburgh Orchestra again played to a fine audience in Syria Mosque last night. We sat with crossed fingers in fear that Molinari might die of apoplexy before he finished conducting that excellent program, but his excited directing fired the orchestra to play beyond all expectations and the audience to respond to his music as well as to his threatening arms.

Mr. Lissfelt

If there had been doubts of the possibilities of our men for making great music, surely those doubts begin to be dispelled. Archaic music like Mendelssohn's Overture to "Fingal's Cave" took on new life and the "New World Sympohny" was majestic in Molinari's readings.

He moulds his patterns in broad strokes, he can sing a pretty melody and plan magnificent climaxes. His music vibrates with unrelenting vitality. Although shortcomings in finesse and ensemble result from temperamental flashes, his rhythms stir the listeners to the depths of their beings.

Madame Mary Molinari sang three songs with orchestra accompaniment. Songs that sound better at the piano but do have a certain charm with background of strings. Madame Molinari's voice is small, a lyric soprano; she sings easily and with considerable taste. Her singing was a delicate contribution to the program.

J. FRED LISSFELT.

Sharon Again Aids Pitt.
Panthers to Get Croft.
Wilson Deal Reopened.
Carey Offers Frederick.
Golf Misses Jones.
Root Sees Fistic Slip.

LIKING FOR COACH SWAYS GRID FLASH

THE UNIVERSITY OF PITTSBURGH is to be enriched through the acquisition of another brilliant football prospect from the Sharon High School squad. Arrangements have been practically completed, it is reliably reported, whereby Danny Croft, fleet-footed halfback of Sharon's undefeated champions of Northwestern Pennsylvania, will matriculate at the Panther institution after spending a year at one of the leading preparatory schools of the district.

Danny Croft

Already Danny's boosters compare him favorably with Mike Sebastian, Pitt's smashing sophomore of last season, who also attended the high school of Mercer County's metropolis. Like Mike, Croft is a sensational ball carrier. His scintillating runs were largely the cause of Sharon High's unusual season. Danny, at 19, is almost 6 feet in height and weighs 170 pounds. He bears a marked likeness to Marchy Schwartz, of Notre Dame, not only in physique, but in facial appearance as well.

AND APPARENTLY THE Notre Dame bullet would find it hard to outrun the high school star. It is related that Croft and Sebastian staged an impromptu race one day last season when Mike went out to watch his favorite high school team in a practice session. The test of speed ended in a dead heat.

The ambitious student from the Shenango Valley is extremely versatile. He loves track work and expects to follow that form of athletics in prep school. Moreover, he is a good baseball player. The diamond ability possessed by the youngster comes to him naturally, as his father is Willis (Jack) Croft, an impressive pitcher for the New Castle club of the old Ohio and Pennsylvania League in 1909 and 1910, and for the Sharon club in the same loop in 1911.

JACK CROFT appeared to be on the way to a major league berth when he suffered an injury to his pitching arm. He is now employed by the Sharon Steel Hoop Company, but he still twirls a bit, especially to his son, who wants to be a catcher some day, and who has already shown uncommon ability.

Dick Booth, one of the best of the Panther fullbacks of recent years, and who now practices dentistry in Sharon, is one of Croft's strongest boosters and sees a bright future for him on the collegiate gridiron.

DICK FOLLOWED THE fortunes of the Sharon High team during the 1931 season and thus had a fine chance to study Danny and his possibilities. Booth pronounces the youngster a wonder with the ball. Dick expects that after the passing of two more years Croft will stand out as a collegiate star. That Danny is headed for the Panthers is due to a single contact with Dr. John B. Sutherland, the Blue and Gold coach. The Panther mentor attended the Sharon High banquet. Croft met the doctor on that occasion and became so fond of him that he expressed a desire to enter Pitt. So it's all set, and if nothing goes amiss Danny will loom as a new backfield luminary on the varsity in 1934.

Johnny Frederick

OUTFIELDER JOHNNY FREDERICK is the player that Brooklyn offers to give to St. Louis in exchange for Hack Wilson, according to reports from the East. Max Carey is trying to convince Gabby Street that Frederick would fit in well as an extra outfielder for the Cards or could be used to advantage in further trading.

It develops, however, that St. Louis wants pitching material rather than outfield timber. That's rather surprising in view of the fact that the Redbird management gave up such an ace hurler as Burleigh Grimes in order to get Wilson, but it is said high salary and some differences with Manager Street led to the Grimes deal.

WITH GRIMES GONE and Jess Haines uncertain, the Cards want an experienced righthander to add to Dizzy Dean and the other youngsters coming up. So they are not looking with favor on the Frederick offer, but instead would like to get Dazzy Vance or Babe Phelps in exchange for Wilson. St. Louis was one of three National League clubs that nibbled for Vance when Dazzy was put on the market in December.

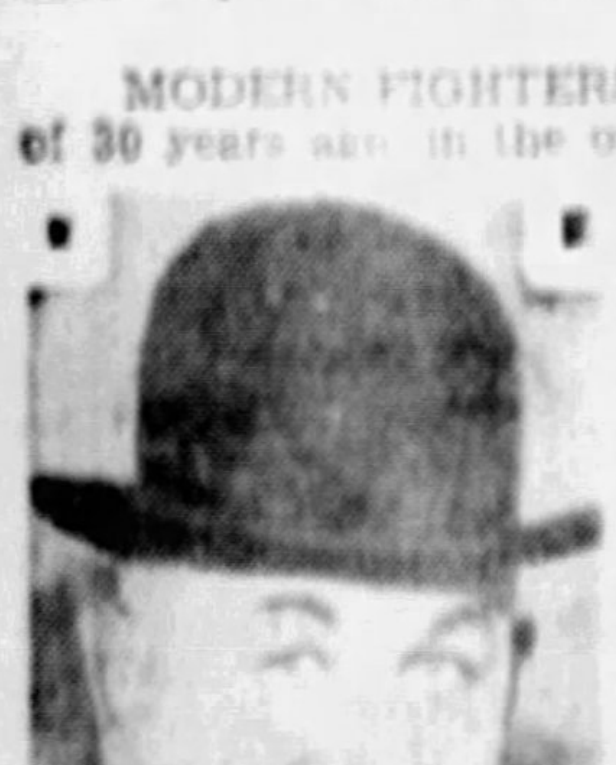
But Carey can't see the percentage in giving up Vance for Wilson, so will keep Dazzy for his own use if the big speed specialist can be induced to sign a Brooklyn contract at a reduced salary. It is said Max is equally unwilling to part with Phelps.

THOUGH GEORGE WHITTED, former Pirate, has managed the Durham club in the Piedmont League successfully for five seasons and established himself as a developer of young ball players, he may have to move to a different job this year. The franchise has been turned back to the league and the uncertainty as to who will operate the club leaves Whitted's immediate future up in the air. He'd like to stay in Durham, as that is his home town, but realizes that the new owners may wish to put the team in different hands. However, Whitted will not be long out of a job if he has to leave Durham, as three other clubs in the Piedmont loop are eager to obtain him as manager.

GOLF FOLLOWERS WHO were trying all last year to estimate what effect the absence of Bobby Jones from the starting field was having upon the American championship tournaments have their answer in the annual report of Treasurer Charles H. Sabin, of the United States Golf Association, presented at the yearly meeting.

With Jones playing in 1930, the United States amateur drew $27,659.50 and the open drew $23,282.75. With Jones missing in 1931, the amateur receipts dropped to $6,815.50, and the open intake fell to $12,700.75. That falling off at the two tourneys amounted to $31,326.20. Of course, the depression, the tournament locations and unfavorable weather were factors, but the loss of Jones as a drawing card unquestionably had a lot to do with it.

MODERN FIGHTERS LACK the aggressiveness of the ring stars of 30 years ago in the opinion of Jack Root, who was active in the ring from 1897 to 1906, and was the first claimant of the light-heavyweight, or 175-pound championship.



Jack Root

Lou Houseman, manager of Root, established the light-heavyweight class in this country in 1903, put up a championship belt and claimed the title for his fighter. Root undertook to defend it against George Gardner at Fort Erie on the Fourth of July in that year and was beaten in 12 rounds. Gardner in turn lost the championship to Bob Fitzsimmons.

"I THINK JACK SHARKEY, Tommy Loughran, Tony Canzoneri and a few others are just as clever as were the men of my day, or before it," Root says, "but most of them lack the tenacity of the old-timers. Fighters now attempt to punch fast and get away. They do not set themselves and drive in toward the body, as before. Twenty fast punches do not count for as much as one clean drive from the shoulder. While they may mean extra points for the hitter, they are not real fighting punches. If a man is to be a real fighter, and worthy of the name, as were the topnotchers of the late nineties and the early years of the present century, he must punch his hardest, and not play tag."

There'll be no Al Brown-Mose Butch fight in Motor Square Garden tonight.

The non-title match dissolved in thin air last night when Brown, the bantamweight champion, was found to be suffering from an ailment that has prevented him from doing any training for the bout and explains his two recent defeats by Newsboy Brown and Speedy Dado in Los Angeles, which he attributed to the effects of the climate.

EXAMINED BY DOCTOR

Brown did not arrive here until Saturday afternoon and announced then that he had stopped off in Chicago to train en route from the Coast. He was to work out in the Garden gym yesterday, but disappointed a large gathering of fans, to whom he delivered a talk instead of a drill. He declared he was not feeling well, and the commission physician, Dr. J. W. McMeans, was called in to examine him and declared he was unfit to train or fight. The club offered to postpone the match a few days, but Brown "doubted" if he would be feeling any better then and Manager Joe Mazer, of the Garden, thereupon ordered the show called off.

Boxing Commissioner Havey J. Boyle will recommend the suspensions of both Brown and his manager, Dave Lumiansky, of New Bedford, Mass., who took a run-out and did not accompany his boxer here, but went through to his home on the pretext that he had to arrange for a trip to Europe, where Brown is booked to defend his title in both London and Paris. Dr. McMeans said last night it would be at least two months before Brown would be able to box and then only after undergoing systematic treatment for his ailment.

BUTCH DISAPPOINTED

The canceling of the show came as a shocking disappointment to Butch, who was in fine shape and anxious for a crack at the champion. The Garden will try to get Tommy Paul, of Buffalo, or some other suitable opponent for him for next Monday night. Meanwhile the East End arena will remain dark tonight.

The collapse of the bout bears out a warning sounded in these columns early last week, after Brown's second defeat on the Coast, calling attention to the fact that he should be made to prove his fitness before being permitted to box here. The club had a huge advance sale for the show, and the fans would have been taken for a fine "ride" if Brown had been permitted to attempt to box in his condition, with the effort ending in a fiasco.

SHOW AT McKEESPORT

The Pittsburgh district will not be without a boxing show this week, despite the failure of the Garden's card to go through. Jim McGirr, McKeesport impresario, will jump into the breach with a billing of three 10-round bouts and a six-rounder on Thursday night. Billy Holt and Marty McHale, welters, top the bill, with Billy Flanagan and Jimmy Moore, middles, in the next to closing act, and Joey Bazzone meeting a good opponent in the first distance affair. Eddie Sago, amateur heavyweight star, of McKeesport, will make his professional debut in the opener.

U. S. Tennis Stars In Canadian Event

MONTREAL, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Strong competition from the United States for the Canadian indoor tennis championships beginning January 19, was assured today when it was announced entries had been received from George M. Lott, Jr., of Chicago, defending champion; Berkeley Bell, of New York; Gilbert Hall, of South Orange, N. J., and Fritz Mercur, of Philadelphia.

Several other players from below the border are expected to participate.

VANITIES PLAY BUTLER

The [illegible] Vanities are to oppose the Butler Ads, at Butler, Pa., on Wednesday night. They will play at Peabody High School here a week later.

EXPLANATIONS OF RIPLEY'S CARTOON OF LAST SATURDAY: THE TARAHUMARE MAIL CARRIERS—The Tarahumare Indians, of Mexico, are credited with producing the world's swiftest runners. They derive their very name from a word signifying "foot-racing" in their own language. About the third quarter of the last century their runners maintained a regular courier service between the city of Chihuahua and the mining town of Batopilas, 275 miles away. The courier, running unceasingly day and night, would cover the distance and return in six days. After a day's rest the performance was regularly repeated. This service was maintained for many years. The courier's route lay over the Sierra Madre Mountains, making this running feat even more extraordinary. ALBERT TANGORA—On a number of occasions, Albert Tangora, former world typewriting champion, has achieved the incredible accomplishment of typing at the rate of 160 words a minute (unfamiliar matter) and adding a column of figures five wide and six deep, simultaneously. In giving demonstrations, Tangora calls off a total after each number is given, in order to prove conclusively that there is no trick to it.

DUKES, SKIBOS OUTSTANDING; PITT FALLS

GAME TONIGHT

Arnold College at New River State.

A week of honest-to-goodness college basketball is gone and past and there is one thing apparent in the tri-state district. That one thing is this—that the race for the district championship is going to be a rip-snorter, with at least six, and possibly seven, teams figuring therein.

Right now, there is not a really outstanding quintet in the sector, unless it be the Dukes or Carnegie Tech. Both of these fives came through their two games of last week with colors flapping proudly. The Dukes nosed out Grove City and walloped West Virginia Wesleyan, and Tech crushed Wash-Jeff and won handily over Thiel.

ORANGE TAKES PITT

Pitt, making its first start since arriving home from its journey to California, lost to Syracuse, weakening fatally late in the game and proving that the little Panthers haven't recovered the strength they lost while hopping from here to the Coast.

Geneva was upset by Allegheny, which has an extremely formidable linup, but came back to murder West Virginia. The Mountaineers lost both their starts of the week, bowing to Wesleyan, beside the Covenanters. Grove City broke even, beating Westminster after having lost to Duquesne. Bethany was taken by Wesleyan, but Waynesburg aped the Dukes by beating the Bobcats.

Wash-Jeff, completely outclassed by Tech, rallied to give Muskingum a close battle, losing by a single point.

STATE SHOWS POWER

Penn State opened in impressive fashion by crushing Western Maryland, 47-21. Slippery Rock carried too many guns for St. Vincent.

The present week's campaigning will be opened tomorrow night as Carnegie faces its toughest foe to date, the powerful Temple University Owls in the Tech gym. Meanwhile, Pitt and the Dukes will be prepping for their classic in the Stadium Wednesday night and Geneva looks forward to a long, hard evening against Waynesburg's stingful Yellow Jackets tomorrow.

Tri-State Conference teams will be smart to take this Thiel outfit very seriously. The Lutherans have a ball club, one that is likely to break out with a flock of points at any time.

The Tipoff

Ralph Vince, former Wash-Jeff line star and now head coach and athletic director at John Carroll University, of Cleveland, was in town Saturday for a huddle with Josh Williams and Jimmy Clark, former Pitt backfield stars. Vince is seeking a backfield coach, so, by putting two and two together, in this case, you might get [illegible].

Max Hannum rises to offer the information that if a tri-state intercollegiate boxing tournament is held in Pittsburgh this year—and there probably will be just such an affair put on—it will be held in the Tartan gym and not in the Pitt Stadium. This column stands corrected, but, Mister Hannum, the tip came from Harry Adams, [illegible]. Pardon.

Biff Jones, who is to coach football at Louisiana State College next fall, MAY sign Bert Ingwersen, who recently took a powder at Iowa, as an assistant, but he would RATHER have a couple other fellas—namely, two Pitt men. Wait and see.

Jess Quatse's pals in his home town, Greensburg, will stage a wow of a testimonial party for the Pitt all-America tackle the night of January 21. Jake Alpern, well known in Western Pennsylvania football circles, is arranging the affair, making it a sure-pop success.

Coach Frank Thompson, veteran mentor at Slippery Rock State Teachers, is to be honored by former pupils and players at a dinner at Slippery Rock the night of January 23. Dick Goldberg, former Pitt center star, is on the committee. They are trying to line up Luby DiMeolo, assistant coach at N. Y. U., as a speaker. . . . JESS CARVER.

BUTCH GIVEN HIGH RATING

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Max Schmeling, champion, is ranked first over Jack Sharkey in the annual fistic ratings compiled by the Ring Magazine. Both the German and Boston fighters are placed in the first group of heavyweights by themselves, but Max is given the top position.

Ernie Schaaf, of Boston, is ranked first in the second group, with Tommy Loughran, Philadelphia, second; Primo Carnera, Italy, third, and Mickey Walker, Elizabeth, N. J., fourth.

King Levinsky, Chicago, tops the third group. Young Stribling, Macon, Ga., is second; Tuffy Griffiths, Sioux City, Ia., third; Paulino Uzcudun, Spain, fourth, and Larry Gains, Toronto, fifth.

Stanley Poreda, Bayonne, N. J.; Max Baer, San Francisco; Walter Cobb, Kansas City; Joe Sekyra, Dayton; Charley Retzlaff, Duluth, and Steve Hamas, Passaic, N. J., are ranked in that order in the fourth group.

Mose Butch, of Pittsburgh, is ranked seventh among the bantamweights of the world by the magazine, with Al Brown, the champion, alone in the first group. Pete Sanstol, Norway, heads the second group, with Eugene Huat, France, second; Newsboy Brown, Los Angeles, third; Vidal Gregorio, Spain, fourth; Archie Bell, Brooklyn, fifth, and Butch following. Antol Koscis, Hungary, rates seventh place among the contenders.

Charity Basketball Tourney Is Planned

INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—Plans for a four-team charity basketball tournament with Purdue, Butler and two other teams yet to be selected were being consummated here today.

Notre Dame and Indiana University or De Pauw will be the other two quintets competing.

The Indianapolis Chamber of Commerce is sponsor of the charity tournament.

Coaches, Officials Meet, Guess What Happened

By JESS CARVER

The Western Pennsylvania Basketball Officials' Association and numerous elite of the district's college and high school coaches met in a joint confab yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of coming to some agreement on the interpretation of the rules, especially as applied to the block.

Some agreement is good.

The meeting originally was booked for the Hotel Henry, but when Chick Davies, of Duquesne; Dr. Carlson, of Pitt, and Ken Loeffler, of Geneva, put on a demonstration of taking 'em out in the lobby prior to Dan Brickley's calling the gathering to order, it was decided to adjourn to the Duquesne University gym, where there was more room and where the mere spectators had a fighting chance. The adjournment was very much in order.

BRICKLEY FINE M. C.

With Brickley acting as master of ceremonies, and the Duke freshmen players, attired in red and white jerseys, serving as gentlemen of the ensemble, the show went on. They blocked, passed and dribbled for two hours, with Davies and Carlson holding the center of the stage, and with frequent turns being taken by Carl Bolster, Buck Snyder, Ken Loeffler and Frank Wolf, of Waynesburg. Wolf started strong, and was on the floor often for the first half hour or so, but he weakened under the strain.

The boys departed expressing assurances of mutual good will and with those who have other previous engagements on for Wednesday night, when Pitt and the Dukes meet in the Stadium, with Dan Daugherty and Bolster officiating, racking their brains for ways and means of breaking their dates and taking in the ball game. The stage has been set for a great show.

CARLSON'S PROPOSAL

Dr. Carlson, during a short talk, made a proposal that he give the arbiters a dollar every time he threw one of his fits on the bench, provided the officials would pay him the same amount each time they missed out.

The proposal was greeted by a painful silence.

To the casual and more or less disinterested onlooker, the following summing up might be made:

1—That all rules should be tossed out save the one calling for the ball to be blown up and not stuffed and that the floor be 90 by 60 feet.

2—That the only foul that should be called would be for unnecessary roughness, such as—

(a) Kneeing.
(b) Slugging.
(c) Mayhem.
(d) Calling the referee an un-Emily Post name.

3—That both the officials and coaches are honest and sincere, but think as far apart as Bloomsburg and China.

4—That the next time such a meeting is held, it should be thrown open to the public at one buck per head and the resultant $5,000 be turned over to charity.

GREENLEAF WINS MATCH

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Ralph Greenleaf, world pocket billiard champion, defeated Arthur Woods, of Pawtucket, R. I., by 853 points in their 1,750-point match completed at the Strand Academy last night. The final score was: Greenleaf, 1,750; Woods, 897. Greenleaf won both of the last two blocks and 11 out of the 14 played.

TERRY REFUSES SALARY CUT

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Bill Terry, first baseman for the New York Giants, announced here today that he has returned unsigned a proposed contract for his services next season at a 40 per cent reduction in salary. Terry's home is in Memphis.

He said he asked the management to trade or sell him to some other club.

Last spring, following a prolonged argument, Terry was given a contract for a salary of approximately $22,000.

GIANT OFFICIALS SILENT

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The office of the New York Giants had no immediate comment to make today on the report from Memphis that Bill Terry, Giants' first baseman, had returned unsigned a contract calling for a 40 per cent reduction in his salary.

On Wednesday, at 7 p. m., Harry Keck and his Trained Seals will be back on WCAE. Guest speakers on this program include Howard Harpster, famous all-America quarterback of Carnegie Tech; Jack Keough, sports broadcaster of WCAE; Jack Kennard, athletic director of the Keystone Athletic Club, and Dr. L. G. Beinhauer, well-known local sportsman.

PIRATE OWNER ON MEND

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Encouraging reports on the condition of Barney Dreyfuss, Pirate owner, were given out today by Sam Watters, secretary, who is in close touch with the Pittsburgh magnate.

Secretary Watters receives a daily report from William E. Benswanger, treasurer, who has been at the bedside of his father-in-law since the serious operation was performed last week. Benswanger is expected back in Pittsburgh in a few days in the event that Dreyfus continues to improve.

Optimism also is reflected at Pirate headquarters as a result of the steady progress reported in Howard Groskloss, Sheraden boy and Yale Medical student, who is a serious candidate for the Buccaneer second base post.

Howard's mother, Mrs. Eva M. Groskloss, of Sheraden, today was in receipt of a letter from her son which has given her much comfort. Howdie's left knee, on which was performed a surgical operation weeks ago, has responded in a satisfactory manner. The student-athlete is now able to run and partakes of a workout every day.

Groskloss, it was learned, is consuming about 16 hours per day at his studies in order to make up the time lost when he was in the hospital.

P. T. A. HOLDS MID-WINTER CONFAB TONIGHT

RACQUET HEADS TO DISCUSS TOURNEYS

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

The program for discussion at the midwinter conclave of the Pittsburgh Tennis Association at the P. A. A. this evening promises a return to the grand old days of racquet politics here, when Steel City votes were wont to sway the councils of the United States Lawn Tennis Association and local proxy-holders invaded the select precincts of the East to dictate policies that lifted Western Pennsylvania to the national net limelight. For once again have moguls of the U. S. L. T. A. written suppliantly westward in quest of support against insurrection in the ranks of the powers that be.

Right now there boils turmoil in the tennis tea-pot — not in Pittsburgh, but in the national group. It will be recalled that last winter what has been variously—and according to point of view—classed both a progressive and a radical bloc sprang a surprise attack on the floor of the U. S. L. T. A. meeting and punctured the nominating committee's officially indorsed slate to the extent of electing Paul Gibbons, of Philadelphia, to the important post of secretary and Joseph Ivy, of St. Louis, to the rank of vice president.

COMMITTEE ORGANIZED

This time, however, the ruling faction aims to prepare for any onslaught that may be launched in its direction. In line with such objective, there has been organized more or less secretly and unofficially the "Tennis Committee of 100" for the purpose of organizing, as the notice reads, "the force of intelligent tennis-public opinion and constructive leadership."

Numerous Pittsburghers have been invited to align themselves with the Committee of 100. Few, though, have done so—not because of prejudice against the movement, but rather because of a desire to sift the U. S. L. T. A. quarrel to the bottom before taking sides either with the conservatives of Holcombe Ward & Co. or with the insurgents of Gibbons and Ivy.

The P. T. A. has held thus far to a position of strict neutrality. Inclination to adhere to this stand until more facts can be brought definitely to light has prompted district officers to place all available data before the association membership at large and to urge that for the first time in many years there be singled out a P. T. A. delegate plenipotentiary to attend both the Middle States L. T. A. meeting at Philadelphia next Saturday and the U. S. L. T. A. session at New Orleans a bit later.

Such representative, if suggestion be allowed, will journey to the Quaker City pow-wow armed with proxies aplenty and bearing instructions not only to toss the weight of West Penn suffrage where it will do the most good nationally, but also where it will be likely to redund most beneficially to member clubs of the P. T. A.

PERSONAL ANIMOSITIES

Sketched briefly, the immediate purposes of the Committee of 100 are the re-election of President Louis J. Carruthers and Treasurer Walter Merrill Hall to their lofty U. S. L. T. A. posts, the maintaining in force of the current policies of the association, the placing in office of men sympathetic to the Carruthers-Hall regime.

The Gibbons array likewise professes satisfaction with the Carruthers administration, but adopts a platform favoring de-emphasis of the more expensive European travel features of America's Davis Cup hunt, extension of the custom of refunding association cash surpluses among the clubs of the sectional divisions, rather than that of building a large balance in the U. S. L. T. A. treasury, and recommendation that the itineraries of star players be arranged in such fashion as to permit outstanding netmen opportunity of spreading the racquet gospel through competing in fair proportion of the less powerful provincial tournaments.

All of which political issues cannot obscure the unquestionable fact that through the entire melee there runs a bitter stream of personal animosities.

In addition to debate upon the multi-various ramifications of the foregoing, the P. T. A. gathering will consider the matter of the 1932 Western Pennsylvania championships, as well as other bits of business pertinent to the impending court campaign. President J. Phillips Davis will call the soiree to order at 8:15 p. m. All fans are invited.

CARRUTHERS CRITICIZED

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Warfare within the Eastern Lawn Tennis Association broke out anew last night as Col. Hugh Miller, member of the executive committee, delivered a verbal broadside at Louis J. Carruthers, president of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

Col. Miller charged Carruthers with "stooping to ward politics" to gain control of the "largest block of voters" at the coming annual meeting of the U. S. L. T. A. at New Orleans.

Carruthers, appearing at the annual meeting of the eastern association, spoke in favor of Holcombe Ward, candidate for president in opposition to the incumbent, P. Schuyler Van Bloem. Ward was elected by the heavy margin of 9,550 to 2,225.

SMITH HOLDS COAST LEAD

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—MacDonald Smith, after softening up the Hillcrest Country Club's golf course Saturday with a sensational 69, added a 68 yesterday and just about finished the destruction of the layout's morale. His total of 137 for the first 36 holes of the Los Angeles open championship placed him five strokes below par and the same number in front of the field.

The great Scotch stylist might well have had a 65 instead of 68 yesterday. Three times his putts hit the backs of cups and remained out, when they could easily have fallen in. On the sixteenth green, after sending his tee shot well on, he allowed for a break of the green when the break was not there, and had to take three putts.

There was a scramble for the temporary runner-up position. Leo Diegel, for the second time in two days, whirled his way around the course in exactly par figures—71—and his 142 was equalled by Walter Hagen, who did the same 71-71.

The field was reduced to 59 for the final 36 holes today, this total including all players who scored 150 and better for the first half of the play. George von Elm, a pre-tournament favorite, barely slipped in with 149 and Tom Creavy, the champion of the Professional Golfers' Association, had even closer call when he scored 150 even.

Seven amateurs qualified, Charley Seaver, Stanford student, leading with 145. Roland Mackenzie, Walker Cup player, also scored a 71 for a total of 147.

Charity Gets $1,143 From Relief Game

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., Jan. 11.—Net receipts of the Penn State-Lehigh football game for the benefit of the unemployed were $1,143.52, Neil M. Fleming, graduate manager of athletics at the Pennsylvania State College, has reported.

This sum is to be divided in thirds, each of the participating teams, and the University of Pennsylvania, which donated the use of the field, getting a share. The Lehigh and Pennsylvania shares go toward local relief in Bethlehem and Philadelphia, while Penn State's division goes to the state of Pennsylvania.

Total receipts of the game were $3,492.50 and the expenses amounted to $2,348.92. The game was played on Franklin Field, Philadelphia, November 28.

GENDLEBERG CHAMPION

Louis Gendleberg copped the Y. M. H. A.'s fifth novice handball championship yesterday when he tripped Dan Schmidt, 21-13, 3-21, 21-17, in the final, winning from a field of 21 competing for two weeks. He defeated Nathan Alberts, 17-21, 21-20, 21-17, in the semi-finals. Schmidt downed J. Schachter, 21-11, 21-16, in the other penultimate contest.

AKRON DOWNS SHANNON, 3-1

AKRON, O., Jan. 11.—When Castle Shannon, of Pittsburgh, lost, 3-1, here yesterday, it put the local Goodyear team in the semi-finals of the western division in the national amateur cup play. It was the fourth round contest.

The Shannons with the wind in their favor forced the attack on Akron's goal from the start, but the visitors were unable to shatter the Goodyear defense.

Cosby passed to Bingham, who passed the ball to Robinson for the first goal. The Shannons came back before the end of the half, with Bangen sending over a long shot that tied the score.

Craig made the second score for Akron from about 30 yards from the goal in a surprise boot. Robinson scored 15 minutes before the end of the game from 15 yards out. The lineup:

MINORS CONFER ON BUYING

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Five representatives of minor baseball leagues and a "co-operator" from the majors met in executive session here yesterday and considered plans to rehabilitate the smaller leagues.

An hour of the session, first of a series to be held in various sections of the country, was devoted to working out a plan for co-operative buying of baseball equipment.

W. G. Bramham, of Durham, N. C., president of the Piedmont League, presided, and the "co-operator" was Billy Evans, general manager of the Cleveland Indians.

Representatives of practically every manufacturer of baseball equipment were on hand and all were given an opportunity to make suggestions. Decision in the co-operative buying plan was withheld for further study, and the committee went into other phases of its work.

BRIDGEVILLE, MORRYS PLAY SCORELESS TIE

By TOM BIRKS

After 90 minutes of hard battling on a slippery, muddy field, the Castle Shannon Morrys and the Bridgeville elevens were deadlocked in a scoreless tie, in the third round of the national amateur cup, at Bridgemont Field yesterday.

It was a good day for soccer, and one of the largest crowds of the season was on hand. The game developed into a battle between two hard-hitting defenses. Whitey Kratoval, Grandy, Cimerolli and Van Jura played splendid defensive soccer.

ZINGER ALMOST SCORES

So good did the rival halfbacks play that chances at the goal were few and far between. Bridgeville nearly put the game on ice in the final minutes of play. Zinger dashed into position for a score, and his parting shot caromed off a Morry defender, with the goalkeeper out of position.

Shannon's closest effort came from the foot of Harry Sickles. The big center halfback crashed in a shot that had "goal" labeled all the way, but it was blocked.

The replay probably will take place at South Park Sunday.

JACKETS LOSE TO SYRACUSE BY 2-0 TALLY

SYRACUSE, Jan. 11. — The Yellow Jackets, of Pittsburgh, went down fighting before a smooth-working Syracuse attack here last night, 2-0. A penalty on Cliff Barton, Jacket winger, early in the final canto, proved costly, as it was in his absence that the Stars collected one of their points.

Markle and Waite were the scoring aces for the Stars, combining for the two counters scored.

Rodden, Arbour, Fields and Fraser, who came out of his normal back-ice position on frequent occasions, were constant threats, but the Syracuse defense, backed by Joe Miller in the nets, was ironclad.

Albie Cox, Jacket goalie, drew the plaudits of the 3,500 fans who witnessed the battle, by his steady play, which was always brilliant and sometimes spectacular. He saved a dozen times when the Stars seemed sure of additional points and drew a big hand.

The Stars opened with a burst of speed that had Goalie Cox as busy as a bee defending his net. The Jackets quickly settled down, however, and it was Joe Miller's turn to make some spectacular saves.

Pittsburgh fought hard in the closing minutes, but could not get by the Syracuse stonewall, massed at the goal mouth. The lineup:

Pittsburgh—0.		Syracuse—2.
Cox	G.	Miller
Berlett	L.D.	Hughes
Fraser	R.D.	Savage
Miller	C.	Pelangio
Arbour	L.W.	Clark
Dunning	R.W.	McBride

Syracuse spares—Howe, Dowdie, Drouillard, Waite, Markle, Martin, Teasdale.
Pittsburgh spares—Barton, Fields, Rodden, Proudfoot, White, Matte, Locking.
Referee—Jerry LaFlamme.
The summary:
First period scoring—None. Penalties—Fraser, holding.
Second period scoring—Syracuse, Markle (Waite, Teasdale), 10:36. Penalties—Fields, tripping; Savage, roughing.
Third period scoring—Syracuse, Markle (Waite), 4:36. No penalties.

Former Haskell Stars Ineligible

LAS CRUCES, N. M., Jan. 11.—(INS.)—The question of the eligibility of five former Haskell Institute athletes, members of the University of New Mexico football team, which has disturbed the Border Athletic conference since its formation last year, was definitely settled today. Conference officials decided that Wilson (Buster) Charles and Dave Ward would be ineligible after September 1. Hendricks, Hollis and Cross will be eligible for one more year, beginning September 1.

MAX-MICKEY FIGHT PAPERS DELAYED AGAIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The long-delayed signing of Max Schmeling and Mickey Walker for their 15-round bout at Miami, Fla., February 25, was put off two more days after a conference here yesterday. The formal signing now is scheduled for Wednesday.

All preliminaries, it was announced, were settled satisfactorily at a conference attended by Joe Jacobs, manager of Schmeling; Jack Kearns, Walker's pilot; Charles White and Lou Stillman, attorneys for Schmeling and Jacobs, and William V. Saxe, attorney for Madison Square Garden Corporation, of New York, and president both of the Illinois and Florida Garden corporations.

Schmeling and Jacobs, with Trainer Max Machon, left for Boston where the champion will appear in an exhibition tonight.

Germans Decline Americans' Offer

BERLIN, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The German Hockey Association has decided not to accept an offer from the United States to pay the expenses of a German team in the winter Olympics at Lake Placid, N. Y., next month. Germany thus will not be represented in hockey competition.

Prices Back Up Slightly In Early Trading, but Soon Push Up Again

NEW YORK, Jan. 11—(AP.)—Railroad issues provided steam for a further advance in the stock market today.

Prices backed up a little in the first half hour, in continuation of the reaction late Saturday, but soon pushed forward again, as buying came into the carriers. The advance coincided with preliminary meetings of railway labor heads in Chicago preparatory to wage negotiations. Trading was dull during the morning but accelerated on the advance after mid-day.

Union Pacific pushed up more than 5 points and issues advancing 2 to 4 included Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake and Ohio, New York Central, Northern Pacific, Rock Island, Baltimore and Ohio, New Haven, Pere Marquette and others. American Telephone advanced 2 points and Allied Chemical rose 3. Motion pictures were well bought, Radio-Keith rising 2 points and Warner Bros. 1. Coppers were firm. United States Steel sagged more than 2 points in the first half hour, but regained its loss.

The buying in rails appeared to reflect further optimistic discussions in railway banking quarters of the prospect of a successful conclusion of the wage negotiations of the railway executives and union leaders slated for Thursday.

The sag in the market in the initial dealings was attributed in part to United States Steel's monthly unfilled tonnage report which appeared at the close of Saturday's market. The shrinkage of 198,538 tons to the smallest total in 21 years was unpleasantly surprising. The week-end steel trade surveys, however, partly compensated for this adverse showing, reporting a gradual increase in buying. The publication Steel spoke of numerous small inquiries from buyers.

While automobile buying of steel is slow in materializing, the comment of leading executives of the motor industry in connection with the New York automobile show indicated a fairly general feeling that 1932 would improve upon the poor showing of 1931.

WHEAT PRICES TAKE DROP

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Grain prices tended downward early today, influenced by setbacks in Wall street securities. Relative firmness of Liverpool wheat quotations and decreasing supplies there were virtually ignored. Starting at [illegible] off to [illegible] up, wheat afterward declined all around. Corn also opened at [illegible] decline to [illegible] advance and subsequently sagged.

Enlargement of the amount of wheat on ocean passage gave an advantage to bears. The total afloat for importing countries was announced as 31,352,000 bushels, compared with 29,816,000 a week ago and 35,161,000 at this time last year. There were advices too that [illegible] continued to press off [illegible] wheat for export and [illegible] hedging in Liverpool.

Automobile Sales Slumped in 1931

DETROIT, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Although complete figures for December have not been tabulated, R. L. Polk & Co. estimate the total sales of new passenger automobiles in the United States for 1931 at 1,892,600 units. The figures compare with total sales in 1930 of 2,625,979.

The estimate was based upon complete returns from all states for 11 months and registrations in nine states in December. Using the same reports, Polk & Co. estimate sales of new commercial cars in 1931 at 311,800 compared with 410,699 in 1930.

Bolivia Protests U. S. Bond Statement

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The Bolivian minister has transmitted to Secretary of State Stimson a memorandum from his government protesting the statement made before the Senate investigation of foreign loans that Bolivian bonds had been defaulted. The memorandum said that Bolivia "has every intention of resuming its payments" when economic conditions improve. It admits that "a temporary suspension of interest and sinking fund payments has been necessary, however."

McCarty Elected Nash Motors Chief

KENOSHA, Wis., Jan. 11.—E. H. McCarty has been elected president of Nash Motors Company, succeeding C. W. Nash, who remains chairman of the board.

Nash in year ended November 30 earned $1.76 a share, against $2.78 a share in the preceding fiscal year.

Mild Improvement Noted in Steel Industry

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Brighter conditions in the steel industry were disclosed today by the weekly review of the magazine Steel.

A strain of mild improvement is running throughout the iron and steel markets, the magazine states, ascribing it to the aggregate of numerous small inquiries and orders.

During the last week steel works operations regained all the ground lost during the holidays and advanced 1 point to 25 per cent.

BUSINESS

Good Prospects Seen for Electric Companies When Future Recovery Starts.

—By GEORGE H. SNYDER—

MAKERS OF ELECTRICAL equipment have experienced a sharp decline in their sales but they may be expected to participate to a marked extent in any recovery in business which may take place in the future.

For several days analyses have appeared in this column attempting to indicate the extent to which individual industries may be expected to share in a general revival of activity. The opinion was expressed that the power companies and the rails would immediately reflect any improvement and should be of interest to investors desiring to select securities which will have a substantial participation in the move back to better times. On the other hand it was shown that the oils and coppers must first solve the problem of overproduction before the earnings of companies in these industries can derive the full benefit of a general recovery.

The electrical equipment makers we are speaking now of companies such as General Electric and Westinghouse Electric which make a wide range of heavy equipment should be prompt in reflecting general recovery. Power companies and manufacturing organizations have postponed the installation of new electrical equipment as a result of the decline in business. This has been indicated to a substantial extent in the sales and earnings of the electrical equipment companies.

Electric Company Sales Record Sharp Decline

THE REPORTS OF the two leading electric equipment makers showed a decline of about 24 per cent in sales for the first nine months of 1931. As a result of this Westinghouse lost $966,709 in the first nine months as compared with a profit of $11,352,244 in the corresponding period of 1930. General Electric, on the other hand, has shown a greater ability to show a profit under adverse conditions. It earned $32,685,100, or $1.07 a share on its common stock in the nine months as compared with $44,449,918 or $1.47 a share in the corresponding period of last year.

While Westinghouse reported substantial losses early in the year it was able to re-establish itself on a profitable basis in the third quarter of 1931 as a result of wage reductions and other economies. It showed a profit of $992,632 for this period. If results in the fourth quarter will be shown to have been equally good the company will have just about broken even for 1931.

* * *

General Improvement to Help Organizations

Westinghouse and General Electric make such a wide range of products that they are practically sure to benefit from any gain in business in at least some of their lines. They supply electric power companies with generating equipment. They make railroad electric locomotives. They produce motors used in both large and small manufacturing plants. In addition their output extends to the field of domestic appliances. It is difficult to imagine any general industrial revival which would not extend to the major electrical companies. Accordingly the investor wishing to select industries which will enjoy a prominent place in the next period of prosperity should give serious thought to this industry.

Rail Union Leaders Outlining Program

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Leaders in the Railway Labor Executives Association are meeting today to outline a program of the large labor conference tomorrow when the 1,500 general chairmen from various railroad labor unions will arrive here. Definite formulation of labor's demands of the railroads in connection with acceptance of a wage reduction probably will be made tomorrow. The conference with the nine presidents to negotiate the matter of employment and wages will take place Thursday.

COTTON LOSSES RECOVERED

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Cotton opened steady today at a decline of 1 to 4 points on some Southern and New Orleans selling, promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables. Trading was quiet during the first few minutes with March selling at 6.43.

There was also some local selling influenced by the lower opening of the stock market, but trading was quiet and seemed to reflect some uncertainty as to the further development of the reparation situation. After selling off to 6.43 under the early offerings or about 5 to 6 points net lower on the general list, prices steadied on trade buying and covering with the market showing rallies of 2 or 3 points by the end of the first half hour.

Trading remained quiet, but the market held very steady after the early offerings had been absorbed and some buying was promoted by rallies in the stock market. The early losses were recovered with March selling up to 6.51 and July to 6.84 and with the general list ruling about net unchanged to 4 points higher at midday.

LIVERPOOL, Jan. 11.—Cotton—spot good business done; prices 4 points higher; quotations in pence: American strict good middling, 5.98; good middling, 5.58; strict middling, 5.48; middling, 5.43; strict low middling, 5.33; low middling, 5.23; strict good ordinary, 5.03; good ordinary, 4.73. Receipts, 100 bales, all American. Futures closed very steady. January, 5.09; March, 5.06; May, 5.04; July, 5.03; October, 5.07; December, 5.12; January, 5.14.

PACIFIC COAST OIL RAISED

LOS ANGELES, June 11.—Arrangements have been made by the General Petroleum Corporation to purchase from various producers in Kettleman Hills crude oil at advanced prices ranging from 66 cents for 33 gravity oil to 75 cents for 39 to 39.9 gravity. It is said similar policy is being pursued by Standard Oil of California.

This is the first advance in crude other than premiums paid since June, and is believed to indicate that other large producers in Kettleman Hills will follow a similar policy.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

Little change in trading marked the day's activity in the wholesale fruit and vegetable markets in Pittsburgh. There were no changes in quotations.

The butter, egg and cheese markets remain steady, demand good, supply adequate without changes in quotations.

The poultry market showed little change in trading. Prices remained fixed.

Worthless Stock Sales Total $48,583,725

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Promoters of worthless stock fleeced the public of $48,583,725 during 1931 despite diminished trading on the stock exchange, the Bureau of Securities said in its annual report to Attorney General John J. Bennett, Jr.

Of this amount the bureau recovered $2,123,943. In addition, the bureau estimated it prevented the sale of $22,638,129 in fraudulent securities.

Stock Exchange Topics

Business and Industry Seek Solutions for Many Problems

Although there still are many problems confronting business and industry in this and other countries, it is the growing belief that the constructive steps already taken or planned in order to cope with the situations and find solutions are most important. Governmental, financial, industrial and railroad authorities apparently realize conditions as they exist and are prepared to take remedial steps whenever possible. This should result in gradual improvement, which may be slow in making itself felt.

With interest still centering in the ebb and flow of things in the speculative market, there has been a tendency to overlook the full import of the smart recovery in the bond list. Yet the fact remains that restoration of something approaching intrinsic values in the investment market is much more to be desired for its effect on the general financial structure than anything in the way of spectacular rise in share prices. Measured by the Standard Statistics index of 60 issues, the bond market has enjoyed a rise of more than 8 per cent from the low point of 68.49 reached on December 17.

The stock market in the last four days has given a good account of itself, but thus far the recovery has not assumed proportions indicating more than a technical movement. From the November 9 high to the January 5 low, the market as measured by the index of 90 active stocks sustained a net loss of 31.5 per cent. Since the early part of last week, when recovery got under way, the list has scored a rebound of 8 points, as of the closing last Friday night, approximately 25.4 per cent of the ground lost on the previous decline.

The public has been slow to respond to the demonstration of strength in the speculative market. As yet, according to commission houses, the outside buyer has been content to remain on the sidelines, presumably to let the market prove itself before undertaking anything in the way of long commitments. Thus far the rise has reflected principally renewed constructive efforts on the part of professional traders, evidently, however, with more formidable backing than in previous instances, and considerable covering of short commitments by traders.

Sentiment around the Street is more optimistic than in a long time. Conservative observers insist that the market itself has indicated ability to absorb offerings and move ahead. They favor the long side and advise clients to pick up pivotal shares on any minor technical reaction which may develop.

Current gossip indicates that Wall street expects the regular dividend on Southern Pacific at the February meeting. The dividend was reduced from $6 to a $4 basis in November. Belief in continuance of $1 quarterly payments is based upon virtual certainty of legislative relief and favorable wage readjustments for the carriers.

LOCAL MARKET LIST HOLDS STEADY

Lone Star Sells Above Previous Closing Level; Hachmeister-Lind Higher

Trading was quiet and prices were unchanged as the new week opened on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange today. The unsettlement noted in the New York market Saturday and the further dip in the leading issues at the start today had no effect on the list here.

Lone Star Gas was moderately active around 8½, slightly above the level at which it left off Saturday. The other fuels were dull. Armstrong Cork fell back a point from Saturday's close, but the dip was attributed to absence of buying interest. There was no pressure noted in any section of the market.

Independent Brewing jumped a large fraction on small sales today, but the movement halted after a few shares of the stock had changed hands. Hachmeister-Lind gained more than a point on light trading.

Department Store Sales Drop in 1931

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—(INS.)—The dollar value of department store sales in December was 13 per cent below that of the same month the year before, the Federal Reserve Board announced today.

This was regarded as a fairly accurate reflection of general retail trade for the Christmas season. The report was based on the sales of 447 stores in 224 principal cities of the country. In the entire year department store sales were 11 per cent smaller than during 1930.

FINANCIAL NEWS AND VIEWS

AGREE ON PRESIDENT

Members of the two factions of Missouri State Life Insurance Company board of directors have practically agreed to offer the presidency of the company, at the annual meeting in January, to United States District Judge Charles I. Dawson, of Louisville, Ky. Judge Dawson, it was made clear, is not an applicant for the office which now is held by Hillsman Taylor, who is resigning to bring accord among the stockholders.

ETHYL GASOLINE SALES

Sales of the Ethyl Gasoline Corporation in 1931 are estimated at 2,200,000,000 gallons, or 12½ per cent of the total sales of the country. This would compare with 1,854,000,000 gallons, or 11½ per cent of total sales in 1930. The corporation is owned jointly by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and the General Motors Corporation.

NEW PLANT FOR CONTINENTAL

Continental Can Company, Inc., plans the erection of a three-story modern can-making plant at Harvey, La., adjacent to the plant of Penick & Ford. Continental Can Company secured a long-term contract with Penick & Ford for the latter's entire can requirements.

NEW KROGER DIRECTOR

Otto Armleder, president of the O. Armleder Motor Truck Company and large stockholder in Kroger Grocery and Baking Company, has been elected a director of the latter concern, succeeding John Bonham, resigned.

CHASE EARNS DIVIDEND

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Despite the low interest rates of 1931, the current earnings of Chase National Bank for the year were in excess of dividends declared, states Albert H. Wiggin, chairman of the governing board. Total dividends declared during the year by the bank were $27,750,000, exclusive of the dividend of the Chase Securities Corporation amounting to $1,850,000.

The total of German credits held by Chase National Bank, as of December 31, last, Mr. Wiggin points out, was $71,127,981, or about 3½ per cent of the total resources of the bank. Grand total of German credits—long and short term—of the Chase Bank, Paris, and long-term holdings of Chase Securities Corporation and Chase Harris Forbes Corporation amounted at market value to $74,663,327.

COTTON STOCKS SHOW GAIN

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The Association of Cotton Textile Merchants reports sales of carded cotton cloths during December, covering a period of five weeks, at 204,916,000 yards, or 80.4 per cent of the month's production. Production amounted to 254,692,000 yards, or at the rate of 50,938,000 yards a week. This was 12 per cent less than the rate of production in November, when sales were 96.9 per cent of production. December shipments were 237,834,000 yards, or 93.4 per cent of production.

Stocks on hand December 31 were 290,248,000 yards, an increase of 6.2 per cent from the beginning of the month. Unfilled orders were 222,039,000 yards, a decrease of 9.3 per cent.

Copper Develops Firmer Price Tone

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The price of copper is firm at 7⅜ cents a pound. Some metal might be available for second-quarter shipment at this price, but the general disposition is to ask 7½ cents for second-quarter delivery. Buying continues light, and the firmer price tone is due more to reluctance of producers to sell at present prices than to any disposition on the part of consumers to accumulate stocks.

Finished copper products were advanced ¼ cent a pound to 9¼ cents today.

Credit Banks Make $12,500,000 Offering

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—A public offering of $12,500,000 of 5 per cent collateral trust debentures of the Federal Intermediate Credit Banks was announced today by Charles R. Dunn, the fiscal agent. The offering is at par.

The Federal Intermediate Credit Banks were created to provide agricultural credits. Aside from the capital stock subscribed to by the government, additional funds are obtained through the sale of debentures, which are direct obligations of the issue banks.

Oklahoma City Oil Production Lowered

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The Oklahoma Corporation Commission has reduced daily allowable production from the Oklahoma City oil field to 120,000 barrels, a decrease of 40,000 barrels.

Protests against the order will be heard and possible revision of pipe line nominations and allowables made at a hearing January 22.

45,000 Lone Star Gas Absorbed Privately

A block of Lone Star Gas stock has been taken over privately by a financial institution which will hold the shares as an investment. The size of the block was over 45,000 shares, and the price paid was not far from the present market price of about $8 a share.

This institution obtained a special report on the affairs of the company and found a book value of $20 or over a share.

Exchange Revises 'Short' Questionnaire

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The New York Stock Exchange has revised its instructions to members regarding short sales, requesting that members report only the net number of shares by which each stock in each account has changed from the preceding day, and new short sales, and name of owner.

Big Gas Producer Brought in at Erie

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—A 750,000-foot gas well has been brought in on a farm in North Springfield, near a lake west of Erie.

Drilling operations, conducted by the Netherlands Gas and Fuel Company, an Ohio concern, have been shrouded in mystery. It is understood more wells will be drilled.

MARKETS SHOW MISTAKES OF PESSIMISTS

Increased Purchasing Power Of Investment Dollars Aids Economic Outlook

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—After getting off to an inauspicious start in the first full business week of the new year, the markets reflected recognition of the fact that actual conditions and prospects are not as bleak as they seemed in interludes of unreasoning pessimism.

For the first two days of the week liquidation resulting from special disturbed situations beclouded the effects of January factors that were at work. The investors with dividends and interest available for reinvestment at this time find that their investment dollars have been stretched greatly in purchasing power.

Mr. Rukeyser.

A rally after the technically oversold condition was to be expected for purely internal market reasons, but, as usual, an attempt was made in current discussion to find external reasons, such as the prospects of passage of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation bill and of an agreement between the British and the French on reparation questions.

The stock market was helped temporarily by the relaxation of selling pressure as soon as selling to establish tax losses in 1931 and selling by banks for purposes of window dressing at the end of the year ceased. A cessation of bad news for a few days also proved helpful to the price structure. The approach of the annual automobile show, which opened Saturday, was another signal for at least a mild revival of better feeling.

Some statisticians purported to derive satisfaction from the stability in commodity prices, in the steadiness of car loadings and power consumption and from the promise that the usual seasonal rise in steel would take place.

In speculative quarters there is a disposition to attempt to value "inflationary" probabilities in 1932. Many of the administration and other proposals are an antidote to excessive deflation, rather than pathological inflation. Any substantial credit expansion which would react favorably on the commodity price level would be favorable to the quotations of equity securities.

H. F. Devens Named Oliver Iron Chief

Election of Henry L. Devens as president of the Oliver Iron and Steel Corporation was announced today. He had been since June 1, 1923, vice president and general manager of sales of the corporation and has been identified with the iron and steel industry for more than a quarter of a century. His election fills a vacancy that has existed for some time.

Atchison Reports Gain in Loadings

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—The Atchison Railway for the week ended January 9 handled 23,902 revenue cars, against 20,417 in the previous week and 30,048 in the like week a year ago.

SCHOOL LEADERS TO CLASH

LANGLEY MEETS ALLEGHENY TOMORROW

By JULIUS LEVIN

With the majority of W. P. I. A. L. teams inactive tomorrow, the basketball spotlight in Western Pennsylvania will be focused on the two sectional races in the City League.

The headliner of the day is the Section II battle between Langley and Allegheny on the Allegheny court. The two teams are deadlocked for first place in that section as a result of winning their first two contests.

While the Allegheny-Langley game is certain to receive the major portion of the attention, Section I will not lack first-class attractions. Connelley will strive for its third straight victory by engaging Coach Zahniser's Westinghouse quintet at Westinghouse, while Fifth Avenue will attempt to make it two in a row at the expense of its old rival from South at Fifth Avenue. Peabody and Schenley clash at Schenley in the other Section I contest.

Oliver will play at Perry and South Hills at Carrick in the remaining two Section II frays.

Forty-six teams showed undefeated records at the close of the first week's play in the championship races.

Scott High, defending state champion, and Ambridge, rated as one of the strongest contenders for the title, were the outstanding favorites to suffer unexpected setbacks. Braddock, Jim Hudson's quintet, took the measure of Johnny Reed's team, while Ambridge took one on the chin at the hands of Rusty Lomond's Midland aggregation in an extra-period tussle.

Shots and Passes

Anthony Sobehart, star forward of the undefeated Connelley quintet in the Section I race, looms as one of the best passers enrolled in the City League this season. This sharpshooter has played a prominent part in the two successes attained by Coach Dickson's quintet. Westinghouse fans will have a chance to see this boy in action tomorrow afternoon.

Bill Campbell, coach at Homestead High School, has two dates open on his football card. September 23 or 24 and November 4 or 5 are available for high school teams lacking games on these dates. Call Manager John Hall at Homestead 2125.

Bill Jeske, brilliant forward on Coach Grover Washabaugh's South High quintet, stands a good chance of leading the scorers in the City League this season. Jeske has the knack of recording field goals from all sections of the floor and must be watched continually to prevent him from scoring. Very few guards have stopped him so far this season.

Standing out for Coach Briggs' Fifth Avenue combine this season is Young Pugliano, star forward of the team. This youngster played a big part in Fifth's victory over Schenley. Pugliano and Jeske should put on an interesting duel tomorrow afternoon when Fifth engages South at Fifth Avenue.

Jim Baker's Beaver High quintet is living up to pre-season predictions in Section IV. Beaver moved into first place as a result of Midland's unexpected victory over Ambridge. It is the only undefeated team in the section, having won its first two games. Beaver will play Ambridge Friday at Ambridge. This should prove one of the best attractions of the season.

Coach Washabaugh's South High eleven will meet Altoona and McKeesport on the gridiron next fall. Altoona will be played in Altoona on Saturday, October 1, and McKeesport will be played in the Tube City on Saturday, October 22.

Ambridge High wants to book a football game for October 15, the contest to be played at Ambridge. Teams interested should call Ambridge 191 and ask for Moe Rubinstein.

McDonald, one of the sectional winners in the W. P. I. A. L. last season, appears to be in for another successful campaign. McDonald at present is tied with Oakdale for first place in Section XIV, each showing two victories and no defeats. L. Malarkey's fine work has helped the team considerably in its early season games.

One of the big surprises of the season to date has been the great comeback of Mt. Lebanon High, under the coaching of Henry Leucht. The Washington road passers were unable to win consistently in pre-season games, but once the league schedule got under way they started to accomplish things. They have won two straight in Section IX and at present are tied for first place with McKees Rocks and Stowe Township.

A's Contracts Set, Mack Goes South

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The 1932 contracts for the Philadelphia Athletics are all ready for the mail, so Connie Mack is going to leave for Florida today.

The A's manager and Mrs. Mack, accustomed to beat the ball players South by about a month, will leave this year earlier than usual. They will sojourn at Mt. Plymouth before going on to the training base at Fort Myers.

The date on which the Fort Myers training camp will open has not definitely been decided, but it probably will be around February 22. All the Mackmen are expected to report there except Al Simmons and George Earnshaw, who will get in trim at Hot Springs, Ark., as they did last year.

Hudkins Arrested For Assault of Two Men

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Ace Hudkins, middleweight boxer, was arrested yesterday on a charge of assault to do bodily harm after T. Leonard Park, 38, had received a fractured skull in a street altercation.

The police report said Park and E. S. Martin objected to the honking of an automobile horn by Hudkins' companion, Ellen Dorsey, and that both Park and Martin were knocked down by the pugilist.

LAWRY LEADS LOCAL FLOOR SCORERS

Tim Lawry, of Pitt, continues to hold the scoring lead among tri-state district college basketballers. He has accumulated no less than 84 points in 12 battles.

A teammate, Don Smith, is in second place with 73 points for 13 games, and Bob Smith, of Carnegie, runs third with 71 for eight games. Bob Smith moved from fourth place in the last seven days and stands a fine chance of overtaking the leaders if he keeps up the good work.

Lou Jagnow, Tech star, dropped to fourth place, with 69, while Stentz, another Skibo, is fifth with 63. Willie Kowallis, of Pitt, who was deadlocked with Jagnow in third place last week, fell to seventh position, with 61 points.

Feldman, of Duquesne, has tallied 21 points in two games and bids fair to challenge the leaders when he gets a few more contests under his belt.

GOPHER ICEMEN LEAVE

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 11.—(AP.)—The University of Minnesota hockey squad left last night for Boston to compete in the final to select the United States ice entry for the Olympic games at Lake Placid, N. Y. Coach Frank Pond took 11 men for the game against a Boston-New York sextet next Wednesday night.

Judge John P. Egan, of the Court of Common Pleas, will be the prinicapl speaker at the annual city championship award luncheon Saturday noon at the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce. Edward T. Whiter, chairman of the Pittsburgh chamber's recreation committee, will preside.

Bronze trophies emblematic of the city championship will be presented to the teams of the University of Pittsburgh and South High School, victors in the 1931 collegiate and scholastic games.

President of City Council John S. Herron will present to the Panther team a huge silver cup.

DURAND WINS MIAMI GOLF TOURNEY

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—Par golf in the afternoon, after having been 6 down at the close of the morning round yesterday gave Celest Durand, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a 1-up victory over Tommy Goodwin, of Monroe, N. Y., and West Palm Beach, in the final of the Miami midwinter amateur golf tournament.

It was a beautiful recovery by Durand, as Goodwin slipped to 40-39—79 for the afternoon round after taking 39-35—74, yesterday morning. Durand's afternoon medal was 35-36—71, par for the Miami Country Club course, against 40-41—81 for the first half of the round.

In the second flight final Pete Bailey, of Miami, defeated Garfield Miller, Pelham, N. Y., 7 and 5. Lee Chase, Jr., of Buffalo, N. Y., won the third flight with a 4-and-3 victory over J. B. Huhn, of New York. W. L. (Pa) Stribling lost the fourth flight final to John H. Stillman, of Lakeville, N. Y., 2 and 1.

MARTIN WINS REGATTA

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 11.—(AP.)—George Martin, of South Bend, Ind., ran up 3,082 points yesterday to win first honors in the seventh annual midwinter outboard regatta on Biscayne Bay. He was third in a Class B race, first in a Class C race and piled up points consistently in various heats.

Not for a Million Dollars

THE train swung around a curve. You can always spot the seasoned traveler, thought Clifford Burns, admiring his companion's deftness.

The older man paused in his packing and smiled. "I'll be glad to get home. Three weeks on the road this trip," he said to Burns. "Not that I haven't been home every night," he added with a chuckle.

"Home every night!" Burns exclaimed.

"Yes, sir! The minute the clock strikes 8:30, home I go by telephone. The whole family's waiting—I wouldn't miss it—not for a million dollars! Take it as a tip from an old drummer."

"You're right," said Burns. "I will, and thanks!" mentally adding, "Yes, you can always spot the seasoned traveler!"

Finance Trend Takes Distinct Upward Turn.

By B. C. FORBES

PROGRESS CAN be reported.

THE FIRST WEEK of 1932 has brought improvement in sentiment, a very substantial recovery in bond and stock prices, indications that Congress will co-operate in expediting reconstruction legislation to ameliorate financial conditions, evidence that currency hoarding is on the wane, another decrease in brokers' loans which brings the present total 91½ per cent below the 1929 peak, intimations that the railway wage question will be peacefully settled, reports that Germany's immediate financial emergency will be taken care of, reassuring news from Britain.

Mr. Forbes

ON THE OTHER HAND, there have been a number of less gratifying developments. The anticipated moderate increase in unemployment has apparently recurred, notwithstanding that motor companies, railroads and several other industries announce the re-engagement of a considerable number of workers. Retail trade reports are not better than fair. The United States Steel Corporation on Saturday reported a drop of 198,380 tons in unfilled orders during December, bringing the total (2,735,353) to the lowest since 1910. Dividend reductions were made, including Atchison's. December automobile production figures embraced both increases and decreases, with a rather notable showing reported by General Motors. Railway freight volume continues disappointing. Commodity prices, on the whole, barely held their own. Latest corporation earnings statements naturally are poor.

NOT OFTEN in a lifetime are investors likely to see one influential banker after another publicly advise that securities are selling ridiculously below their real worth. Morgan partner Lamont, Kuhn-Loeb partner Kahn, Gov. Harrison of the New York Federal Reserve Bank, are typical of those who have gone on record that securities are today abnormally cheap. Not in my experience extending well over a quarter of a century has there been such unanimous declaration regarding security market values.

Secretary Mellon, wise old gentleman, issued a diplomatic warning regarding stocks in 1929 by recommending that a switch to bonds was advisable. Were Secretary Mellon to come forward now with a statement that the decline in stocks has been carried to unwarranted extremes, the effect probably would be very pronounced.

There was rather convincing evidence last week that highly powerful financial interests were accumulating securities. I am told that Rockefeller money has been coming freely into the security market lately.

THE NEW YORK Stock Exchange governors, bowing to public demand, issued after the close of the market on Saturday figures showing the fluctuations in short selling in each day of December. The total on December 31 was 2,842,072 shares against 3,745,642 at the close of November, a decrease of 903,570 shares.

It will excite comment that on one day, December 10, the short account increased 172,516 shares. That followed an increase in the previous day. On both days the market declined.

The fact that the figures cover the month of December may be interpreted as signifying that short selling data will be furnished only once a month. The writer urges President Whitney to let the public have the figures weekly.

WHILE TOO SWEEPING deductions must not be drawn from one week's happenings, it is at least gratifying that apprehension is giving way to hope, that various reconstruction plans promise to be put into effect speedily and that the financial trend has taken a distinctly upward turn.

Lumber Firm Plans Holders Committee

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Long Bell Lumber Company, as a step toward fortifying its position to meet adverse conditions generally prevailing, has suggested to Halsey Stuart & Co., Inc., head of the syndicate which distributed the company's first mortgage bonds, that a bondholders' committee be formed to co-operate with the company.

There has been no default payment of principal or interest on the bonds. R. A. Long, chairman of the board, stated that the properties of the company approximate $85,000,000 with bonded debt of about $20,000,000.

Van Sweringen Rail Freight Cut O. K.'d

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—The so-called Van Sweringen railroads have been permitted by the Interstate Commerce Commission to establish reduced rates on commodity freight in mixed carloads from various cities to destinations in central freight association territory. The reductions, coincident with the establishment of this service, were made as a move against motor truck competition.

Every-Day Investments

By W. S. COUSINS
International News Service Financial Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Many investors have been in the market for bank stocks in recent months, notwithstanding the sharp decline in prices of the leading bank shares. When deflation hit the bank stock group, it struck sharp and hard, and at the end of the year prices of the strongest New York bank shares were but a shadow of the 1929, or even the early 1930 basis of valuation.

Experts in bank stocks are generally of the opinion that, with the return to normal in economic conditions in America and other important sections of the world, prices should work moderately higher next year. The opinion is based upon two factors.

First, the prospects for higher money rates, which will naturally tend to increase bank profits.

Second, the low open-market value of bank stocks as compared with book-value, indicating that the year-end write-offs and adjustments had been fully discounted.

Money rates at the year-end were substantially higher than at any previous period since late 1930. Call money, for example, loaned at 3 per cent, against 1½ per cent in half of the year and as low as 1 per cent in the outside market.

Open market quotations indicate that bank stocks are more thoroughly liquidated than ever before, which means a great deal to institutions of this class. At current prices the average income yield on 16 leading New York City bank stocks is approximately 9 per cent, against 5.25 per cent in 1921 and as low as 1 to 2 per cent in the bull market of 1929.

A compilation made by Howard S. Holt, well-known bank stock statistician, shows that the open market value of outstanding capital shares of the 16 leading New York City issues aggregated $1,434,378,000 as of December 24, 1931, which total is approximately $344,000,000 less than the known book value of the same shares, exclusive of security company book values, based upon their official statements issued as of the close of last September.

Further evidence of the thoroughly liquidated condition of New York City bank stocks is furnished in a comparison of the current market value with that of the high point established in 1929. Present open market value of the 16 issues totaling $1,434,378,000 compares with $10,011,820,000 for the 1929 high, making the current valuation only 14 per cent of the 1929 figure.

Bank stocks are of course guided by the same factors as control the market movements of securities of all kinds. Under prosperity they will rise, while depression forces them to low price levels. There is nothing mysterious about the present low quotations for the stocks of the banking institutions.

Daisy Appreciative Toward Police Captain for Helping Her

(Adapted from the original motion picture story of W. R. Burnett: With screen play by John L. Mahin; produced by Cosmopolitan Productions and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.)

CHAPTER IV.

Sergt. Ed Fitzpatrick, of the vice squad, sat gingerly on the edge of the overstuffed red plush chair. Young, healthy and vibrant with the joy of living, Ed had an eye for feminine beauty—even under these circumstances. Daisy Beaumont, draped in a negligent posture on the couch, attired in a black peignoir which was in direct contrast to her milk-white skin and her platinum locks, indolently smoking a cigaret, was to him a sight to be admired, an animal whose allure could not be ignored—a fascinating female.

Ed was tall, handsome, well-set up, of an ebullient nature, more ready to smile than to frown, out for a good time rather than work or worry. His hair was dark and his eyes were Irish blue, twinkling beneath heavy black eyebrows. His nose was straight, his lips were wide and full and his chin came out at the proper angle to show that daring and determination were there when called for.

Daisy had the compactness of body of a trained dancer. She might have seemed thin at casual glance until one felt her arm or looked more closely at the fullness of her silk-clad leg above her trim, neat ankle. Her forehead was smooth and high, her nose pert and her eyes sky-blue and tantalizing. Her lips did not need widening by rouge and her teeth, small and white, glistened with highlights.

"Toss your hat on the table, copper, and tell me what you got on your chest," she purred, flicking the ashes of her cigarette to the floor and smiling sirenically.

"I just dropped in to pay a friendly visit," said Ed warily, twirling his hat in his hand and glancing appraisingly up and down her well-formed figure, tightly wrapped in black and clinging silk.

"Oh, then I must play hostess!" exclaimed Daisy, throwing her feet, encased in black mules, on the floor and sitting up. "There's beer on the ice—right beer——"

"No, thanks—just to talk."

"It isn't often I have the opportunity to entertain bulls who drop in just to talk."

Ed did not reply, but looked about the room, noting the Chinese rugs and lamps, the low divan, the frou-frous scattered here and there and several marionette dolls planted at advantageous points.

"Stenographer, eh?" he summed up at last. "You got a pretty nifty layout for a stenographer. How much does Belmonte pay you?"

"Well, in the first place," smiled Daisy, crossing her legs, the black wrapper falling apart to reveal her bare knees, "Another girl shares this place with me and pays half the expense. In the second place, Belmonte doesn't pay me anything—now."

"No?"

"No—I walked out on him yesterday."

"Yeah? Why?"

"Oh, I didn't like his system," she fell back with a yawn. "I don't mind takin' orders—but there's one decision that's always up to me." She stretched her arms above her head, which caused her dress to creep further up her legs.

"Now listen," and Ed leaned forward, looking her directly in the eye. "Where were you the night the Dopey Boys were rubbed out?"

"Oh, let me see," and Daisy drew down her eyebrows in thought. "Oh, I know—I was in Celli's until two in the morning. With a guy who was so drunk he asked me to marry him."

"Got a good alibi, eh?" growled Ed. "But how do you know just what night it was—they were hanging there a long while before they were found."

"Oh, the coroner said they were there two days," pouted Daisy. "So I figured it out. Anyway, I was in Celli's every night that week."

"You didn't know Dopey at all, eh?"

"Say—I know a few boys in the rackets. Can't help it. But I don't know anything about their business. They were only around me when they were friendly and having a good time—not arguing."

Ed sank back with a sigh.

"Did you chirp somethin' about beer?" he asked.

"Sure—I'll get it."

"Belmonte's, I suppose."

"I suppose. What a detective."

She got up and passed close by him. As she did she filliped the top of his hair.

"Nice curls you got," she said, and disappeared behind a screen. Ed felt a not unfamiliar titillation down his back. He gritted his teeth.

"Damn that jane—I'll show her," he muttered, tossing his hat over on the divan. He could hear the opening and closing of the refrigerator door, the rattle of the bottles and glasses, and finally she appeared with a tray with six brown pint bottles and two tall glasses. She set them on a small stand which she drew in front of the couch.

"Come on over here—you can forget you are a copper for a few minutes," she teased. Ed got up, opened two of the bottles, sniffed at one of them and then poured the glasses full, the white, creamy foam evenly capping off the translucent, amber-colored liquid.

"Here's to your brother, Captain Fitzpatrick," she said, bowing her head over her glass but looking up at him.

"Say—er, what's the idea?" demanded Ed, his face flushing.

"Oh, nothin', but I know he did me a good turn—got me out o' that mess I was in—when I was framed—I don' see any harm in thinkin' well of him and drinkin' to him, do you?"

"No, I suppose not," said Ed slowly, sipping his liquor. He sat down beside her. "He's my God, Jim is."

"Why did he do it?" asked Daisy, leaning over so that her arm touched that of Ed.

"I don' know," Ed mused. "He's that way—just a square guy—didn't know you from Eve."

"Well, I worship him for it—and I think he's got a swell brother," this in saccharine tones. Ed turned and looked down at her. Her eyes were wide with frankness and sincerity. He caught a whiff of perfume, intermingled with the intoxicating odor of her hair.

"Let's go another bottle," he said quickly.

"Suits me," she said, sinking back.

He poured the glasses full again.

"Ed," he said to himself, "You're slipping!"

"Well," he began in a hard tone, "if you're such a hot friend o' my brother's an' you think so much o' me—why don't you do something for us?"

"Me?" she queried, all her attention on her glass of beer. "What can I do?"

"Oh, you can—well, nothing right now."

For a moment they sat in silence. Then she edged closer to him.

"Listen, Irish, I like you—like you a lot," she said at last, and when Ed looked at her again he knew she meant it. He had heard that before—in those same tones. He had known many women, had played around plenty. He had—

"Are you married?" she asked naively.

"No—why do you ask?"

"Oh, I thought all cops were married."

"Me for variety," he grinned somewhat sheepishly. She was closer to him now. His arm went around her waist and their lips met. Her glass fell to the floor with a clatter.

Synopsis

Daisy Beaumont, pretty platinum blonde, is sentenced to serve a long term in a reformatory when members of a corrupt police vice squad give false testimony against her. Jim Fitzpatrick, police captain, noted for his honesty and fighting spirit, knowing that Daisy was framed, succeeds in having her freed. When four racketeers are found murdered, Fitzpatrick suspects Guiseppe Belmonte, overloard of a huge vice ring. Belmonte is arrested. The police discover that Daisy is employed by Belmonte. The vice leader's attorney immediately gets busy to have him freed. Fitzpatrick is disgusted when Police Chief Burton allows Belmonte to go free on a writ of habeas corpus. Daisy is arrested again in connection with another case and is released when her innocence is established. Jim Fitzpatrick tells his brother Ed, sergeant of the vice squad, that he is determined to bring Belmonte to justice. Ed promises cooperation.

Now Go On

"Got a good alibi, eh?" growled Ed.

ALL IN A DAY

By MARK HELLINGER

MAYBE IT COULD happen in some other spot in this universe of ours. I don't know. Very possibly it could. But at the moment grant me my wish and let's say that it could only happen in the city of New York. It's so typically New Yorkish that it almost seems to be too good to be true. Look:

Over on West Fifty third street, the night before last, a chauffeur sat in his seat in a machine that had just been purchased by his millionaire employer. His boss was one of the very few who had not been affected by the depression and he had recently bought this very expensive machine that seemed to be an excellent bargain at the moment. Which it was—and is.

The chauffeur had settled himself for a long wait. His boss was in one of the neighborhood speakeasies and has never been known to leave until the last man is out. Accordingly, it looked like a long wait on a cold night. The driver made himself as comfortable as possible under the circumstances and dozed off.

He was awakened as something—or somebody—bumped into that precious machine. The driver leaped out to find himself confronted by four huge men, all extremely drunk. The doorman of the cafe was standing with them.

"What's the idea?" growled the chauffeur.

The biggest—and stewiest—man of the four placed a huge paw on the driver's shoulder. Or maybe is was more than a place; it was a jolt.

"What'sa idea of what?" he muttered. "You got any objectionsh if I sit on back of your car? Have you?"

He began to shake the driver. The other three men—plus the doorman—gathered around the chauffeur. It looked like the beginning of a massacre. The doorman spoke first.

"You better talk up," he cried menacingly. "This gentleman asked you if you minded him sittin' on your car. Do you?"

The chauffeur didn't hesitate too long. This was no time for hesitancy. He addressed the huge stew. And he grinned rather feebly.

"I don't mind at all," he replied. "Just let me tell you why I was so startled. I was sleeping in the front there, and this is a brand new car. My boss only hired me a few days ago, and I got a wife and a coupla sweet little kiddies.

"When you jumped on the machine like that, I was dreaming that the boss was giving me a lecture. He was sitting in the back seat and telling me that if I ever had a smack-up, I was fired. Just then came your jump. And I thought I had run into another car."

The drunk swayed as though he were a leaf in the breeze. He looked from the driver to his companions and back again. He clenched his fists. He opened them again. It was obvious that he was dying to hit someone on the point of the chin, whatever the reason. So he glared at the driver once more.

"I'm an advertising man from the westsh," he roared, "and I'm out for a good time. I'm an Irishman, feller, and I'm proud of it. My name's Murphy. What's yours?"

The driver extended his hand.

"Shake, Mr. Murphy," he cried happily. "My name's Clancy."

The stew immediately acted as though he had found a long-lost brother. He placed an arm around the driver and almost crushed a few ribs. He dug a fist into a pocket and drew out a roll of bills. A $5 note was extended to the chauffeur.

"Hereya are, Clancy," he cried affably. "Here'sh tip for you. Can't fight with a feller like you. You're okay."

He handed another $5 to the doorman.

"Thish is for you, O'Reilly," he added. "You're good guy, too. Can't fight with you either. So long, boysh. Hey, cab. Hey, you bum!"

The four drunks fell into the cab that had been hailed. They were driven away. The chauffeur removed his cap and mopped his brow. The doorman being the only one around, he spoke to him.

"O'Reilly," he breathed, "that was a tough call. I had to think fast that time. You're sober and I can talk to you. My name's not Clancy. It's Levy!"

"That's funny," was his reply. "So's mine!" . . .

GEORGE M. COHAN, best known and least seen of all Broadwayites, offers you his favorite story. It has to do with a Scotch comedian who sang comic ballads with a straight face. In the larger cities he was a riot. But in the smaller towns—not so good.

For an entire season, George, who was then with the four Cohans, joshed the Scot, making his life miserable in towns where he didn't do so well. At the end of the tour the Scotchman made his farewells to the company. Three of the Cohans had left the theater before he had time to see them, but he encountered young George.

"Your mother is the greatest trouper I've ever known," began the Scotch comic. "Goodbye, my lad. Your father is a perfect gentleman, a scholar and a great artist. Goodbye, my lad. Josephine is the smartest dancer I've ever seen. She has no equal. Goodbye, my lad."

Cohan stood silent, awaiting a compliment for himself. The comedian turned to go, and then stopped. He looked the boy straight in the eye.

"Goodbye, my lad," he murmured, and departed . . .

ROBERT GLECKLER, excellent actor, tells the story of a musical comedy director who was rehearsing a new show. In one of the roles was an ingenue who was an annoyance to almost everybody in the show.

This damsel was forever talking about her father. The thing was really an obsession with her. In all seriousness, this girl informed the rest of the company that before she left for work each day she told her daddy all her plans and everything that had happened to her the day before. It wasn't long before the dame was the laughing stock of the theater.

One morning, after she had blundered in a line, the director called her to him.

"My dear," he said, kindly, "did you speak to your father before you left this morning?"

"Oh, yes, indeed," returned the girl. "I always do that."

The director nodded.

"Splendid," he murmured. "And did you tell him that you were a good little actress and were doing very well in rehearsals?"

The damsel saw that she was making an excellent impression.

"Yes," she replied, "I told him that, too."

"Well," said the director tiredly, "please go home and tell him you lied." . . .

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS Junior Komic Club

Hundreds of new members were received into the Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club at Saturday's meetings. At the 17 chapters, scattered throughout the Pittsburgh territory, special stage and screen programs were presented and gifts and prizes distributed.

DAVIS CHAPTER

One of the best juvenile revues was that given at the Davis Theater, under the banner of the M. E. Barth School of dancing. Little Mary Perlstine, as Mistress of Ceremonies, introduced the acts in truly professional style. On the program were Harold Marcus, Majorie Campbell, Adeline Roth, Betty Noon, Anna Jeanne Shoff, Kitty Lou Rogers, Elaine Feirman, and Jean Caulfield. The club members applauded as each new step was introduced. Each dancer was recalled for encores and bows until Manager Warren was forced to drop the curtain in order to continue the show.

Cakes were distributed to every child whose birthday falls within the coming week. A special Western picture was shown before the regular feature of the day. Davis Chapter is growing by leaps and bounds. The children from the Hill District, West End and South Side, find the Davis Chapter a great place to spend Saturday mornings. The meetings open at 10 o'clock and run until nearly 1 o'clock.

CANDY SATURDAY

Among the interesting announcements made at all chapter meetings Saturday was that at the meetings Saturday, January 16 candy will be distributed to every child. This will be in addition to the prizes to be awarded to winners of contests.

STAGE SHOWS

The stage shows to be presented at the chapter meetings are prepared during the week preceding the meeting. Any child who cares to appear on the stage in singing, dancing or dramatic numbers, is requested to communicate with the manager of the nearest Warner Theater, giving the name, address and type of act to be presented. The managers are always open to suggestions from members of the club.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY!

The Sun-Telegraph-Warner Theaters Junior Komic Club extends greetings to the following members who will celebrate their birthdays tomorrow:

GEORGE THERE'S BEEN A WONDERFUL IMPROVEMENT IN PEGGY LATELY. I KNOW FROM THE SENSIBLE WAY SHE TALKS ABOUT MR. EL DORADO THAT THEY'RE JUST AS GOOD AS ENGAGED RIGHT NOW.
WHAT, HIM? WELL I SUPPOSE THERE ARE A FEW THINGS TO BE SAID IN HIS FAVOR BUT.....
OH GEORGE BUNGLE, PLEASE DON'T BE SO QUICK TO REMIND ME THAT YOU SIMPLY CAN'T APPRECIATE HIM. PEGGY WAS THE SAME WAY UNTIL SHE FOUND OUT—WELL.....THE TRUTH.
ALL I EVER GOT FROM HIM IS THE IMPRESSION THAT HE THOUGHT MY RIGHT NAME WAS JOHN Q. DOORMAT.
BELIEVE ME YOU JUST DON'T KNOW THE HALF OF IT. HE'S A WONDERFUL MAN. AND THE GIRL WHO MARRIES HIM WON'T HAVE TO TROT ALL OVER TOWN IN THE RAIN TO SAVE A COUPLE OF CENTS ON A POUND OF PORK CHOPS, AND THINGS LIKE THAT.
OH I'LL ADMIT HE HAS MONEY. HE ADMITS IT TOO BY THE WAY HE CARRIES HIS HEAD. AS THOUGH HE HAD TICKLISH TONSILS.
I'D ALWAYS BE VERY DEMOCRATIC WITH A SON-IN-LAW, BUT I KNOW I'D NEVER GET ALONG WITH ONE WHO TREATED ME AS THOUGH I WAS A HIRED-MAN THAT LIKED TO SLEEP UNTIL NOON AND EAT BETWEEN MEALS.
MRS. MONTGOMERY EL DORADO! HA, I WONDER WHAT THOSE PEOPLE WHO ROLLED THEIR EYES WHEN ASKING ME IF PEGGY WAS STILL SINGLE WILL SAY ABOUT THAT. IMAGINE!

I TOOK SYLLY OUTTA HER FATHER'S SHANTY—IT AIN'T TASTED PAINT FER 20 YEARS AND THE SHINGLES LOOK LIKE YOU THROWED 'EM UP THERE FROM THE GROUND—AND PUT HER IN MY NEW, NICE HOUSE—SHE NEVER HAD A DIME BEFORE I MARRIED HER THAT SHE DIDN'T HAVE TO DO SOME HIGH ARITHMETIC TO MAKE IT DO ITS DUTY—AND NOW SHE'S SUING ME FOR A DIVORCE
I DON'T WANT TO GET NO DIVORCE FROM SYLLY—IT'S GOIN' TO BE SO EXPENSIVE AND BESIDES AFTER IT'S OVER I AIN'T GOIN TO BE NO DIFFERENT THAN I AM NOW!
WHY DON'T YOU GO TO HER—SHE'S A WOMAN—THROW A FLOCK OF SWEET LANGUAGE AT HER—TELL HER SHE'S BEAUTIFUL IN YOUR EYES—SHE'LL FALL!
I THOUGHT MEBBE YOU COULD SPEAK TO HER—YOU CAN LIE BETTER'N I CAN—YOU'RE USED TO SAYIN' SWEET WORDS THAT DON'T MEAN NOTHIN
LEAVE IT TO ME, KID, I'LL RIVET YOU BACK HOME—WHEN I GET THROUGH TALKING TO HER YOU'LL MAKE ROMEO LOOK LIKE A SCARE-CROW

Editor's Note—We want our readers to take an interest in delicate fragile things—and not sit around all the time waiting to be hit over the head with a sledgehammer. Consequently we eagerly accept the following poem from the eyelash pen of S. Nakano, a Japanese boy in Olive View, Cal. We see no reason why the field of obscurities should be taken over entirely by T. S. Eliot and E. E. Cummings, and we hope that Mr. Nakano will continue to supply us with more and harder to understand verse.

I am only sleeping boy,
When hear the cold Winter voice;
Try to rise a sleep boy,
But still it's dream voice,
I am the only sleeping boy,
I am the only sleeping boy,
When the hear mama voice
Wish to kiss a sleep boy,
It is moonbeam dreaming voice,
I am the only sleeping boy,
I am the only sleeping boy,
When the hear flower's voice,
Went to take sleep boy,
But not to do called dream voice,
I am the only sleeping boy.

No More 'Lame Ducks'

Progressive House Sure to Adopt Measure Ending Evil Of Delaying People's Will

Thanks to the indefatigable efforts of Senator Norris, of Nebraska, his resolution abolishing "lame duck" sessions of Congress has passed the Senate for the sixth time in recent years.

Now this progressive proposal goes to the Democratic House which, under the able leadership of Speaker Garner, can be relied upon to adopt it at the present session.

The Norris resolution proposes an amendment to the Constitution fixing the beginning of the terms of the President and the Vice President at noon on the fifteenth day of January, and the terms of senators and representatives at noon on the second day of January following their election in the preceding November.

Under the existing arrangement, a new Congress cannot convene in regular session until a year and one month after its members have been elected.

This means that the country must wait for 13 months before the will which the people expressed at the election can be put into statutory law, unless the President convenes Congress in extra session.

This is precisely what President Hoover refused to do in the case of the present Congress. By refusing to call it in extra session, he deprived the country for nearly a year of the legislative relief during a great emergency which only the Congress can grant.

The Norris amendment will cure these evils.

It will prevent defeated senators and representatives from legislating for three months after their successors have been chosen.

It will call the new Congress promptly in session, regardless of whether the President wishes Congress to be in session.

It will make the federal government more responsive to the public will.

The only reason the Norris amendment was not submitted to the states for ratification years ago was because a reactionary Republican House opposed it.

A progressive Democratic House cannot better begin its legislative labors than by passing the Norris resolution and submitting the amendment it proposes to the states for ratification.

The states will ratify the Norris amendment promptly if only Congress will give them the chance.

Election Indictments

Prosecution of Vote Cheaters Is No Less Important Than Prosecution of Dishonest Officials.

The grand jury which indicted former City Treasurer Roy D. Schooley, Arthur Burgoyne and LaSalle Girts for alleged irregularities in the handling of the city's money also indicted five persons as vote cheaters.

The election indictments attracted little attention, because they were overshadowed by the Schooley case; but they were no less important.

District Attorney Park has no more urgent duty than to stop election cheating. It is just as serious a crime against the state as dishonesty in the handling of public funds.

In Allegheny County indeed there is some reason for considering vote frauds as of paramount importance. For, according to Judge Gray, there were 10,000 cases of cheating in the county in the recent primary and general elections. With fraud so extensive the very right of the people to self-government is threatened.

Mother's Assistance

County Commissioners, Paring the Budget, Have Shown Good Judgment in Sparing Charity Fund.

The County Commissioners, forced to reduce the budget, that expenditures may not exceed income, have pared nearly every appropriation that has come before them for consideration.

But they have withheld the pruning knife from the Mother's Assistance Fund.

In this they have shown good judgment. If there was ever a time when widows needed help in raising young children it is now.

The Mother's Assistance Fund is particularly appreciated in Allegheny County because of the successful fight that Senator Frank Harris waged to get an appropriation from the state that would take some of the names from the waiting list of applicants.

The overhead expense of administering the fund may be too high, as suggested. If a saving can be effected, it should go to the needy mothers.

City Taxes Due

They Should Be Paid Promptly Not Only to Get the Discount but as a Civic Duty.

Mayor Kline told Senator Davis that Pittsburgh might be able to get along without federal aid if the people paid their taxes promptly.

City Treasurer Thompson gives notice that city and school taxes for 1932 are now due. On taxes paid before the end of the month a discount of 2 per cent will be allowed. They are payable at face from then until April 1, and thereafter will be declared delinquent and penalties and interest required.

Citizens who can possibly do so should pay their taxes without delay, not only because it is to their own advantage, but also because it will help their fellow-citizens and is a civic duty.

Protect Them!

There Is Special Need Now to Guard Women and Girls From the Temptations Poverty Imposes.

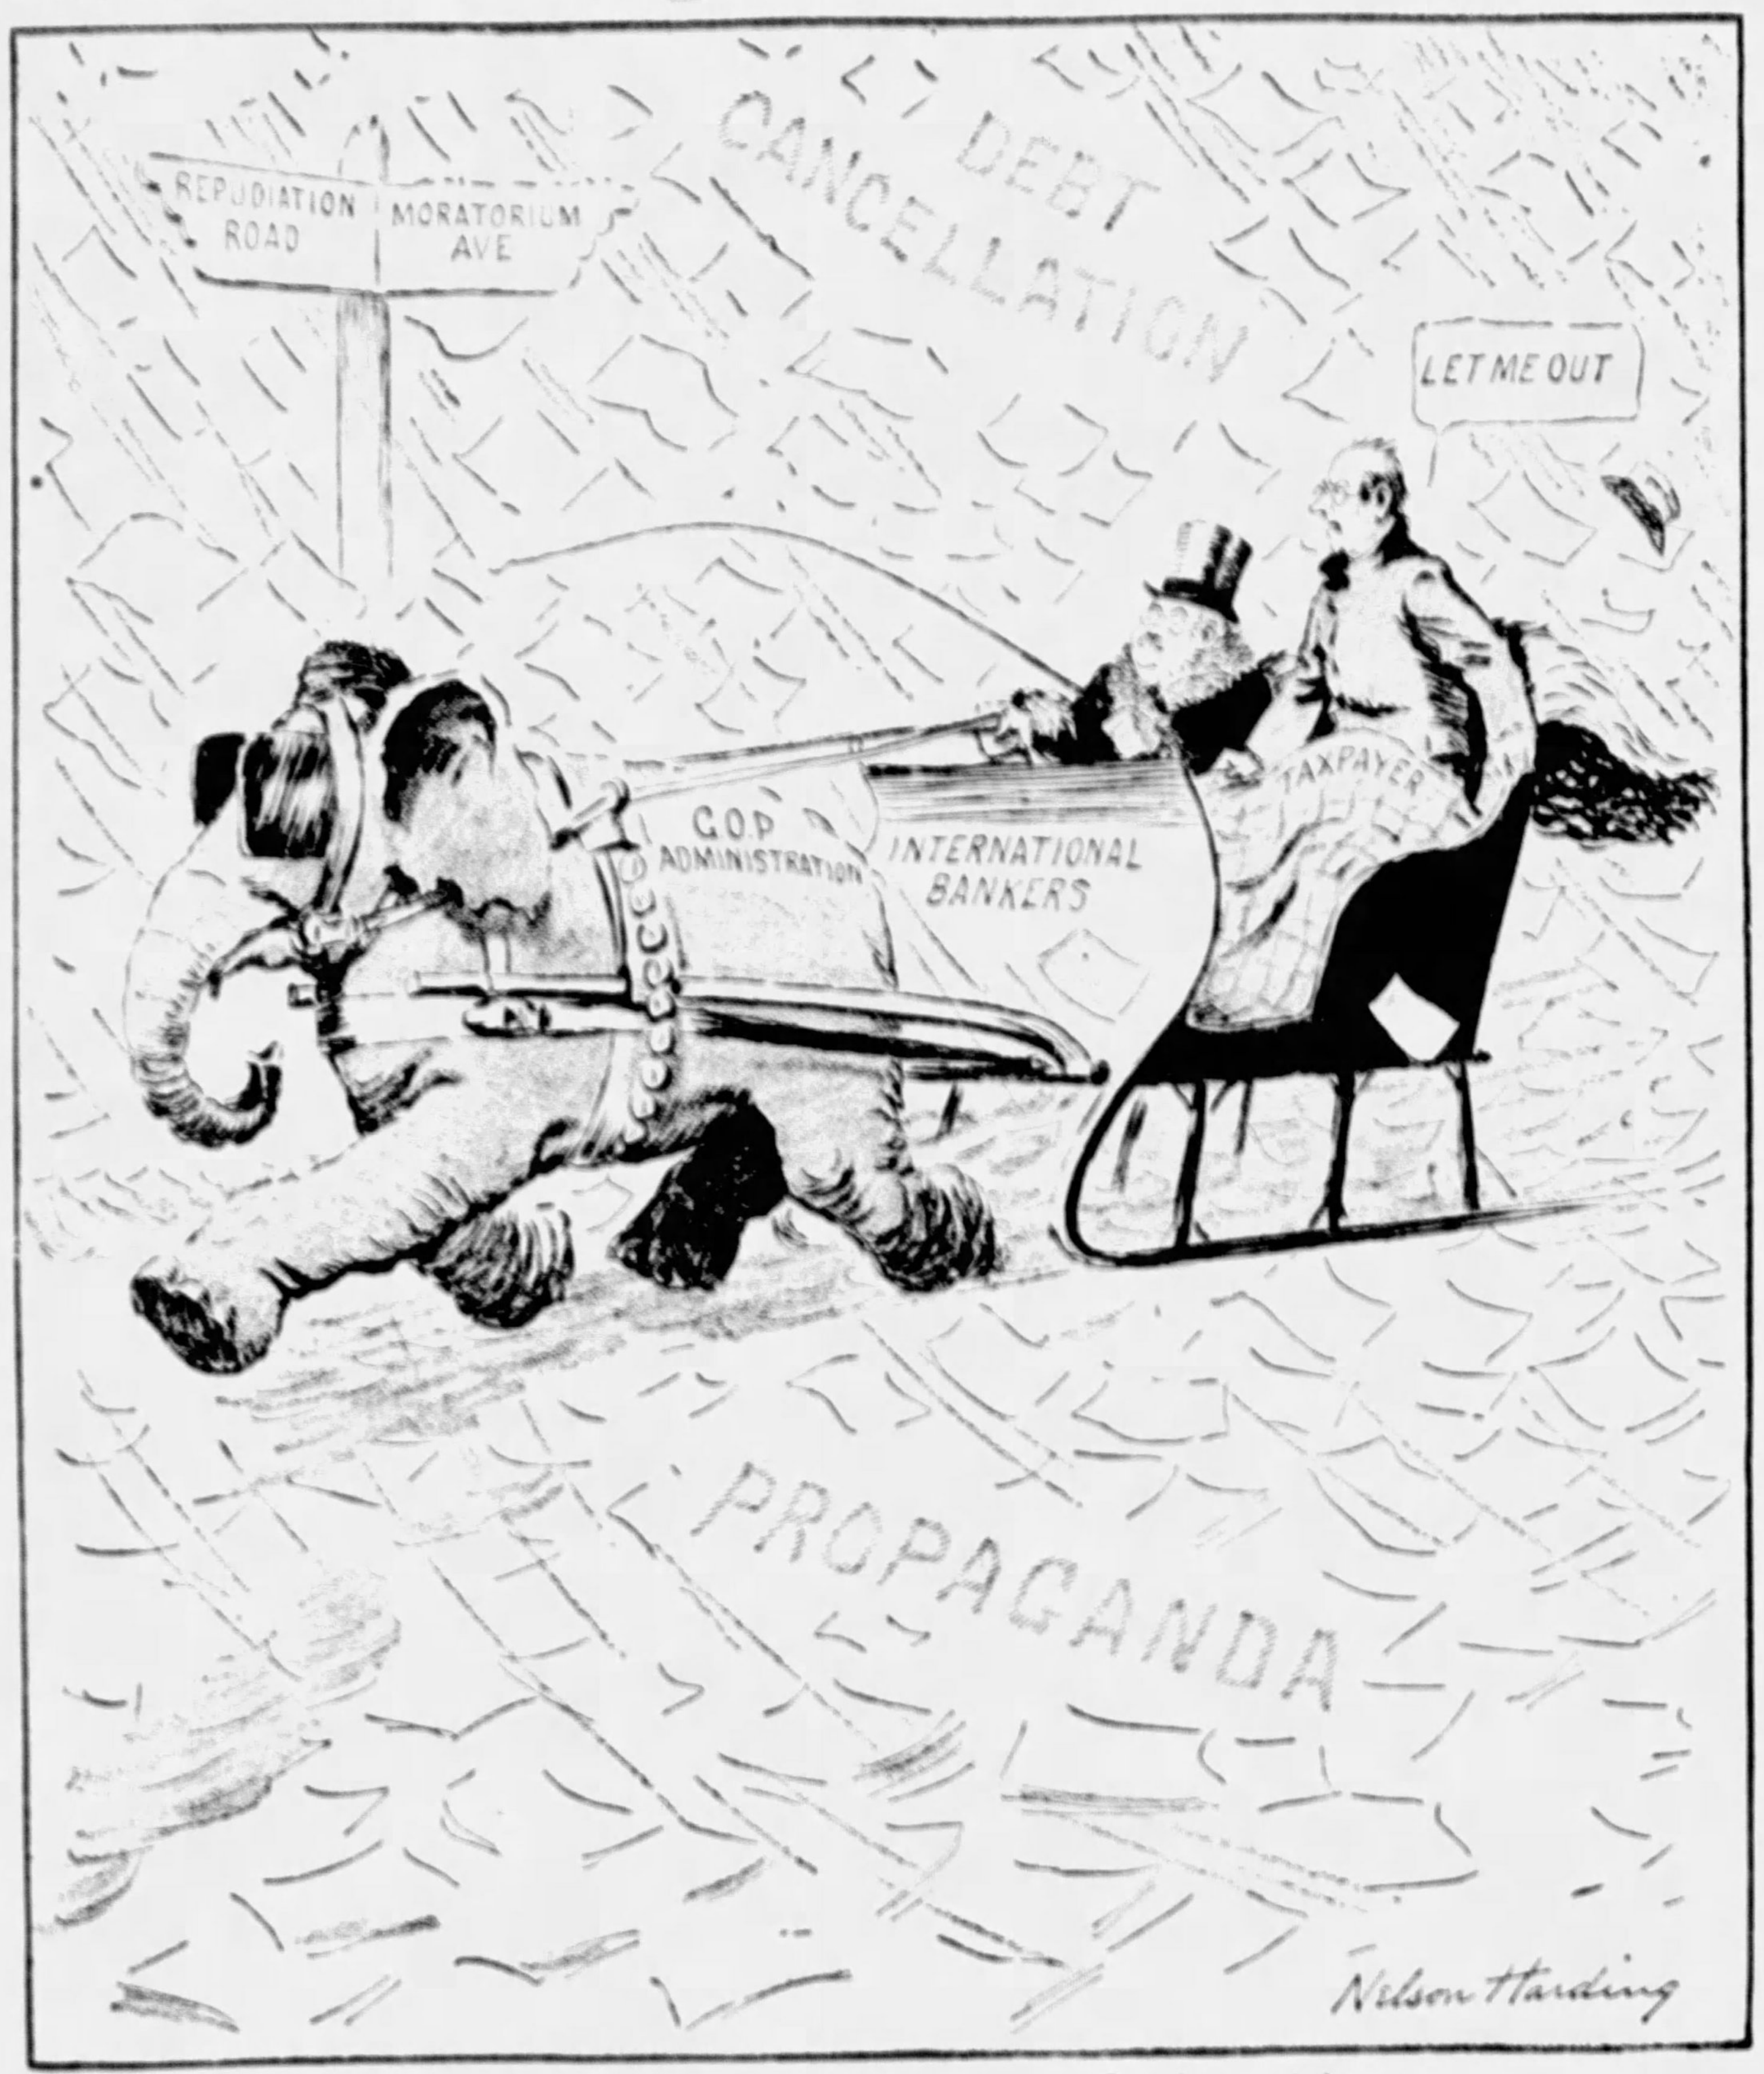
A committee of distinguished New Yorkers in a recent public statement called attention to the danger that hard times would tempt women and girls to engage in commercial vice to gain a livelihood. They said signs were not lacking that such a development had already occurred and they appealed for popular support in a movement to combat it.

The number of women that have been in Pittsburgh police courts lately in connection with bootlegging and disorderly house charges raises the question if Pittsburgh is not confronted with the same situation which New York is facing.

It is a problem for social workers, of course; but it may be that they can suggest ways by which others can help.

Taken for a Sleigh Ride

By Nelson Harding



See the pretty snow
Falling all around;
It provides good sleighing when
It's thick upon the ground.
Jingle bells, jingle bells, jingle all the way,
When the bankers take taxpayers riding in a sleigh.

See the worried man
Noticing the sign,
Rising in his seat to say:
"No sleigh ride, Sir, for mine!"
Jingle bells, jingle bells, jingle all the way,
The Elephant with blinders on is hitched up to the sleigh!

Etiquette for Ex-Wives

The Court of St. James is not the only one in which the rules of "court etiquette" should be punctiliously observed. There are courts right here at home where the Best People should show their Emily Post training.

* * *

Here are a few simple rules for the guidance of the would-be Ex-wife, when detaching her husband.

* * *

Always divorce your husband gently but firmly. If you do not know what it is about him that aggravates you, consult an attorney and he will find a nice, polite grievance for you.

* * *

Leave your red hat, your cheerful expression and the Pekingese at home. The correct costume for an afternoon divorce is a black tailored suit, relieved by a touch of lavender or white—indicating the beginning of hope.

Never greet your husband cordially in the courtroom. Wait until you have secured your decree before congratulating him on his cheerful appearance.

* * *

If your husband has sent you orchids for the occasion, do not wear them. Mink coats, orchids and diamonds are entirely out of place in a courtroom—particularly when asking for alimony.

* * *

Never throw away your old wedding rings. These may, in time, make a very interesting collection, to be handed down in the family as a memento of "dear grandmamma's girlish triumphs."

Do not put your decree in the safety-vault. Tastefully framed, it will make a charming spot of color on the living room wall and lend the house an atmosphere of ready money. Decrees framed in silver and black are very swank this season, and appear to have completely replaced those old-fashioned sampler-mottoes, such as "God Bless Our Home" and "The Ties That Bind."

* * *

Above all things, avoid any sign of nervousness. Remember that "The Great Divorce Problem" is how to pay your lawyer. Nothing else should bother you.

* * *

A rowdy divorce-court fight is the last word in vulgarity. The ultimate sign of a "lady" is her ability to divorce her husband graciously and politely.

* * *

Black wedding-rings are the very latest vogue among smart ex-wives. Perhaps your ex-husband will give you one as a souvenir.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Off to the markets and to say goodbye to Maybelle Manning Olwell, departing for St. Moritz. Then home, the Sealyham bitten through the ear in a street fracas and howling like an impious blasphemer. And loafed awhile with Tommy Loughran, my favorite pugilist.

In the afternoon Will Edrington stopped by and later to a tea, talking to the young minnesinger, Ogden Nash, and to Thyra Winslow, in especial about her home in Arkansas. And also Nat J. Ferber, the book critic, and Kenyon Nicholson, the playwright, and our mutual love for his adopted uncle Meredith.

Dinner at Nell and Gene Crawleys and among the guests were the Bryan Foys, the Orson Munns, the Jack Murrays, Frank Davis, the Jack Staffords and Bob Johnson. Later back stage to meet Richard Tauber, the German tenor, being shown the town by Roxy, and home by moonglow in a high northerly wind.

* * *

Hamish McLaurin tells of two Jewish merchants whirling home to the Bronx in the subway and staring silently at the floor, deep in the throes of thoughts about the depression. Presently one relieved himself of an ankle-deep sigh. His friend, glancing at him, remarked scornfully: "You're telling me!"

* * *

Frances Marion, perhaps Hollywood's outstanding scenarist, is reported considering an offer to tour as a concert pianist. Miss Marion, not satisfied with her variety of talents, has for years been practicing three hours daily, chiefly as a diversion. Her technique so improved she is regarded as professional timber.

* * *

A male dancer in the vivid bolero number of the Vanities wears only a barbaric splotch of paint and a spangled loin cloth. Nightly and at matinees he is decorated by his wife, who was incidentally—and this is not a press agent gag—a young lady of social prominence a few years ago.

* * *

In frustrated angling for a simile to describe a certain pink I turned to my wife last night. Quick as that she replied: "The tint of a baby's heel." I think that's perfect.

* * *

George M. Cohan, a part of the theater and alive to its artificialities, is what is known as "a good audience." He is easily moved to tears and laughter. And when Irvin Cobb, whose theatrical attendance is confined solely to matinees, is gripped by either comedy or pathos, he generally transfers audience interest from the stage to himself. His booming laugh and wailing sob have momentarily disrupted many performances.

The scene moving me most—since William Faversham's millenium of human desolation in "The Squaw Man"—was in a claptrap production, the name of which evades me. Anyway, a "tenement tot" was trying to tell his mutt of a dog they were to be dispossessed. Falteringly and mawkishly he stumbled along until he choked. "But I won't let them take you away, Sport." And I let go a whoop that was a beaut and then sneaked out under the cover of darkness, still sniffling.

* * *

Personal nomination for the most beautiful of the retired screen stars—May Allison Quirk.

* * *

Corse Peyton, who came out of Centerville, Ia., to win the sobriquet of "America's best bad actor," is at 64 the master of ceremony in a rough and tumble cabaret on Second avenue. He is the last of the old-time troupers of the days when the "ten-twent and thirt" had marcelled matinee idols who strolled the Rialto in fur-collared coats and high silk hats. In the twilight of his career he mourns the drama as dead and says: "I know how to take my licking and smile, and that's rare in the world today."

* * *

Despite world woe the cook and I have our flutters of merriment. Just now she inquired through the open door: "I wonder if you feel corn beefish tonight?" With a neat repartee I replied: "No, you'd better pork chop me."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Beginning to be a bit soured on life? Find yourself doubting everything at times? Doubting even love? And saying to yourself:

"Wonder if there is such a thing as romantic love, like the books tell about. Can people really care for each other that way? Of course, I thought they could, once, when I was a kid. I've believed I was in love a lot of times, but it always fizzled out. Maybe I've never met the right person?"

Is that what you're saying to yourself? And as you say it, do you think of love as a definite phenomenon, which happens or doesn't happen in one's life, like an earthquake or a thunder storm or a rainbow?

Love isn't a particular phenomenon with definite symptoms, like measles or mumps. It isn't a unique experience, set apart from all the other experiences in life and exempt from all the regular rules; nor does it depend upon meeting the right person.

LOVE IS SOMETHING WHICH YOU CAUSE TO HAPPEN INSIDE YOURSELF, NOT SOMETHING OUTSIDE YOURSELF WHICH HAPPENS TO YOU.

Love is what you make it. Love is what-have-you.

Have you warmth in you and loyalty; good nature and generosity; tolerance, tenderness, patience and self-control?

Have you developed these qualities in your character? Do you exercise them in the ordinary relations of your life?

THEN YOU WILL FIND THEM IN LOVE.

On the other hand—

Are you selfish, wilful, lazy, cowardly, impatient of restraint and monotony—so impatient that you tired easily of any task or interest?

Are you jealous, envious, given to self-pity, impractical, conceited, unreasonable?

THEN LOVE WILL BE MARRED OR WRECKED BY ALL THESE FAULTS.

For you will bring to love only what you bring to every other situation in life; and you will get out of love only what you put into it.

If you put beauty and strength into love you will get beauty and strength out of it.

If you put weakness and pettiness into love, you will get weakness and pettiness out of it.

As for "meeting the right person"—YOU CAN SPOIL LOVE WITH "THE RIGHT PERSON" QUITE AS EASILY AS WITH THE WRONG PERSON IF YOU, YOURSELF, ARE NOT FIT FOR LOVE.

"But suppose it's the other person who isn't fit? you cry. "Suppose the other person fails you and cheats you after you've done your best?"

Then that's tough. But it's tougher on the other person than it is on you, stranger. For if you love greatly and generously, your life will be the richer for that loving, even though the one you love may fail you.

Do not doubt love. Do not be afraid of love. Love is always worth while if you, yourself, are worth while. Love will never fail you, if you don't fail love.

Isn't It So?

It is better to have an open mind than an open mouth.

The struggle for existence is the most absorbing part of existing.

The fool who has been parted from his money always feels cheap.

There Is a Way Out—By Prosperity Loan

Several times under stress of war, Americans have demonstrated they are capable of showing heroic qualities and of co-operating intelligently and effectively for national objectives.

With privation and suffering acute in the land, 7,000,000 out of work, and no hope held out for them at Washington because of lack of intelligent leadership in the White House, the time has come for real Americans to do as much for the peaceful purposes of social reconstruction and the alleviation of distress, as they have done hitherto in war time.

THERE IS A WAY OUT of the dilemma of privation for the ill-fated jobless, their families, their tradesmen and all business dependent upon them.

It has been pointed out clearly and definitely by a group of eminent, disinterested economists, members of the faculties of the leading universities of the land—viz: apply the public works remedy, through federal aid, to the existing economic situation—in other words, finance through the federal government, a gigantic scheme of essential public improvements through a PROSPERITY LOAN BOND ISSUE.

Scientific economists have long urged an approach to stability through retarding public works in time of boom and through expanding them in periods of depression.

In their joint memorandum, the economists make it clear that, though many of our public men have given lip service to the idea, they have not lived up to the sound principle.

"Despite all that has been said concerning the construction of public works, the fact remains that no significant increase in total expenditures for public works has yet been made," the statement says, pointing out that the moderate increases by the federal government have been offset by a decrease in the expenditures of states and local jurisdictions.

In indorsing a $5,000,000,000 prosperity loan, the economists suggest that through federal grants in aid and loans a large part of the funds be made available to the states and their subdivisions.

With perhaps 7,000,000 men without jobs and millions on part time assignments, re-employment of idle labor would be sufficient justification for such an emergency program.

But the 31 economists proceed a step further, and believe that such a plan would go far toward reversing the destructive processes of deflation. They point out:

> "A courageous program of public works dramatically introduced and effectively carried through, may mean much more than immediate unemployment relief and the avoidance of great social waste from idleness. Such a program may well inject into our depressed economy the vitality necessary to start us on the road to a real economic recovery."

Such an operation would not, as has been fallaciously contended, deprive private business of capital, but would tend to effect a controlled credit expansion, which would make funds more readily available to private business.

The merit of the proposal lies in the fact that with credit expansion goes a program of production for utilizing it.

The government spending program might well be interpreted by private executives as the turning point in the economic situation, and many would seek to jump on the band wagon of recovery, helping along the process through pushing forward delayed capital expenditures and through restoring depleted inventories.

The plea of the economists for the spending of billions on constructing roads, bridges, reclamation and flood control projects, reforestation and elimination of grade crossings, and erection of public buildings is in accord with the policy formulated by William Randolph Hearst in a nationwide radio hookup on June 2 last.

Congress, on which rests a heavy responsibility for doing whatever lies in its power to alleviate conditions, cannot afford to ignore the sound counsel of a diversified group of thoughtful and sound economists.

Congress should promptly pass a prosperity loan bill and CREATE JOBS FOR THE JOBLESS.

WHAT DO YOU KNOW?

By S. H. Connolly

Do you know:

1. What is the meaning of the expression "bona fide?"
2. Who were the two great figures of the literary world in America of the eighteenth century?
3. Who wrote "Every Man In His Humor?"
4. In what play by Shakespeare is there a character named Fleance?
5. Who was the wife of Hiawatha?
6. What is meant by "St. Martin's Summer?"
7. What were the Centaurs?
8. Who was the chief God of the shepherds and flocks?
9. Who was the Pope who corrected the error in the calendar?
10. What is a stock broker?

Match correctly:

11. Juno	god of fire.
12. Erebus	god of war.
13. Nemesis	queen of the gods.
14. Mars	goddess of vengeance.
15. Vulcan	god of darkness.

Answers to today's test:

1. In good faith. 2. Benjamin Franklin and Jonathan Edwards. 3. Ben Jonson. 4. MacBeth. 5. Minnehaha. 6. Good weather during the late autumn. 7. Bull-killers, half man and half horse, fabulous creatures. 8. Pan. 9. Pope Gregory XIII. 10. One who makes a business of buying and selling stocks and bonds. 11. Queen of the gods. 12. God of darkness. 13. God of vengeance. 14. God of war. 15. God of fire.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

If you must remonstrate with your wife over the way she plays bridge, don't do it in public.

She may take kindly to a few helpful suggestions after the game.

And then again she may not enjoy it.

A wife who is not particularly interested in cards will not give enough attention to the game to avoid making ridiculous plays.

Unless a wife desires to play as well as her experience and good judgment permits she should not accept invitations where a good showing is to be desired in a partner's help.

It is exasperating to play with an indifferent, thoughtless, absent-minded excuse for a partner.

One who will not concentrate on what has been played and who will not keep in mind what cards are out, should learn how or not play in company.

But irrespective of poor play a man should not comment angrily on his wife's errors—it is a breach of etiquette not easily forgiven and this habit is not confined to the husbands.
